Mayor Removes Election Board

Removal of M'Oske, Allard, Braden and Maguire Result of Mayor's Investigation of Plan B PetitionAction Comes After Election Commissioners Refuse to Recognize Joseph A. Cloutre as Temporary Board Member, to Succeed J. Omer Allard, Who is Out of City—Mayor Wanted Board to Ask State Secretary to Withhold Action to Place Charter Question on Ballot

Mayor George H. Brown early this afternoon announced the removal of the board of election commissioners, Hugh J. McOske, J. Omer Allard, Thos. H. Braden and Joseph M. Maguire, on charges that they have conspired to what he alleges is a fraudulent petition for Plan B charter for Lowell. Notice of removal will be served on each member at once and the mayor will name a new board immediately.

The announcement of removal came shortly after 1 o'clock when the board, called together in special session, refused to recognize Joseph A. Cloutre, mayor's secretary, as a temporary member of the board, appointed by the mayor to serve in the place of J. Omer Allard, who is out of the city on a vacation.

Mr. Cloutre had gone into the meeting, carrying a prepared by the city solicitor, which if passed by the board, would request the secretary of state to withhold action on the certification of names signed to the Plan B charter petition and reported to him on Sept. 22, meaning that the secretary would take no action to place the question on the state election ballot.

It was to be noted further that the board is engaged in an examination of evidence that certain signatures certified are not genuine signatures of qualified voters, and further that the secretary be informed that the board will notify him of the result of a re-examination at the earliest possible moment.

The votes were not even submitted for consideration because the three permanent board members refused to serve with the mayor's temporary appointees.

The mayor's letter to the board also was not read. This reviewed the charter petition question at some length and called upon the board to take some action without delay.

The mayor stated he appointed Mr. Cloutre under authority given him in Part II of Section 43 of the charter, which, in part, reads as follows:

"Should the administrative head of a department, or member of a board or commission be temporarily unable for any cause to perform his duties, the mayor may designate, without confirmation by the city council, a temporary appointee until such official shall resume his duties."

The mayor maintained that an emergency existed in the present instance and that inasmuch as Mr. Allard was not in the city, he had the right to temporarily appoint anyone he cared to designate.

Early this forenoon Hugh J. McOske, chairman of the election commission, was in lengthy conference with the mayor and City Solicitor Tierney. Shortly after 12 o'clock the conference ended and it was announced that a special meeting of the board would be called for the purpose of acting upon one or two votes that had been prepared by the solicitor.

Then followed Mr. Cloutre's temporary appointment. He qualified before City Clerk Stephen Flynn and at about 1 o'clock went down to the election commission's office and there met Messrs. McOske, Braden and Maguire.

He carried into the meeting a letter from the mayor, addressed to the board, notice of his appointment as secretary of the board, pro tem, and a copy of votes the mayor wished the board to pass.

Hardly 60 seconds elapsed when the board came out of the inner office and announced adjournment had been taken until tomorrow evening. The commission also said it had voted not to recognize Mr. Cloutre as a member of the board, even temporarily, and Mr. Braden added that he would not be recognized unless Mr. Allard was removed.

No action was taken on the votes carried by Mr. Cloutre, who returned to the mayor's office where it was given out that removal of the entire board would follow at once.

Up until noon today the mayor has received approximately 650 return post cards sent out Tuesday and yesterday, asking whether or not signatures of persons whose names appeared on the charter petition had been personally signed by them. Of this number of replies, 397 attested they did not sign the petition.

In addition to these cards, the mayor has 175 sworn affidavits from persons who say they did not sign the petition, although their names appear on it. The work of obtaining affidavits still is being vigorously pushed by police officers and notaries public and it was the mayor's belief that 300 of these sworn statements would be at hand before nightfall.

Additional letters were despatched by special delivery today to the secretary of state and attorney-general, enclosing copies of the letter sent to the election commissioners.

hiles, equipped with machine guns, in their efforts to stop depredations of whiskey runners and bank bandits. It was announced today by Police Commissioner C. A. Mahoney.

This action was decided upon following the slaying at Benoit, Sask., yesterday, of Paul Matton, employee of a Regina liquor firm, the robbery of $5000 from his body and the seizure of a truck load of liquor which Matton just had sold.

According to Mudania messages received here, was communicated to the Greek delegates, who expressed dissatisfaction with it, declaring themselves not empowered to reply and that they must have instructions from Athens.

The messages state the agreement provides that the allies and Turks are to evacuate the neutral region of the Dardanelles; that the allies will continue their occupation of Constantinople during the peace conference and that they accept the re-establishment of the national civil government in the departments of Constantinople and Chanak.

Two Persons Killed and 20
Other Persons, Most of Them Firemen, Injured

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Moonshine operations which had a part in the epidemic of explosions and fires yesterday, when two men were killed in a still explosion and nearly 20 other persons, most of them firemen, were injured, continued today to occupy the police and firemen. A moonshine still exploded in a building on the northwest side and set fire to a building in which two other stills were found. All the tenants of the three-story building had fled when the police and firemen arrived. The two men killed yesterday were victims of a still explosion. Another man was injured in a similar explosion while a fire was attributed by police to a third still. The other injured were victims of a fire and explosion in a cleaning plant.

Large Squad of Officers
Street Section

Following up big raids made earlier in the week the liquor squad, augmented by Sergt. Duane and Kennedy of the criminal department, swooped down on a Dummer street house this morning and landed on a big moonshine plant.

There were no thrills nor frights to the raid. It was simply a straightforward rush up to the fourth floor of a tenement house where the still, minus its operator, was found in operation. Although no arrest has yet been made in connection with the raid the officers expect to pick up some one before the day is out.

Headed by Capt. George Palmer and Sergt. Michael Winn of the liquor squad, and Sergts. Dwyer and Kennedy, Officers Aldrich, Kilroy, Noye and Dwyer started out for a cleanup in the Dummer street district. Three other places were visited in a neighboring alley before the "and" was made in the tenement block.

The still was said to be a 100 gallon affair and particularly well equipped to carry on the manufacture of illicit goods. In the still at the time were about 50 gallons of spirits undistilled, while five gallons of the finished product were found. Hundreds of sugar bags were found on the property, according to the officers, in addition to a large quantity of mash.

An expensive gas stove was one of the things confiscated by the officers. A pipe was run through two partitions to the stove which was set in sort of a niche. A double water pipe was connected with the water faucet and the condenser to the still.

The police said that they had no trouble in getting into the tenement and that all they had to do was to simply walk in and capture the plant. According to members of the raiding squad the plant was one of the best they have seen for many months.

POLO GROUNDS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press) Robert Shawkey, curve ball flinger extraordinary of the New York Yankees, faced the Giants this afternoon in the second game of the world's series tournament.

The National Leaguers having won the initial test, Manager Huggins sent Shawkey to the mound to battle the Giants with mystifying hooks and fast ball. Jess Barnes stood ready to take up the Giants' burden in the box.

The Giants, coming on the field this afternoon as the visitor club, believe they have the series as good as won.

Frisch Expresses Confidence

"We have the Indian sign on the Yankees," said Frank Frisch, the Giants' middle sacker, "and I think the Yanks are beginning to think so. They

EIGHT POLICEMEN
WATCH ONE FAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The bleacher "crowd" gathered early at the Polo Grounds for the second game of the world series.

It consisted of one man, Raymond Degeer, of Stamford, Conn.

He arrived at midnight and passed the night alone outside the gates. About 5 o'clock he had company. Eight big patrolmen arrived and with customary vigor, saw to it that the "line" kept strict order.

As the sun came up Degeer held his place and rested as best he could while the eight policemen watched him to see that he did not get unruly.

have never won a series from the Giants. You know psychology plays an important part in the old game."

The Yankees threw off the gloom this afternoon of their first defeat and hoped to emerge from the battling slump that has gripped them since the beginning of the last five games of the American League season.

Ruth is Optimistic

"Old man psychology is not playing in this series," said Babe Ruth, talking in the clubhouse about Indian signs. "When I see him pinch hitting for me or out there sending them past the batter, I'll give him a tumble. Anyhow, his name is not in the list of eligible players."

Huggins brought his players on the field early and put them through a long batting practice.

Some thirty odd thousand folk came out to see the sport but the early rush for the unreserved sections was missing.

The reserve stands, sold out to capacity for the series did not fill up until the players took their fielding workout. October had resurrected a day from July's hot wave and another sultry afternoon gave the pitchers an incentive to turn on their speed.

Altrock and Pal On Hand

Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, buttoned off baseball, came out to amuse the early comers with their antics while a brass band whiffed away the minutes that dragged until Babe Ruth and company, garbed in home uniforms of white, broke into the picture through the wooden gate that leads from the clubhouse to the playing field.

The Batteries

The batteries for today's game were: J. Barnes and Snyder for the Giants; Shawkey and Schang for the Yankees.

First Inning

Giants: Ward tossed out Baneroff, going far to his left to get a mean bouncer. Groh singled over second, his fourth hit in the series. Frisch got a Texas Leaguer into left field, which Scott could not quite reach. Groh went to second. Meusel hit a home run into the left field stand scoring Groh and Frisch ahead of him. Young fled out to Wilt. Kelly fouled out to Schang. Three runs, three hits, no errors.

Sun Representative Interviews Local Dealers

Lowell coal merchants, large and small, are practically a unit in declaring that the present meager shipments of anthracite to Lowell and vicinity indicate a continuance of the serious shortage of this necessary fuel for many months to come.

Backing up statements of local dealers today, Albert D. Milliken, local emergency fuel distributor, in a communication to The Sun, announced that the supply of anthracite coal that has been allotted to Lowell by the Pennsylvania commission, to be shipped from Sept. 1, 1922, to March 31, 1923, is but 18,840 gross tons.

Continuing, Mr. Milliken said: "It is plain to see that Lowell will be very short of anthracite coal this winter, for the normal amount of coal sent here is 31,415 tons."

Mr. Milliken's letter to The Sun in full reads as follows:
Editor Lowell Sun:
"Dear Sir:

"I wish to lay before you some interesting figures in regard to a possible anthracite fuel supply for the city of Lowell. These figures were sent to me by James J. Pielan, Massachusetts emergency fuel administrator, and came to him from the Pennsylvania fuel commission, and I trust you will give them all the publicity you possibly can.

Fierce Forest Fires in Canada—

Churches and Hospital Destroyed

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 5.—Forest fires, raging in Canada, spread today until at noon reports had been received here that more than 100 lives had been lost, six towns destroyed and railroads burdened with thousands of refugees attacked by flames.

The greatest loss of life occurred in Halleybury, according to despatches reaching here from North Bay, Ont.

There, it was reported, 50 to 100 persons had been crowded off a dock and drowned while attempting to board a rescue craft, while several more were trampled to death and scores injured in a church panic.

Parts of the Dominion not actively engaged in fighting flames reported dense smoke. So heavy was the pall in Montreal that electric lights were snapped on at noonday.

Catching Cold is
Not An Accident

The Penalty for Neglect of Health Rules

Take Father John's Medicine

When you catch cold you are inclined to think that it was accidental, that you sat in a draft or that you caught it from someone else. This is only half the truth. The real fact is that a cold is the penalty for neglect of the common rules of health. You have allowed yourself to become over-tired, weakened and run down. You have allowed your power of resistance to be lowered. The cold germ which is always lurking nearby finds you an easy victim.

You can maintain your power of resistance to colds, coughs and similar trouble by taking Father John's Medicine which builds new strength and health. If you have already allowed yourself to take cold, begin treating it at once with Father John's Medicine. It will not only drive off the cold but it will build up new strength with which to fight off future attacks.—Adv.

VERY SUCCESSFUL FALL FASHION REVUE

A most successful Fall Fashion Revue was presented last evening before a large audience on the second floor of the Chalfoux store. All merchandise was removed and the floor was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage, potted plants and cut flowers. The models appeared on an elevated runway which extended the entire length of the second floor.

The following Chalfoux girls displayed the newest fashions in women's apparel: shoes, hosiery, neckwear, gloves, leather goods and accessories: Miss Nora McNamara, Mrs. Josephine Grunier, Miss Gertrude Collins, Mrs. Emma Suprenant, Miss Mary Killey, Miss Jeannette Cohen, Miss Celia Dawes, Mrs. Helen Feich, Miss Mary Gurneely and Miss Mildred Harrington and Catherine McCann, the two latter acting as pages.

The children who displayed merchandise from the Little Grey Shop and the Boys' shop were Master Clarence Cole and Louis Labele and the Misses Annette and Helen Rochelien, Margaret Eastwood, and Catherine O'Neill. The men who displayed the newest styles in men's wear were Mr. Louis Oppenheim, John Neary, Charles Sherr, William Clark and Arthur Gomer.

The success of the show was made possible through the efforts of Mr. Louis Rochelien, who had general charge of the show and the earnest co-operation of the following department heads: Mr. Stanley Forbes of the Curtains Shop, Mr. Ralph Cathcart of the Atherton Furniture company, Mr. George Goldsmith of the shoe department, and Mr. Samuel Soloronko of the Street Floor Shops and Mr. Abe Segal of the Men's and Boys' Shop. Miss Alden Legare of the Millinery Department, Mrs. Gertrude Eastwood of the Beauty Shops and Mr. Alvah Johnson of the display department also assisted.

The Y.M.H.A. Juniors held their first meeting of the fall and winter season last night at the Hebrew Free school with H. Green presiding as chairman. E. Freedman, M. Cohen and E. Green were appointed members of the constitutional committee and Geo. Bloom was chosen press representative. The next meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 11, at the Hebrew Free school. At this meeting the election of officers will take place. Atty. Max Cohen is acting as director until the club gets under way.

SMALL THINGS CAUSE DESTRUCTIVE FIRES

On Oct. 9, 51 years ago, Mrs. O'Leary of Chicago carelessly left a lighted lantern in the barn. Her cow kicked it over, setting fire to the barn and starting a conflagration which swept the city.

The Chicago fire of 1871 caused a greater loss than had any previous fire in the history of the United States. It has only been surpassed since then by the San Francisco fire of 1906. Two hundred persons lost their lives in the Chicago fire and 70,000 (about one person in every five of the population) were rendered homeless. The flames raged over 2000 acres, destroying more than 17,000 buildings and entailing a property loss of approximately one-third of the city's entire value, or about $180,000,000.

The loss in this great fire was appalling but the country suffers a greater fire loss every year at the present time. It is estimated that last year the lives of more than 15,000 persons were lost and property valued at approximately one-half a billion dollars was destroyed by fires, many of them preventable.

To reduce this tremendous annual destruction it was decided 11 years ago to set aside a day to be known as National Fire Prevention day. Oct. 9, the anniversary of the starting of the Chicago conflagration, seemed to be a suitable date, and by proclamation of the president of the United States, state governors and mayors of cities, it has been observed for that purpose.

One day is such a limited time to give to the subject that a period of seven days ending Oct. 9, has recently been set aside as Fire Prevention week. Governmental, state and city officials recognize the need and have lent their assistance to make the fire prevention movement successful. Chambers of commerce throughout the country, at the request of the chamber of commerce of the United States, are taking a leading part in conducting special activities designed to acquaint every man, woman and child with the necessity of personal care for the prevention of fires.

STORM CENTER IN ANGLO-TURKISH CONFLICT

Near this struggling Oriental city of Channik in the neutral zone of the straits, British and Turkish troops firmly entrenched are facing each other. The Turks now have taken up positions completely surrounding the British. Firing of a single shot probably would excite a conflict embracing two continents.

Delays Decision on Stillman Case

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Decision on the referee's report denying a divorce to James A. Stillman, was withheld again today, by Supreme Court Justice Morschauer who declared he has not had time to read the report. He said he spent most of last night on it and planned to give most of today to reading it. Judge Morschauer did not say when the decision would be delivered.

Six or Sixty

If you are troubled with itching scalp, eczema on face, under arms or fingers, or rough, red skin, it makes no difference whether you are six or sixty years of age. Dr. Hilton's Campho-Sulphur Ointment will bring immediate relief. It will stop the itching over night, and leave the skin clear and smooth.

There is no preparation like camphor and sulphur for healing the skin.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Conquered or Money Back

For 40 years, said Dr. Carey, I have been prescribing my prescription No. 777 (known for years as Marshroot) for kidney and bladder troubles and now that I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price, on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health. Watch the symptoms. If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffy eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or stiffness, you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 right away.

It has wonderfully benefited tens of thousands of cases of kidney and bladder troubles and is the medicine you can always depend upon. Results are guaranteed.

NOTE—Dr. Daniel G. Carey was a practicing physician for many years and his great Prescription No. 777 aided thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. Therefore you can always get this effective prescription in both liquid and tablet form at Fred Howard's, 191 Central St., A. W. Brown's drug store and all reliable pharmacists the country over.—Adv.

100 TONS OF COAL RAISED OFF NEWPORT, R. I.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 5.—First fruits of a search for sunken treasure in progress off this port, 100 tons of coal raised from the depths of the ocean, reached Newport late yesterday. Treasure hunters probing the floor of the Atlantic between Fort Judith and the mouth of the Narragansett bay expressed the belief that between 6000 and 8000 tons of coal would be raised to relieve the fuel shortage here.

When the coal shortage became acute recently Capt. Lewis N. Dix of New York, well known in yachting circles, conceived the idea of locating coal barges sunk off Newport during the storms of many winters and raising their cargoes.

Associated with a local contractor, he found 12 such barges, some of them gone to Davy Jones' locker as much as 12 years ago. Work was begun at once of salvaging the coal.

A steam lighter equipped with a huge bucket is the equipment used by the expedition. The bucket similar to that used in the dredging is lowered to the sunken barge, opened by means of a line, and then closed and hauled up, bringing a load of coal with it. The barges located are all from 100 to 155 feet under water.

Local Coal Situation

Continued

There is no assurance that this allotment will reach Lowell, and if it does, a large quantity of it may arrive during the last and of this period. The coal period is from the middle of December to the first of March, and that is the time when we will need the coal. If a large quantity of this allotment does not reach us until after March 1, it will be of no use to us this winter.

Therefore, I ask you to urge upon the public the necessity of being careful in regard to burning anthracite coal.

Do not start the fires until it is absolutely necessary, and substitute fuel, such as wood and soft coal, until the cold weather is upon us. If these warnings are not heeded, there surely will be much suffering in our city during the coming winter, if the weather is at all severe.

"Thanking you for all the publicity you can give this matter, I am,

"Yours very truly,"

"A. D. MILLIKEN,

"Local Emergency Fuel Distributor."

Dealers Interviewed

E. A. Wilson, of the E. A. Wilson Coal Co., was emphatic when interviewed today in regard to the anthracite situation in this city. He declared that the shortage was really serious—that few shipments of any quantity of the favorite coal were really on the way to Lowell, and that the prospects are for meager shipments until late winter or early spring.

"You cannot make this statement too emphatic," declared Mr. Wilson. "The reports published in a daily newspaper, not The Sun, that 25,000 tons of anthracite coal recently arrived in Boston for immediate distribution, are not true. It is ridiculous to say such things, when the coal dealers of the state are in touch with all railroad shipments of this kind regularly, and know exactly what the real conditions are.

"Lowell may continue to suffer from severe shortages of the popular anthracite coal during the remainder of the winter. I firmly believe that with rail shipping conditions as they are at present, with an abnormal shortage of freight cars and the absolute inability of the handlers to forward anywhere nearly enough supplies to our territory, Lowell customers will be forced to secure supplies of other fuel and secure them at once if they hope to keep their homes warm this winter."

Mr. Wilson declared that the public has placed too much faith in untrue reports concerning the anthracite coal situation and railroad conditions. Thousands of tons of anthracite are piled up in the mining regions, with freight cars unavailable. Five hundred cars could be loaded today in the D. & M. section alone, and similar conditions exist in the Lohigh coal districts and other anthracite-mining regions.

Other Lowell coal merchants emphatically supported the views of Mr. Wilson. All declared that supplies, long predicted as headed Lowell way, are not coming in. Several dealers have mine companies' telegrams, stating that so many cars are to be shipped, but they don't say when.

To be sure, during the last ten days, a small number of carloads of anthracite have arrived in Lowell, but the number is trifling compared with the list of customers who hoped to be promptly served.

The Wilson company has had three carloads of anthracite coal since the strike ended officially, and one other arrived yesterday. The first three were poor and nut. More are supposed to be on the way, but the company has no information as to when they will arrive. The chief obstacle appears to be the rail delivery system, which is badly handicapped by car shortages and a greatly depleted number of serviceable freight locomotives, the latter being a direct result of the shop workers' strike.

Most dealers say the present extreme shortage will continue at least until the Christmas season, and some say there will be not enough anthracite to fill even the smallest allotments of fuel until next spring.

British Admiralty Coal

Most of the local dealers appear to be in about the same quandary. There appears to be plenty of British Admiralty coal, as it is called, in various big yard dumps controlled by the navy. But the local dealers, the Lowell Coal Co. reports, plenty of this variety on hand and more coming. This concern has also had a few cars of stove, nut and egg coal come in within a week, but the supply on hand is not heavy, and shipments reported to be on the way have not been heard from up to the morning.

John Brady has practically sold out on anthracite, but is distributing the other coals regularly under the usual restrictive sales methods that all local dealers have been compelled to adopt. At the Brady office it was said that several cars of anthracite in the popular grades were on the way to Lowell. Office attaches agree with other merchants that the shortage is likely to continue for several months with little chance of improvement. The manager's supply system that most of the other local merchants were so loudly complaining of.

At the John P. Quinn office on Cornhill street, a little real optimism prevailed. Numerous customers have been taken care of recently with supplies that came in since Tuesday morning, but the anthracite on hand is now practically nil. The Quinn price for anthracite is $16.50 per ton. Martin Quinn said:

"We felt at one time that the supplies would come along much better, but it is useless now to expect any thing like normal distributions. We think that none of the merchants are going to have anything like fair supplies for a considerable time."

"Our first cars came in a week ago Tuesday. We took care of some waiting customers, but had to distribute in one-ton lots. The outlook could be better, and of course we hope to have better in any day, but the future cannot be foretold under present conditions."

Mr. Mullin's Predictions

Joseph Mullin has not sufficient supplies of anthracite on hand today to supply this concern's customers, but several cars are billed in and ought to be here soon. Mr. Mullin has no faith in reports that Lowell and vicinity, as well as Massachusetts, will not suffer from anthracite coal shortage this winter. Said Mr. Mullin:

"Do you see that old newspaper clipping up there on the wall?" pointing to a yellowed piece of newspaper tacked inside the cashier's cage. "Well, that situation is going to be repeated this winter." The clipping referred to the serious conditions that followed the big great "coal strike" in the spring of 1922. The strike began May 12 and was not ended until Oct. 3 of that year. The winter that followed is, of course, well remembered. Anthracite coal was so short that many users had to purchase wood and also burn the soft coal varieties. In the opinion of the Mullin concern, similar conditions will exist in Lowell this winter.

"As a matter of fact we don't expect any normal deliveries until next spring," said Mr. Mullin.

The free shipments of Admiralty coal into Lowell and neighboring towns have surprised some people, with eyes directed toward the downtown coal dumping stations. The Horns coal company has been "lucky" in this respect. If you can call it luck in being a coal merchant in the fall of 1922, Mr. Fred Horns took a Sun man over his Thorndike street yards this morning.

More than 100 tons of the Admiralty coal have arrived, and yesterday seven cars were unloaded after being run through the big traveling "melter." Mr. Horns has not been receiving the supplies of anthracite that he anticipated when he was notified that shipments were on the way and "could be expected soon," but at the same time he has been able to supply a fair percentage of customers with half-ton allotments.

"We shall keep on with the small distributions until more supplies come in," he said. "The price on the market and stove grades is $16.50. Admiralty coals are $15 and $16, according to grades—and please remember that there is more than one grade of this Admiralty coal. That is why the prices are not all even throughout the city on this fuel."

Ray of Optimism

The Horns company, in line with other dealers, has railroad notices of anthracite on the way, but no word has come to indicate when the fuel will reach here. Mr. Horns advises anthracite users to be patient. He believes the "first round" deliveries have greatly lessened the coal shortage and stopped any panicky conditions. He is now confident that the "second round" deliveries on the way will further tend to lessen the scramble for anthracite, and that the "third

ALL GONE FEELING DUE TO DYSPEPSIA

Chronic Stomach Trouble Corrected by Tonic Treatment in a Short Time

Indigestion does not always cause pain in the stomach. Often such pains are felt around the heart, or in the side. Good digestion requires rich red blood and well nourished nerves. With these assured and proper care of the diet most symptoms of indigestion will quickly vanish.

"I was a confirmed sufferer from stomach trouble," says Mrs. James Bryson, of No. 254 Main street, Everett, Mass., "although I had received a great deal of medical treatment and had consulted a Boston specialist. I had severe gas pain around the heart and extreme palpitation. To walk upstairs would make me out of breath and it seemed as if my heart would jump out of my body. Any extra exertion would tire me all out. I wanted to eat but was afraid of the pain that would follow."

I heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from a friend who had used them with excellent results. While I was taking the second box I noticed an improvement. The gas pains stopped and I could eat a good meal and digest it. I grew stronger and continued with the pills for some time. Now I sleep well and I never have that all gone feeling. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to my friends and am glad to tell others what they have done for me."

If you have a poor appetite or weak digestion get an 80-cent box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from the nearest drug store and begin toning up the digestive organs today. Then write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat." Send no money nor stamps. It is free on request.—Adv.

will smash the so-called shortage. At the same time, the Horns people do not look for any rush of anthracite deliveries until winter is well advanced, if it comes satisfactorily, even then.

The Juddo egg coals have arrived in Lowell, the price averaging $17.50 per ton. The Horns people received its first car of Juddo last Friday.

The Thorndike Coal & Grain Co. has no assuring reports to offer on the coal situation in Lowell. It feels this concern and its customers. The company is "shortened up" like many of the other local distributors, but has car shipments reported on the way. The manager declares the public should be warned again, and repeatedly if necessary, that the people of Lowell are sure to be poorly supplied with anthracite, probably far into the winter. This concern can see no wind-up of the abnormal car shortage, and deliveries when they do come in will have to be made in the usual small half-ton or ton lots, the prevailing custom.

Other coal dealers interviewed yesterday declared emphatically that any reports that Lowell dealers had supplies coming in freely enough to supply immediate or future demands, were without foundation.

"Those who think we have anthracite stored for future deliveries at higher prices, as has been indicated in some quarters, are invited to visit our yards any time and look into the bins," said one merchant. "We don't expect adequate deliveries to the Lowell district for a good many weeks to come. The small car lots dribbling along now are really only a drop in the anthracite bucket."

"And remember this, Mr. Reporter: Those small 'Mt. Washington' that catch the eye of troubled customers in several coal yard dumping places close to the railroad lines below Thorndike street, don't mean what you think they do, to use the phrase of that songster on a Lowell two-day vaudeville stage last week. The plain facts are that there is practically no stove, egg or nut coal to be had in any sufficient quantities right now, with the exception of dribbling three-car supplies that come in once in a while. For the past 10 days the number of cars reaching Lowell has been so small that they weren't noticeable."

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. Get about two pinches of calomel powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone. Finishing and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of calomel powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition.—Adv.

LOWELL MEN LEASE SOMERVILLE BUILDING

Two Lowell young men, Timothy J. Linnehan and Joseph E. Sullivan have just signed a ten-year lease of the K. of C. building, corner of Highland avenue and Central street, Somerville, giving them immediate control of the property.

The building is of four stories, brick and cement construction, and was erected but a few years ago. It is the home of the Mt. Benedict council, K. of C., and the latter will retain quarters there. There are four halls and a theatre, the largest with a seating capacity of 300. In the basement there are ten bowling alleys, while on the ground floor there are 12 stores. Mr. Linnehan will act as manager and will have an office in the building. He has had considerable experience in the amusement game, having promoted a number of carnivals, etc. He is a prominent member of the YM.C.A. and has taken an active part in the direction of many of the institute's concerts, dances and other entertainments. Mr. Sullivan is well known in local business and amusement circles. He is a member of the firm of Sullivan Brothers, printers, and also of the firm of Sullivan & Sullivan, proprietors of the Crescent rink and alleys.

MAY SUSPEND CAR TRAFFIC

It may be necessary to suspend street car traffic over Central bridge for a short time while amble is being laid there by Contractor Zuel A. Houle. The up-stream side of the bridge is completed and excavation has begun on the down-stream side, which takes in the street car rails. It is the wish of the city engineering department to have both trucks closed while the material is hardening, but no definite arrangement has yet been reached.

RECOGNITION OF KING GEORGE OF GREECE

ATHENS, Oct. 5.—(By Associated Press) King George has received a long telegram from his father-in-law, King Ferdinand of Rumania, containing congratulations on his accession to the throne and good advice as to his exercise of the royal powers.

Russia, Spain, Bulgaria and Rumania have taken preliminary steps toward recognition of the new regime. The newspapers are printing cable messages from Greek organizations in the United States, notably Chicago, congratulating the revolutionists and favoring the creation of a Greek republic. It is officially reported that the Albanians are reinforcing their troops on the frontier as a result of the Greek nationalist movements.

an old New England doctor, little dreaming that he was creating a safeguard for the health of generations to come, from his knowledge of vegetable drugs compounded a wonderful tonic, which he successfully used for years in treating patients who had become anaemic and "all run down."

Since 1845—when his prescription was offered to the public in SANALT the Sensible Tonic—it has relieved thousands of people from the ills caused by chronic constipation. There are no opiates, narcotics, or other harmful drugs in SANALT. It is made today just as it was over 100 years ago—from the best vegetable alternatives, which cleanse and purify the blood, keep liver and bowels active, and prevent poisons from accumulating in the system.

One grateful user—Mrs. Jacob Young of Scranton, Pa.—has this to say for Sanalt:—

"I have suffered from constipation for fifteen years and for a long time have been subject to headaches that would last for three or four days. The pain almost drove me crazy. I have taken cathartics night after night, and suffered about as much from the medicine as I did from the constipation. At the time I bought my first bottle of Sanalt, I was really in a desperate condition. Of all the troubles it seemed to me that nervousness was worst for of course that was the result of constipation and all that the constipation led up to. Before I had taken the first bottle of Sanalt I felt one hundred per cent better—better than I had for years. I am now on my third bottle and feel that by the time I am through with it I shall be really well."

You can get SANALT, or the other famous Winsol products, at any drug store. For Winsol preparations are one line of trade-marked proprietary remedies sold by both Winsol Agents and non-agent druggists. No need to accept substitutes. Any druggist can get Winsol remedies for you through his jobber.

NEURDPATHIC DROPS, the great emergency medicine, and CERIZANE BALSAM, for coughs, are two Winsol remedies that should be kept in every home. Ask your druggist about them.

REAL ESTATE MEN MAKE NEW RULES

If you are interested in a piece of property you will have to go to the office of a real estate broker or have him call at your home, for no more information concerning real estate that is on the market will be given by telephone. This action was taken at a largely attended meeting of the Lowell Real Estate exchange last evening in the Bradley building in Central street.

The brokers, it was stated, are ready at any time to call at the home of an interested party or will gladly give all information wanted at their own office, but they feel that the discussion of business over the telephone is not very satisfactory.

Another important matter taken up at the meeting was that of the so-called curb dealer, or the party who acts as "go-between" between the owner and the agent, and who in many cases collects commissions from both the owner and the agent. This no-called "go-between" has been the cause of many court litigations in the past, it was stated, and therefore, it was voted to do away with such a practice. Other matters of importance were discussed and the meeting adjourned until the first Wednesday in November, at which time an out-of-town speaker will discuss the subject, "Co-operation between Real Estate Dealers."

DROUTH RECORD MAY BE BROKEN

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—This year has smashed one weather record after another. Cold, heat, wind, rain, thunderstorms, one after another, records have crumbled and now it is out after the record for droughts.

There has been no rain in Boston since Sept. 15, 19 days ago, and, according to the forecast, there will be no rain to-day or tomorrow.

Forecast, there will be no rain to-day or tomorrow. Droughts is 22 days. The record for no rain is from Feb. 24, 1877, there is no record for no rain for 215 days, when for 25 days made a record of "no rain" an amount to be measured.

Too many adds another instance to the evidence of the superstition of the age, the popular belief to occur "in-form," a storm is believed to occur when the sun crosses the line. Inasmuch as there has been no rain since Sept. 15, this year at least, it is not to be expected that the drought will be broken. The drought is now 19 days old. The drought is now 19 days old. The drought is now 19 days old.

CZAR'S GRAND NIECE ARRIVES IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Two-and-one-half-year-old Countess, the grand-niece of a former czar of Russia, came to America yesterday.

She was Countess Renee de Montenegro, and although she will be legally adopted by Mrs. Wendell Phillips, a wealthy New York widow, she will retain her formidable title.

This little girl escaped the red tape of Ellis Island, for Mrs. Phillips, armed with letters from Washington, was on hand to meet the child, brought overseas by Miss Aileen Gowan, head of a hospital in Woolwich, Eng. Consequently a special board inquiry hastily was assembled at the immigration station and restrictions bearing on the entry of a minor alien without parents or guardian were hastily stricken.

Mrs. Phillips, who visited the Montenegro family in days when the nobility fared better in Russia, said that the child's father, Count Henry de Montenegro, had been shot when the Bolsheviks sacked the Royal Palace in Petrograd.

The mother, Countess Claude, was spirited out of Russia and gave birth to her child in England. Leaving the child in the Woolwich hospital, the countess came to America for her health, but in 1921 died of influenza in Mrs. Phillips' home here.

On her death bed the countess asked Mrs. Phillips to adopt the child and rear her as her own. Mrs. Phillips promised.

$40,000 LOSS CAUSED BY FIRE AT CANTON

CANTON, Oct. 5.—A fire which destroyed the Byam, Reynolds Co. was destroyed by fire early today with a loss estimated at $40,000. Firemen extinguished roof fires on 10 dwelling houses near the shed. The cause of the fire was not determined.

The Mississippi was traced to its source in 1832.

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Linton Tells How Helpful Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is at This Period

Denver, Colorado.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for many years and I cannot tell you the good it has done me. It is good for young and old and I always keep a bottle of it in the house, for I am at that time of life when it calls for Lydia E. Pinkham's help. My husband saw your ad. in the paper and said 'You have taken everything you can think of, now I want you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.' So I let him get it, and I soon felt better and he told me 'I want you to take about six bottles.' So I did and I keep house and do all my own work and work out by the day and feel fine now. I tell every one about the Vegetable Compound, for so many of my friends thought I would not get well."—Mrs. R. J. LINTON, 1850 West 33d Avenue, Denver, Colorado.

After reading letters like the above, and we are constantly publishing them, why should any woman hesitate to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she is in need of help? It brings relief where other medicines fail.

SCORES DEPT. OF JUSTICE

Attorney for R. R. Shop Crafts Appears Before Judge Wilkerson

Accuses Justice Dept. of Lack of Good Faith in Injunction Case

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press) Appearing before Judge James H. Wilkerson today, Donald H. Richberg, attorney for the railway shop crafts, accused the department of justice of lack of good faith in the proposed to expedite final disposition of the injunction case against the rail strike leaders.

Mr. Richberg declared that he and associate counsel had held an unsatisfactory conference with Solicitor General Clegg after a futile attempt to see Attorney General Daugherty in Washington with reference to an early final hearing or a review of the interlocutory injunction handed down by Judge Wilkerson on Sept. 25.

In connection with his statement to the court, in which he recalled that the government had held itself in readiness to go to trial at an early date, with the suggestion that opposing counsel attempt to agree on a trial program, Mr. Richberg delivered to the court a copy of a letter to Solicitor General Clegg severely criticizing the government's statement of facts.

"First, if it were practicable to have three circuit judges hear the case, that proceeding would not expedite but delay it."

"Second, that the department invites counsel for the defendants to consider the government's statement of facts and asks counsel for the defendants to submit such a statement of facts."

"Third, if an agreed statement of fact is not practicable, then two courses are open:

(a) A stipulation to submit the affidavit to either party to offer additional testimony.

(b) A trial of the case largely on depositions taken throughout the United States except where a stipulation of fact may dispense with formal proof."

In the letter, in reply to Solicitor General Clegg, Mr. Richberg said:

"There are two matters which the defendants desire to have expedited. First a review of the interlocutory injunction, and second a final hearing of the case. Your suggestions affect only the second matter and practically ignore the matter of probably greater importance to the defendants."

"The use of the summary equity procedure to obtain a tentative conviction of 400,000 men of criminal conspiracy upon evidence found solely in affidavits signed by ex-parte affidavits reeking with hearsay and prejudice, has been made the means of depriving these men of liberty and property so long as the interlocutory injunction remains in force," the letter said.

Safeguards "protecting" the "vested" rights of motorists, caught red handed, have been denied to 400,000 industrious, law-abiding citizens and their chosen leaders," the letter continued.

"The attorney general has certified that this is a case of general public importance. The defendants are entitled to a hearing before three judges. The attorney general has refused to file a form certificate, which would notify the circuit judges that the case should be assigned for hearing before at least three judges. Counsel for the defendants will, therefore, ask the court that such notification be given to the circuit judges that this case may be heard in accordance with the provisions of the act of 1903."

"The department threatens to take depositions 'throughout the United States' and make the burden of defending as oppressive and extensive as possible to the already deeply wronged defendants. As an alternative, the department offers that counsel for the defendants may stipulate that the Supreme Vice Chancellor Mount Everest (type of) in the form of affidavits be submitted as though formally taken, or in other words, that we allow the defendants to be found guilty of a criminal conspiracy without opportunity to cross-examine and falsify witnesses, which he said was made at the government as to ourselves. Such a suggestion is unworthy of any consideration."

Mr. Richberg characterized as a "pure waste of time" the trip to Washington, which he said was made at the suggestion of the court and the assistant solicitor-general.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

The four local lodges of Knights of Pythias will be well represented in the big K. of P. parade on Thursday, Oct. 12, at Boston next Thursday (Columbus day). The parade is to form near the junction of Commercial and North streets, and will march to the Mechanics hall, where the exercises of the evening are to be held. The Templars of Pythias will also be in line, and independent are for one of the biggest K. of P. demonstrations in years.

HUNTING SEASON OFF

Fire Hazard Too Great Says Maine Governor's Proclamation

AUGUSTA, Me., Oct. 5.—A proclamation was issued yesterday by Gov. Percival P. Baxter, suspending the open season for hunting and prohibiting the carrying of firearms in the woods. The proclamation will be revoked in the event of heavy rains. This is the first time in the history of the state that a proclamation of this kind has been issued by a governor.

"The present forest fire situation in Maine is critical," says Gov. Baxter in his proclamation.

"The result of the existing dry weather, fires in the woods once started spread with great rapidity," continues the proclamation. "A sudden and alarming increase in the number of fires has occurred since the opening of the hunting season. If present conditions continue, disastrous conflagrations may result."

"Whoever shoots during this period any wild animal or bird for hunting of which there is no closed season, or whoever enters upon the wild lands of the state carrying or having in possession firearms, will be punishable by a fine of $100 and costs."

"This proclamation does not prohibit the shooting of wild water fowl on the tidal waters of the state."

RECEIVED SACRAMENT OF CONFIRMATION

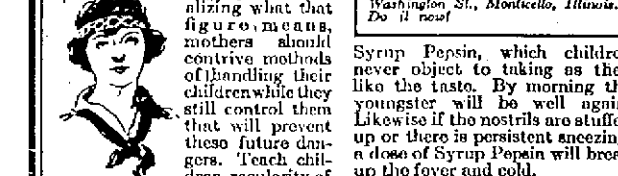

Over 300 boys and girls received the sacrament of confirmation at the Immaculate Conception church this morning at 10.30 o'clock. Confirmation was administered by Rt. Rev. Joseph G. Anderson, auxiliary bishop of the archdiocese of Boston. He was assisted by Rev. Owen P. McQuinn, O.M.I., who had charge of the ceremony and Rev. Martin E. Norton, O.M.I.

The scene within the church was a pretty one as the boys and girls filled the seats of the center aisle. The boys wore dark blue suits with white satin ribbons on their arms and each had a white carnation in his buttonhole. The girls were dressed in pure white with a flowing veil of filmy lace. The sponsors for the children on this solemn occasion were Mr. John Sullivan and Miss Mary E. Dacey.

Ailing Children Get Well on Syrup Pepsin

A small dose at bedtime brings relief and laughter by morning

HOSPITAL and doctor's records prove that 75 per cent of human illness has its origin in the intestinal canal, complicated with what is commonly called constipation. It is a surprising fact that figure means, mothers should contrive methods of handling their children while they still control them that will prevent these future dangers. Teach children regularity of bowel movement, and be especially watchful of young girls. Insist on two passages a day until the age of 18, when one is usually sufficient. Give plenty of oranges and apples. Plenty of butter because it lubricates the intestinal tract, and encourage the drinking of water.

If you detect restlessness, belching, gas or wind on the stomach, sleeplessness, or lack of appetite, examine the tongue and you will find it coated, accompanied by unpleasant breath. The child is bilious, constipated. According to age, give from one-half to a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which children never object to taking as they like the taste. By morning the youngster will be well again. Likewise if the nostrils are stuffed up or there is persistent sneezing, a dose of Syrup Pepsin will break up the fever and cold.

Mrs. Geo. N. Colson of Bernard, Me., keeps her family well in that way, and Mrs. Ida A. Burckett of Carroll, La., who has been using Syrup Pepsin for a dozen years, has raised her three children on it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The formula, however, is on every package. Druggists have sold it with satisfaction to their customers for over 30 years, and it is now the largest selling family laxative in the world. Buy a bottle today. It will last you for months, and the cost is only about a cent a dose.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a trustworthy laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" I urge you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate test. Write me where to send it. Address: Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 315 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

CURLEY SAYS MENACE OF K. K. K. MUST END

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Mayor Curley issued last night the following statement relative to the Ku Klux Klan meeting in North Cambridge on Tuesday night:

"Massachusetts has from the beginning of our government enjoyed a distinction among the states of the Union in the matter of a liberal interpretation of the constitutional guarantees and rights of all men living within her borders."

"The value of her interpretation was emphasized in the World war when under the selective draft system absolute equality without regard to race, creed or color obtained."

"The most valued lesson furnished by the World war may be forgotten in those sections of America south of the Mason-Dixon line where illiterate and child labor in industry are found, but are still remembered in Massachusetts."

"The appearance in the University city of a delegation of men and their faithful assistants upon the rights and liberties of their fellow Americans makes necessary a statement of the record of America, namely: That the un-American principles and propaganda presented by the Ku Klux Klan represent a menace that decent men will not tolerate, and that every agency which the constitution provides for the safeguarding of the life, liberty and happiness of the people should be speedily invoked to the end."

Curley Will Investigate

Ex-Representative William A. Curley of Dorchester announced yesterday afternoon that he means to conduct an investigation of the recent activities hereabouts of the Ku Klux Klan with the idea of drafting legislation to be presented at the forthcoming legislative session, designed to curb the work of what he calls "this un-American organization."

Curley's reports of last night's Ku Klux meeting must shock the people of Boston and that state to a realization of the pro-British aims of this invidious secret society," he said.

"The Ku Klux gangsters ought to be curbed speedily, unless the fair name of Massachusetts is to be coupled with those of Georgia and Florida, where the organization has been successful enough to insert in political platforms certain planks aimed at the rights and freedom of Catholics and Jews."

"It is high time that the commonwealth in which we live, and which was dedicated to freedom of religious belief when the Pilgrims came to these shores, stamp indelibly its seal of protest against the Ku Klux Klan before it further invades the freedom of our homes."

To Submit It to Legislation

"It is my intention to make a careful investigation of the work in the Bay State of this Prussian body and submit it to the attention of the next legislature with the hope that prompt action will be meted out to the offenders and that the general court place itself on record as absolutely opposed to the Ku Klux Klan in Massachusetts of the Klan in order that the rest of the United States may know that we still stand for democracy."

Mr. Curley won a democratic nomination for a house seat from Dorchester, in the primary, and this is considered tantamount to an election in November.

HOOVER UNABLE TO ADDRESS BANKERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, who was to have addressed the annual convention of the American Bankers' association, today was unable to do so on account of illness. It was announced by Pres. Thomas B. McAdams of the association, Mr. McAdams said he had received a letter from Mr. Hoover this morning expressing his keen regret that he would be unable to appear.

Mr. Hoover arrived here from Washington last night.

KNIGHTS OF MALTA

This week's meeting of Lowell Comandery, Knights of Malta, was marked by a good attendance and the transaction of considerable important business. Three applications for membership were received and an invitation to attend the meeting of Holy Rosary Sisterhood, Dames of Malta, next Wednesday evening, was accepted. The next ritual is steadily growing, and plans are now being made for a dancing party next month. Ernest C. Peaslee is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

ASTOUNDED BY CHARGES

Foreman of Grand Jury Discharged by Atty-Gen. Allen Makes Denial

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Thomas W. Somers, foreman of the special grand jury discharged yesterday by Attorney General J. Weston Allen on the grounds that it had been tampered with, while investigating the affairs of the closed Hanover Trust Co., in a statement today declared that he was astounded by the attorney general's charges.

"Our relations with the attorney general and both his assistants were most cordial," he added. "As foreman I never dreamed of had an inkling that any outside influence were at work, and I cannot believe that is so."

"Mr. Allen says in his statement that improper influences were used to affect our minds. So far as I know, that is absolutely untrue."

William S. McNary, treasurer of the Hanover Trust Co., and former congressman, in a statement said that he assumed he was the official of the trust company referred to by Mr. Allen as having approached grand jurors. He denied ever having mentioned the case to any of them.

Many very lovely headresses for winter have a strong oriental influence, being made like turbans of richly brocaded materials, but entirely lacking as to crown. Earrings, which grow longer hourly, are a necessary accessory to complete the picture.

NEW RULES APPROVED BY CEMETERY BOARD

New rules and regulations governing the duties of employees of the cemetery commission have been approved by the city collector and will come before the board for adoption at its November meeting. The rules were discussed at length yesterday at the October meeting and meet with the approval of the commission.

According to Chairman William H. Flighy, employees have been in the habit of competing for the care of lots, doing work as individuals rather than members of the department and thus cutting down what should be departmental revenue. The proposed rules forbid any work in the public cemeteries before 8 a. m. or after 5 p. m.

VETERANS' MEETING IN AUDITORIUM

The honor of holding the first veterans meeting in the Memorial Auditorium goes to Post 185, G.A.R., which held a meeting in the veterans' wing last night. In the name of the post Commander Franklin S. Pevey took possession of the wing from the custodian, Collin H. MacKenzie. The commander thanked Mr. MacKenzie and expressed great pleasure at the new quarters.

The post's meeting was preceded by a harvest supper served by Mrs. Mabel Kennedy. Songs and assembly singing preceded the supper.

Let Conscience Be Your Guide

EDGAR H. BRISTOL AND HIS "NEW CIVILIZATION" AUTO BUS AND HOSPITAL.

By N.E.A. Service
FOXBORO, Mass., Oct. 4.—Trolley cars without fare boxes; telephones without slot machines; gas meters without any register—

That's what we'll all be enjoying soon if the "New Civilization" idea, born here keeps spreading.

It's a simple idea, based on the faith that everyone has a conscience, which will be his guide. The organization backing the new movement accepts the inner self of the individual as his only asset.

It seeks to provide the necessities of community life, accepting in return only what the conscience of the persons impels him to give.

Already the town boasts of two automobile buses run on the new idea. Passengers taken anywhere, day or night, pay any fare they please. If they don't think the ride is worth anything at all, they needn't pay a cent.

Working Out Successfully

This proved so successful that Edgar H. Bristol, a wealthy manufacturer who is father of the "New Civilization" movement, decided to expand its scope. He purchased a large house, which will be used as a public hospital and community center, as soon as alterations are completed. Each patron will pay only what his conscience dictates. There will be a telephone for public use, but there won't be any slot machine. If the caller is so inclined he may drop some money in a little box. If not he needn't pay at all.

Bristol believes that his idea is quite practicable and that it will soon sweep throughout the country.

"I am interested," he says, "only in that which is economically sound. 'New Civilization' as you see it working out here today in Foxboro, is developing everywhere, only it is developing here more rapidly through the impetus we have lent it."

There are those who say the world is going to the dogs. There are others who predict the realization of the millennium within 25 years, and there are others who are satisfied with things as they are and don't want to be driven out of easy street by the muttering toilers.

"In starting this movement here I am interested only in that which is tangible and probable. The idea has gained prestige and now we enjoy a membership of 1000."

The movement is daily drawing new followers, ten cents and a promise to abide by the principles of the organization being all that is required for membership.

Business Picking Up

The "New Civilization" buses were placed in operation about six weeks ago. Each contained a coin box into which the passengers could drop whatever they thought their rides were worth. The coin boxes were opened each day by a representative of a local bank.

The first week showed a deficit in the operation expenses, of approximately $46. But the people of the town have gradually grasped the idea and have become enthusiastic over it.

GENERAL sanitary regulations in producing Evaporated Milk are established by law. In addition to the observance of these we establish our own specific and rigid inspection to make our milk absolutely pure and of fine quality. No single batch of Borden's Evaporated Milk is allowed to leave the condensary until it has passed a final laboratory test.

Though this elaborate inspection may make it cost more to the grocer he sells Borden's at the price of other standard brands. For he relies on it to please his most particular customers.

Borden's Evaporated Milk is pure country milk with the cream left in. It is fine for both coffee and cooking.

As a result the loss has been steadily cut down until the last deficit was but a little more than $5. It is expected that this will be entirely wiped out and that the bus business will soon be on a good paying basis.

The founder of the movement has equally high hopes for his hospital and community house and plans gradually to increase the scope of work until it will embrace nearly all of the town's activities.

REGISTRATION AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

Registration will be held at the Lowell Textile school tonight for those students who desire to take the evening courses. The school was open Monday night for registration but the number who reported was not as large as expected. Tonight is the last chance as the classes open next Monday night and it is expected that as in previous years nearly 1000 pupils will enroll in the different courses.

The evening courses are free to residents of this city but students from other cities are required to pay a small fee. Instruction is given by the professors of the day school and courses are offered in cotton manufacturing, knitting, woolen and worsted drawing, elementary chemistry, textile chemistry, cotton weaving, woolen and worsted weaving, Dobby and Jacquard weaving, mechanism, mathematics, steam engineering, electrical engineering, strength of materials, mechanical drawing, machine shop, cotton finishing, woolen and worsted finishing, and advanced electricity.

ATTACKS W. HARDING

Sen. Heflin Reiterates Charges Against Former Governor of Reserve Board

WASHINGTON, October 5.—Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, today made public a letter to President Thomas B. Meadams of the American Bankers' association urging that the bankers, in convention in New York, should not adopt a resolution endorsing W. P. G. Harding of Alabama for reappointment to the federal reserve board.

Senator Heflin said he had heard a rumor that Governor Harding and friends had been "active for weeks" trying to select delegates to the American Bankers' association, who would favor the passage of a resolution endorsing him for reappointment.

Senator Heflin's letter reiterated his charge that an alleged credit deflation policy which Mr. Harding was governor of the federal reserve board had "paralyzed business, closed industries, drove millions of wage earners from employment, caused thousands to kill themselves and destroyed property valued by the millions."

TEN DOLLARS A CORD FOR HARDWOOD

Ten dollars a cord is the lowest price at which Massachusetts farmers can sell cordwood and come out whole on the transaction, according to a statement given the state fuel administrator by the Massachusetts farm bureau federation. This is for good quality hardwood. Dead chestnut and small trash wood is worth somewhat less.

The federation gave this opinion as the result of a study of conditions which it made at the request of the fuel administrator. Many farmers who have been selling cordwood for years were interviewed, and the opinion represents the average of their judgment as to the total of the various costs which enter into the price of a cord of wood, delivered at the railroad station.

The opinion as to price supplements the recent work of the federation in securing information as to the amount of wood now cut and ready for delivery in the state. Replies from practically every town in Massachusetts where any wood is available show that there is an abundance already cut for ordinary needs and that there are thousands of cords that could be cut if the price were sufficient to warrant it. The available wood already cut is largely in the western part of the state but there is a fair amount in the eastern counties. This, however, is very largely needed for local use. In case of emergency, it would be possible, in the opinion of the federation, to bring large quantities of wood into any of the cities, provided that the price was large enough to pay the farmer for the expense of cutting and hauling with a fair return for the value of the wood on the stump.

In the statement given to the fuel administrator by Howard S. Russell, secretary of the federation, the ten dollars a cord minimum price is explained and backed up by figures. The average value of wood on the stump set by farmers from many sections, was $2.25 a cord. This includes the interest on the investment in land, which is unavailable for other purposes, while the wood is growing, for about forty years; taxes over a like period; and risks from the woodlot being wiped out by fire. This last is a considerable factor in the determination of the cost.

To this value of the stump was added the average cost of cutting, $2.25 a cord; the cost of hauling out to the roadside, $2 a cord; and the cost of hauling to the station, $2.50 a cord. The final cost of $10 a cord is given as a minimum for a general price which under very favorable conditions, where the hauling distance is short and the wages below the average, the actual cost would be slightly lower, but the federation figures put in no item for profit to the farmer in the business transaction which would make it offset any ordinary saving on costs. In cases where the cutting cost and the hauling charges are above the average, the $10 a cord would not cover the cost to the farmer.

The federation made this study and offered the results to the fuel administrator in order to relieve the farmers of the state from the suspicion that they are taking advantage of the fuel situation and charging extortionate prices for their wood. Such is not the case. Except in very rare instances, farmers are selling their cordwood for $10 and $12 a cord.

MIDDLESEX NORTH POMONA GRANGE

The first meeting of the fall and winter season of the Middlesex North Pomona grange will be held in Odd Fellows hall, Bridge street, tomorrow morning, at 10:45 o'clock. The Middlesex North Pomona will be guests at this meeting. The towns included in the latter organization are Lynnfield, Saugus, Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Winchester, Stoneham, Wilmington and Woburn.

The opening meeting will be a "Neighborhood rally" with programs morning and afternoon. Lecturer Mrs. Grace Naylor of the Middlesex-North will be in charge of the session tomorrow morning. Dinner will be served at 12:30 by the Burlington and Chelsea road societies, and the afternoon meeting, open to the public, will start at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Lillian Knight of Reading, lecturer, has charge.

HARVEST SUPPER AND FESTIVAL

The annual harvest supper and festival for members and guests of Woman's Relief corps No. 33 and Post 120, G.A.R., is to be held in Post 120 banquet hall tonight, at 6 o'clock. At 8 o'clock there will be a program of entertainment for corps members and Grand Army visitors, with music and songs predominating.

This afternoon members of the W.R.C. are holding their October whist social, with about eight tables, guests being present from Grand Army posts. Mrs. Ada Myrick is chairman of today's committee and Mrs. Rita Fullerton aid.

The corps will hold a business meeting tonight, when plans for the annual corps fair will be completed. This event is scheduled to be held in about two weeks. There will be several tables for the sale of fancy work, edibles and goods made at home, clubs and patriotic circles, all in aid of the veteran organizations which sponsor the entertainment. Mrs. Alice Schofield, head of the Corps 35, is in charge of the coming fair with a corps of earnest workers.

VERDICT FOR BYAM BROTHERS

In their suit against Michael C. Brennan, which was tried at the civil session of the superior court yesterday, Byam Bros., real estate brokers, were today awarded a verdict of $102,244 in the case of Martin D. Sullivan vs. Michael C. Brennan, a verdict for the defendant was returned.

The case was a double action of tort by which both plaintiffs sought to recover a commission for the alleged sale of real estate for the defendant. The case was brought to a close yesterday noon and this morning at the opening of the court, sealed verdicts were returned.

The triple action of tort brought against J. Edward Allen of Billerica by George B. Fuller, Adm., Elizabeth Briggs and Elizabeth Scobie, which went to trial at yesterday afternoon's session, was resumed this morning. This case is a result of an automobile accident in which Mrs. Helen A. Fuller, wife of George B. Fuller, is alleged to have lost her life, while the other two plaintiffs, alleged personal injuries. The total damages in the case is $32,000.

There are 3000 boats engaged in pearling fishing off the Bare Islands.

TYNGSBORO GRANGE HARVEST EXHIBITION

The second day of the Tyngsboro grange harvest exhibition in the town hall, drew a larger attendance than was recorded yesterday. The big attractions today outside of the splendid exhibits in the hall and on the stage, were the dinner and supper programs, and the plans for tonight's dramatic entertainment and dance that wind up the two days' celebration.

Among the features that attracted much attention today were the elaborate displays of home handwork, such as table covers, dollies, bed spreads, home-made rag matting, dining sets, lace, embroideries and fancy work in many varieties both useful and for home decorating. There was one large set of table covers, hand-embroidered, that took nearly five years to make. Its value is considered high both in quality of work and price, if it were to be offered for sale.

A farce will be given by grange members tonight, dancing will come afterward. Judges will announce awards after the show.

On an average, 100 veterans of the Civil war die every day.

TO WOMEN VOTERS

Perhaps the women of Lowell have not paid much attention to politics during the past year and when they will have to cast their ballot at the state election, they may be more or less puzzled as to whether they should vote for the democratic candidates or for the republican.

It may have escaped the attention of some of the women voters that the republican party has enacted a tariff law that will raise the cost of living very considerably within the near future through the imposition of excessive tariff duties upon imports. Now let it be understood at the outset, that what would be considered a fair tariff would be a duty that would cover the difference in the cost of production here and abroad. That would give the industries of the United States an equal chance in the markets of the world and that is all they should require. The republican party, however, has even surpassed its old policy of putting on excessive charges for the benefit of special interests. These charges will be added to the cost of the commodities to the American consumer and in this way it is estimated that the increased cost to the entire country for one year under the operation of the tariff law, will be four billion dollars. Already the upward tendency in commodity prices is being felt by housekeepers and it will continue until war time price levels are reached. Here, then, is one reason why the voters of Massachusetts, both male and female, should cast their ballots against the candidates of the republican party.

The party in its various campaigns promised to pay a bonus to the service men, but after much haggling and the payment of several bills, one was sent to President Harding with the full understanding that he would veto it. He carried out his promise and thereby violated his own and the party pledge to the service men. The voters should rebuke the party for this violation of its pledges which were made under various plausible pretexts.

It is understood also that thus far the women have paid but little attention to matters of registration and it is, therefore, important that every woman eligible should see that her name is placed upon the voting list. The election commission has announced various dates on which it will conduct registration sessions; and these should be availed of by the women for the purpose of having their names on the voting list. It is a simple matter to get registered. The commissioners are not at all inquisitive and they are satisfied to let the applicants pass without asking too many questions. There is no reason why any woman who is eligible should fail to register for the coming election, when several issues of great importance will come up for decision. Senator Lodge, who has always opposed woman suffrage, will be a candidate for reelection and it is the duty of the women of this state to vote for his opponent, Col. William A. Gaston, who represents progressive policies, whereas Mr. Lodge stands for the Old Guard of the republican party which is now as in the past identified with the predatory interests.

MISS NICOLAY'S HISTORY

By some it was thought that the Boston city council was needlessly sensitive or supercilious when it voted to condemn the use of a school history written by Miss Helen Nicolay, in the schools of that city.

The Boston decision is now endorsed by no less an authority than Professor Bushnell Hart of Harvard, a man who cannot be said to be prejudiced against England. He takes issue with Miss Nicolay in regard to the character of Samuel Adams, James Otis, James Warren and even Ben Franklin, all of whom she attacks and assails. She also gives a new and apparently spurious account of certain battles of the Revolution, designating some of them as mere battles. Prof. Hart says that where this history is not quite inaccurate, it is flippant in dealing with very serious matters. It is strange that Miss Nicolay should feel called upon to revise her history and represent many of the patriotic leaders of the Revolution as wholly unworthy of the celebrity lavished upon them. Miss Nicolay is the daughter of John G. Nicolay, Lincoln's private secretary. One would suppose that she would have accepted the high ideal of character which history attributes to the patriots she has stung out for criticism or actual ridicule. It seems, however, that on the contrary, she has caught the iconoclastic mania as marked in some writers who show a disposition to deny any high motive or praiseworthy achievement to men of a bygone age. It is this tendency that causes some writers to regard early history as mythical or legendary. That is modernism which extols the present age and its chief actors and views the events of the distant past through the wrong end of the telescope as it were, thus minimizing the people and their achievements as compared with those of the present.

GEORGIA TO THE FORE

Georgia is the first state to name a woman for the United States senate. Mrs. W. H. Felton, supporter of lynching when all other punishment methods fail, as she has expressed it, was appointed on Monday by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Thomas E. Watson, until the people elect a successor in November. There will be a special primary in Georgia on Oct. 17 to nominate a candidate.

Mrs. Felton has no use for negro criminals or other law-breakers, white or black. At the same time, and admitting that as a woman she has shown wonderful acumen in her field of work for many years, her defense of lynching of negroes guilty of certain crimes, has no parallel in the annals of the country.

In a letter written to the Atlanta Constitution defending the lynching of negroes, she said: "If it requires lynching to protect woman's dearest possession from drunken human beasts, then I say lynch a thousand negroes a week. It is the unwritten law in Georgia that the black fiend who destroys a white woman in her home or on the highway, and is identified with proof positive, must die without clergy, judge or jury."

It is evident that this elderly Georgian who is after a seat in the United States senate, if only temporarily, has the courage of her convictions but if her sentiments prevailed, anarchy would soon undermine the supremacy of law. Why the people so often take the law into their own hands in Georgia may be judged from the statement of Mrs. Felton, who is evidently a leader in her state.

IRELAND

The Irish Free State has been averse to the slaughter of Irishmen from the beginning of the trouble and in pursuance of that spirit the provisional government has offered general amnesty to the republicans now held under arrest and those at large, provided they surrender their arms and agree not to make further war upon the government. The constitution is being framed in accordance with the treaty; and it will be submitted to the people when completed. The question will then be settled as to whether the people are willing to accept the Dominion form of government or battle on for a republic, which England refuses to grant. There is little doubt as to the choice of the vast majority of the people. They realize that the treaty is not a finality, as some insist, and that Ireland can withdraw from it whenever she sees fit.

BANK ISSUE OVER-SUBSCRIBED
More signs of the times, this time is Nashua.

The new issue of capital stock of a Nashua Trust company, recently authorized by the directors in the sum of $100,000, doubling the capitalization of the institution, has been over-subscribed by $37,500, according to a statement just issued by the bank's treasurer.

Other banks in all the live cities of New England are reporting exceptionally good business. The condition of this Nashua bank may be taken as an example of similar institutions this fall. Local banks have in their last reports shown indications of steady business revival with increased deposits. In the case of this bank up the river, the deposits with the trust company are reported to have doubled twice since 1904, when the total deposits were $800,173.73.

GOODWIN'S CHARGES

Mr. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles, made rather belligerent and serious charges against "the police and politicians" the other day. He accused unnamed men of "fixing" automobile violation cases, so that well-to-do law-breakers would not have to go to jail for punishment. Mr. Goodwin has since then been asked repeatedly to give the names of the men who "fix" these cases. He claimed to have knowledge of "the common and pernicious practice of fixing motor vehicle cases."

Mr. Goodwin can stop this abuse by pointing out instances where persons who are actually guilty escape the penalties of the law.

PLAN B PETITION

It appears that the Plan B petitions show false signatures. These in all probability were forged by certain opponents of the petition for the purpose of vitiating it and thus preventing it from going on the ballot. For this there was ample opportunity as the petitions were left in stores to receive signatures where anybody could sign any name desired without question. So far as appears, there was no difficulty in securing genuine signatures.

It would be just as well to liberate all the political prisoners who would not resume opposition to our form of government. When Eugene V. Debs is set free, the same privilege might with equal justice be granted to all others, even though they did oppose the draft.

Mayor Brown's postal card on Plan B in which he says failure to reply will be taken as proof that the recipient did not sign the petition, is about as logical as the plea of a man charged with drunkenness who produced a temperance pledge to prove that the charge was false.

Fire prevention should be carefully practiced every day in the year; but some are so forgetful in this respect that it is necessary to take a week or so to hammer it into their heads and even then they do not give it a serious thought.

Boston plans to have twenty-five nationalities in her Columbus day parade. We are not as big as Boston, but we could get out about forty different nationalities.

The Massachusetts League of Women Voters has endorsed the popular primary law which, with their assistance, may perhaps bring better results.

As appears now the real drunkards are the extra dry who have been going about preventing others from drinking.

Father's Comeback

Mabel and her young man had been sitting in the drawing room quite long enough, so father shouted out from the top of the stairs: "It's time for that young man to go home!" The young man was indignant, and turning to Mabel, said: "Your father is a nuisance." "Father overheard and answered: "Yes, but when you don't have a self-starter, a crank is very handy!"

It Amused Him

Little Teddie was full of questions. Approaching the aged man on the pier he said: "What time does the tide come in, Mr. Fisherman?" The aged man looked at him curiously. "I've told you several times already," said the young rascal, he said, "At 5.55." Then little Teddie explained, "Yes, I heard you the first time, but I like to see your whiskers wobble when you say 5.55." Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Willie Was Conspiring

Five-year-old William was standing in the kitchen with his eye upon a dish of cakes when his mother came in and found him. "What are you doing here William?" said she. "I was just thinking, mother," replied the youngster. "Thinking?" "Well, I hope you haven't touched those cakes!" "That's what I was thinking about," came the ready answer. "I was wondering whether they were good enough to be whipped for!"

Indian Summer

During the recent warm spell, there has been considerable debate on the subject. "Is this the Indian summer?" Webster defines Indian summer as "a period of warm or mild weather late in autumn or in early winter, usually characterized by a clear or cloudless sky and by a hazy or smoky appearance of the atmosphere, especially near the horizon." According to old Yankee interpretation of the phrase, we can have several Indian summers from mid-September to mid-December, and the glorious weather that ushered in October would be certainly included as Indian summerish.

Today's Word

Today's word is "mattoled." It's pronounced "mat-toled," with accent on the first syllable. It means—a person of abnormal mind from birth, bordering on insanity or degeneracy. It comes, probably, from the Italian "matto," meaning "mad," though also evidently related to the Latin "matius," meaning "drunk," plus the termination "old," from the Greek, meaning "like, resembling." It's used like the "moror" and the "mattoled" differ from one another in that the moror is an adult with a child's mind, while the line between the mattoled and the genius often is so doubtful that it puzzles alienists to decide on it.

He Told One All Right

Back in the days when men could read a good story in the bottom of a glass everywhere in the locality, a young fellow named "Hub" as a bartender, had a habit of Hub came driving down the country road one day doing his best to get his old gray mule hooked up into high. As he passed a field where two of his neighbors were plowing corn they tried to stop him. "Hub, stop and tell us a lie!" Hub replied: "Can't, boys. The old lady just fell and broke her leg, and I am going for a doctor." And, giving the mule the whip, he was on his way. The boys went to the house and hitched up to a buggy, got on two horses into folk, and ran two good horses into a sweat getting over to Hub's house. As they drove into the yard they found Mrs. Hub on the business side of a washboard. No one seemed able to say a word, but just stood and stared until Mrs. Hub at last asked them why they didn't get out of the buggy. They didn't make themselves comfortable here in the shade," said Mrs. Hub, "so that I can visit as I finish my wash; and by the time you men get your team away Hub should be back. He just went over to town for a jug of Becker." Judge.

In October

Bustling, leafy puddles fill low the spots in my path—
Day declines in splendor that was born in stormy wars—
Oreids, but with purple is the veil of distant mist—
Oreids mixed with purple and a thought of amethyst—
For, as the sun sets, with ophir gold where tulip poplars stand;
Fields of grain and pasture strew about a pleasant land.
Everywhere is hush and drowse, and everywhere is dream;
Here upon the alkali's crest and yonder by the stream—
Steek and haughty cattle browse the lushes where the wet
Left by daybreak's thunderstorm is clinging to them yet.
"Sh!" Summer's fast asleep.
Needs it, too, at the dawn you heard her wail and weep!

Hazel bough that undulates where children crowd and ask Acid-coated hazelnuts; that chipmunk's bulging cheek Shows them where the crop will be ere many days—
Tells them if they'd have their share they'd best be mighty spry! Hear their voices buzzing like the impatient zephyr—
Made by busy bumblebees about the pollen'd bloom!

Else, the world is silent; and we all are tippy-toe
Test poor slumbering summer should be wakened, we go
Fever-broken summer so in need of rest and sleep—
Moist with dew's of slumberland and breathing soft and slow
My life of heaven? I will tell it you, my dear!

Some place where October lasts throughout the blessed year—Strike! (Lillian in Farm Life.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

An old friend of The Sun, Mr. E. A. Gilson of East Pepperell, hurried down to the Tyngsboro grand fair Wednesday so as to be there early and in season to arrange his several exhibits so they would secure proper attention. Mr. Gilson brought along five squashes, but as the exhibit conditions call for six, he had to carry them almost manfully back to his automobile and stow them away there. Grampers say he might have won first prize in the squash exhibit if he had but remembered to bring along one more to fill the requirements.

Peanut raising is getting to be something more than a fad in this part of Middlesex county. At three different places in the vicinity of Lowell, all recently, home-grown peanuts were shown in baskets and on plates. All were of good size and practically perfect, and the flavor is said to have been excellent as well. There wouldn't be much harm in raising peanuts in this section, however, for a very highly nutritious food is required, and while some folks can get three quarts from one hill plant, it would require a good many acres of smooth, rich land to make any money at the peanut-planting game around Lowell.

That big pot of geraniums in the windows of the Middle street postal station hasn't been blooming recently, and passers-by are now placing miniature bets on the day when it will start flowering again. At present it is in the best of health, and the pot plant that can be found in any Lowell window. It is thick-leaved all over, of bright green and no "spots," but the buds don't seem to be getting busy. Perhaps its summer days are over, although some pedestrians will tell you that it is in the condition for winter blooming. We shall wait and see.

I am told that the extensions of the Lowell Electric Light Corp.'s service on Billerica avenue, from the Billerica-Tewksbury town line to the North street, will be made within a short time. The pole location petitions have been granted by the town authorities. One of the new lines will carry the current to operate the new mill now being constructed for the Tabbot Co.

I am told that federal prohibition officers are busy almost every week on the outskirts of Lowell, working in some of the nearby towns from tips sent out by irate citizens, who "see things" and sometimes report their suspicions to the proper authorities. The prohibition work is not very productive, but the work is not over yet. I am informed that moonshine is being made not far off the Pelham turnpike, but it may be simply town chatter of the village store variety. Anyhow, the federal officers are keeping in touch with the "goings on" in the places that they know of, and we may hear something "drop" one of these days.

One of the attractions of the Tyngsboro fair was a huge begonia—nothing like any begonia that I have seen before. It was a white one, some ten feet in circumference and eight feet in diameter. I did not think that begonia could be so large, and this was the property of Mrs. Fred H. Snow, one of the leading members of the annual fair management committee, was sent to the town hall to be admired by friends and visitors. It was really entitled to a prize for originality and freckleness. If nothing more, I understand it is really a rare plant and tender as well.

Miss Marion Forbes of the Middlesex County Canning club's division, who has been hustling about the state all the late summer and fall, attending conventions, inspecting children's canning exhibits and picking the prize winners, enjoyed her visit to the Tyngsboro fair immensely. She was pleased to see the large number of the displays sent in by Tyngsboro young people. Right after the war the work was extensive, but there has been a falling off in some clubs of late. However, Tyngsboro girls had nothing to be ashamed of in that excellent showing of canned goods of every description and color at the Wednesday and Thursday exhibitions.

Jesse Gill of Tyngsboro makes a little specialty of raising fine winter squashes in addition to other vegetables that are considered "good keepers." He was just looking over some handsome blue squashes that are worth looking at. They are called "Blue Blues," and they appear to weigh 20 or 25 pounds apiece. They are of excellent quality for pickmaking. I am told, although some squashes of the extra large variety are not in demand for that purpose.

Brother Darrah of the New England Hotel, agent of convention men, was invited to attend the fall meeting of the hotel men at Manchester, N.H., on Wednesday and Thursday. We couldn't go, of course, but we thank Mr. Darrah for the invitation. This gentleman is a great "boomer" of the summer resort regions, being a famous reader of street railway cards, books and similar reference works that have made his name familiar throughout New England, and, by the way, is not this the Mr. Darrah who was employed at one time as publicity agent by the Lowell, Lawrence & Haverhill street railways? He conducted more free trips and excursions than any other official of the company.

Considerable difficulty has been encountered by men of the street department who are engaged in putting in new sidewalks abutting the new high school by the presence of the huge roots of the elm trees that have grown there for many years. As the years rolled on the roots of these trees spread further and further and extended in all directions. Several of the trees had to be cut down and blasting was necessary to remove the massive blocks from which the roots branched out under the surrounding soil.

I have seen several people the past week in different parts of the city drenched with a shower of muddy water as the result of the throwing of electric switches on the street railway. It seems that street car sparklers had just passed leaving the switches flooded. As the cars came along the electric switch was thrown shifting the rail in the desired direction and each time a splash of water was thrown down on the street, causing a spluttering people on the sidewalk.

BUTTERFLY HOWS
Huge butterfly bows of taffeta, moire and velvet are used on frocks for young girls. Sometimes they have long shawls that reach to the hem of the frock.

MONOGRAMS
Monograms are a feature on sports blouses and dresses. They started small and comparatively inconspicuous but they have taken on such large proportions and are frequently made the whole decoration.

TEXTILE SENIORS ELECT OFFICERS

The 1922 class of Lowell Textile, the senior class that will be graduated next June, yesterday elected Everett V. Steele of Northbrook class president. Walter Wheaton of Worcester was chosen vice president, Newton G. Hinkle of Birmingham, Ala., secretary treasurer, and George P. Felndel of North Wilmington was elected as class representative to the athletic council. Mr. Steele, who is a very popular at the school, was president of the Junior class last year. He is connected with the Co-Operative society of the school, a member of athletic council, and is one of the students who operates the Textile school lunch. He is also a member of the Delta Kappa fraternity. Mr. Steele was a member of an Amateur Singing staff during the World war, and at the close of the war entered Textile school, where he took up a course in textile chemistry and dyeing. He has accepted a position as assistant instructor in the chemistry department and will continue this with his school work during his senior year.

Walter P. Wheaton is also an ex-navy man and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Wheaton of 5 Haden lane, Worcester. Upon his graduation from South Worcester high in 1917 he entered the navy and served two years as a seaman on a coast patrol vessel.

Upon his discharge he entered Textile school and took up the course of engineering. He will be graduated next June with the degree of bachelor of textile engineering. Last year he was a member of the secretary-treasurer of his class and has been a member of three musical comedy productions that were presented by the dramatic association. He is a member of the Phi Psi fraternity.

George P. Felndel of North Wilmington will receive his degree in textile engineering next year as he has accepted a position as assistant instructor in the chemistry department and will take up advanced work.

The senior class voted to hold an informal dance some time the last of this month, probably on the last Friday of the month. H. B. Hart, Alexander Campbell and David Anapolski were elected as a committee for this affair.

B. F. BUTLER RELIEF CORPS MEETING

The B. F. Butler Relief corps held a business meeting last night in Memorial hall, which was preceded by a supper served to the members at 6 o'clock. Two members were initiated and five new applications for membership received. Reports were made by the sick committee on those members confined to hospitals.

It was announced that on the third Wednesday in November a corps inspection will be conducted by Mrs. Buchanan of Andover. A donation was voted to the E. N. Stanton corps in Andover. On the first Wednesday of next month "Contrales Night" will be observed, for which an excellent program is being arranged.

A silk flag, gold chain and pencil were presented to Mrs. Lizzie Worthen, an old member of the corps, who is soon to move to New Hampshire. She was also presented with a purse of gold from Post 42, G.A.R.

BUILDING CODE COMMITTEE
The building code revision committee of the chamber of commerce met in the chamber rooms at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but owing to the fact that the sub-committees on construction and fire prevention could not file their reports as yet, it was decided that a final meeting be called by the chair when these reports are ready. It may take two weeks to clear up the remainder of the work.

THE MIRACLE

Out of a reeking tenement she trips,
Daintily and slim and delicately fair;
Her cheeks are rose, and rose-red are her lips,
She is a flower, grown in tainted air;
You can't believe she could have flourished there,
Where even moon-day sun is in eclipse,
Where grim reality the glamour strips
From all life's dreams and leaves them stark and bare.

Yet here she is, a flower lush and sweet,
That thrives, somehow, in rank and fetid soil;
Young maidenhood, with light and lifting feet,
And eyes which disillusion cannot spoil;
And—miracle, which few can understand—
There are a million like her in the land!

29th Day of West Pennsylvania Drought

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Western Pennsylvania drought entered its 24th day and authorities expressed alarm today as to the reserve water supply which was rapidly diminishing. Riger transportation has been practically paralyzed and farmers reported severe damage to crops. The weather bureau held no prospects for early rains.

Body of Woman Found Off Coast

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 5.—The identity of the woman whose body was found in the sea off Good Harbor beach yesterday, was still undetermined today. Medical Examiner P. P. Moore of Essex county, after deciding that the woman met death by drowning, turned the case over to the police, who began an inquiry.

Would Finger Print Every Person in U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The finger printing of every person in the United States, is recommended in a report by the executive committee of the New York state chamber of commerce for submission at a meeting today of the organization. The plan was suggested to make difficult "the evasion of clover and dangerous aliens sent here for the purpose of spreading discontent among the unassimilated portions of our population."

If you delay too long something may prevent your going. And then you will have to pay much more for your Congoleum. After Saturday prices will positively go up to their former level.

N.Y. GIANTS UPSET DOPE

Sensational Rally in Eighth Converted Apparent Defeat Into Victory

Yanks Out to Even the Score Today—Thrilling Plays in Yesterday's Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press).—Dope, like hells of milk, can be upset, as proved by McGraw in taking the first game of the world series from the Yanks, 3 to 2. Huggins, who leads the Americans, hopes to salvage some of the split opaque ball and has nominated Bob Shawkey for the leading office today.

Men called experts declared that the Americans with Bush, one of the most highly rated pitchers of the season, would be invincible. Sportsmen accepted that dope and bet on it. Bush was poked from the pitching mound by McGraw's pummeled and now the dope has been upset.

But McGraw's name has been heard and applauded during this world series. He is in form this year. He wears a red undershirt just like that worn by Mr. Bush. But McGraw's shirt is not like Bush's. McGraw has chosen Jess Barnes, the young Oklahoman who brought the Giants out of the depths of defeat in the championship games last fall, to work against Shawkey. Should Shawkey fail, Carl Mays of the underhanded delivery, probably will be called upon to relieve him, while "Deacon John" Scott was told to keep warm up ready for action in case Barnes needed relief.

Must Play Giants' Game

The Yanks, even with Shawkey at his best, will need to bring to bear some of their hitting ability in order to win today, said Huggins. "We know," he added, "that the Giants are fighters and that the only way to win is to wade in and play their game."

"A smooth, beautifully working machine is not team," said McGraw. "The machine will stop running if somebody hits it with a sledge hammer. We will have to pound them so hard they won't be able to overcome us."

The Yanks hit Neft yesterday for a certainty, but they didn't hit him hard enough. Bush got through seven innings, holding the Yanks to one run, but they didn't swing out their bats and they didn't swing. Four base hits went into the Giants' credit column, and the score was tied.

Walter Hagen, the red-sleeved pitcher on the mound, the winning run came then on Young's long sacrifice fly. "Whit," Neft, Hoyt fanned the next two batters.

Many "Tense Moments"

There has been a lot written about "tense moments" in baseball games, but there were more of those sort of moments in the two hours and eight minutes of yesterday's game than there are in a live at sunset.

Bullet Joe was in the worst sort of a fix several times. Henry Groh kicked one to the fence for three bases in the second, after two were out and was within a foot of scoring. When Aaron Ward speared a sharp drive off the bat of Frank Frisch.

In the seventh the Giants pranced on all the bases, but Young's long sacrifice fly, which was a tumbler dive, crashed the ball, turned a somersault, and tumbled to Frisch, doubling Neusel.

In the second, Bush, who was out, poked a slow swirler over short. Hancock raced back into Stengel's territory, and while at full speed, with his back to the diamond, caught the ball as it came over his shoulder.

Today the Yankees are home today, wearing their tidy light uniforms, and in the second, Bush, who was out, poked a slow swirler over short.

ROYAL COUPLE AT SERIES

To Compare Baseball With New London Sport Called "Beaver"

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Lord and Lady Mountbatten—her ladyship is one of England's prettiest and richest women and his lordship is King George's cousin—decided today to travel to the world series game and compare baseball with a new London sport called "beaver."

"Beaver," said Lord Mountbatten, "is a game. It is a street game anyone can play. You walk with a friend. If you spot a chap with a beard, you call out 'Beaver.' That counts 15 points. If it is a white beard, that is 'polar beaver' and counts 30. You score as in tennis. The winner makes the loser buy the drinks. And it is driving the beards right out of London."

And then he told of another game called "Decameron." That appears to be purely a man's game.

"You simply pick out the beauty spots on the girls' faces," explained Lord Mountbatten. "See one and it counts 15, get the girl to smile and it counts 30."

His lordship neglected to say what it counts if the girl speaks.

Peter Manning Makes Mile in 1.56 3/4—Nedda Sets New Record for Mares

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 5.—Smashing not only the track record of the local course, but also the world's record which he established at Columbus last week, when he trotted in 1:57, Peter Manning, driven by Tom Murphy, yesterday trotted to a new world's record of 1:56 3/4.

Almost as sensational was the performance of the bay mare Nedda, which started to beat her own record of 1:59 1/2 and trotted in 1:53 1/2, establishing a new world's record for trotting mares, beating the 1:53 1/2 of Lou Dillon, made at Memphis 19 years ago.

Accompanied by Same Hinner
Peter Manning and Nedda were both driven by John Benyon, second rider of the Murphy stable. Nedda being driven by Harry Fleming.

Peter Manning trotted the middle half of his mile in 57 1/2 seconds, the last three-quarters in 1:26 3/4, while Nedda trotted the middle half of her mile in 53 1/2 seconds. Both of the champions were given ovations and of their record-breaking performance.

The $2000 Cumberland stake for 2-year-olds was the feature of the program and this was won by Abbeduto, driven by Walter Cox, the little stallion piling the final heat in 2:01 1/4, a new stake record. In the auctions of the event, he sold for $300. The other entry Peter Henley and Charley Sweet, $140, Ess H. Pointer and Edna Early $100 each. Henry Direct $40 and the rest $5.

Henry Direct did the pacing in each heat, going to the half in 59 seconds in the final, but Abbeduto had all the speed in the last quarter, breezing in, looking to be able to pace in two minutes in the final heat.

Worthy Mary, the strong favorite, won the 2:11 trot easily, taking a record of 2:05 1/2, but Blaque, the favorite in the 2:19 trot, did not have equal success, being beaten by Alta Quest, after which the race was over.

The first heat, the latter breaking and being shut out in the second mile.

Blagen Wood, Jr. was a handy winner of the 2:10 pace, after losing the first heat by a break close to the wire.

LOWELL KENNEL CLUB'S OPENING SHOW

More than 100 puppies were benched for the Lowell Kennel club's opening show last evening in the exhibition hall on Middlesex street. About 300 dog fanciers attended, enjoyed the displays of "pups" of all breeds, and approved of most of the awards when the judges went the rounds.

"Bobby," a collie owned by the Whitney Kennels, won that class, and Stephen Wotton was awarded a prize for the best Boston terrier in the show.

FOOTBALL NOTES

There is a letter in The Sun sports department for the manager of the Indian football team. It is from H. J. Wholley of Boston.

The St. Patrick's Cadets would like to play any team in the city weighing less than 100 pounds and would like to play the St. Peter's Cadets on the North common Saturday morning at 9:30. Send challenge through the Evening Rock and Willie streets. The lineup is as follows: Marshall qb, Gerrell lb, O'Loughlin rb, Ryan lb, Harrington lb, D. Murphy c, Morris rt, Sexton lt, Subb, Carberry, Sullivan, Higgins, Lake.

All Samoset players are asked to report for practice at Oakland square to night at 8:30 o'clock.

Beware Triple Threat

KIPKE

BY BILLY EVANS
Players carrying the triple threat are the most desired candidates for the backfield in this football day and age. Michigan has in Harry Kipke, Herb Steger and George Dunaway, three such players for her 1922 backfield.

Injured in the Michigan-Ohio State game at the start of last season he did not play much, but this year he is working better than ever.

Kipke kicked a little last year. He averaged 55 yards on his punts. He has been hitting the ball for an average of 50 yards in preliminary practice this autumn.

Also, Kipke is forward passing better than he did in 1921 and he is running faster.

As a runner, Kipke is a hard man to tackle. He has an individual style, carrying the knees high, does barely touching the ground and can turn, dodge and reverse with remarkable speed, quickness and agility.

Michigan never before has had the wealth of backfield material that Yost possesses this season.

Michigan has for years needed a good player who can pass, kick and run. Kipke has all three. He is almost certain that two of them will be in the backfield in all games and their presence means that the Michigan attack this season will have versatility and deception that it never developed before.

ALL THE WAY FROM TEXAS

Man Goes to Cleveland to See Speaker Play in the World Series

CLEVELAND, Oct. 5.—If anything world while is going on in baseball, world series for instance, Tris Speaker, manager of the Cleveland Americans, ought to have something to do with it, in the opinion of Charles W. Harrison, an old man from southwest Texas, who came here yesterday to see Speaker play in the world series.

Harrison, not a dyed-in-the-wool and not a reader of sport pages, decided to go to the world series this year.

"Who is Speaker with now?" Harrison asked a Cleveland friend.

"He is with Cleveland," he was told.

So to Cleveland Harrison came yesterday.

"I told that it was being played in New York and that Speaker had no part in it," Harrison registered but not a word of protest.

"Well, if Speaker isn't going to play, it can't be much," he concluded.

And Mrs. Harrison, who came along with him, smiled at his quiet remark.

BRITTON MAY MEET WINNER OF BOUT

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Matchmaker Joe Gould of the Arena A. C. stands ready to guarantee Jack Britton $25,000 in cash with the winner of Monday night's bout between Eddie Shelvin and Dave Shade. In addition the club will allow Britton a reasonable percentage of the gross receipts of the bout.

Britton has already expressed a willingness to clash with the winner of the bout and he is now waiting for the chance of showing whether or not he means it.

Shelvin is at present on the short end of the stick. He has been beaten by four hits in as many trips to the plate, and he started also in a brilliant double play by pulling down a line drive and doubling a man off first.

The Nationals jumped into the lead in the first inning when a walk, a hit and a sacrifice hit put Johnson on first.

Percy Jones, who pitched great ball against the White Sox last fall, registered a record day at bat, was hammered hard by the Nationals.

Faber cased up with his comfortable lead and the Cubs registered their first run on a triple by Clats and Fletcher's single.

WHITE SOX WIN FIRST IN CITY SERIES

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Eddie Mulligan's heavy hitting put the American league representatives out in front of their National league rivals in the first game to decide the city championship. The White Sox winning 6 to 2. It was the 30th consecutive victory for the American league over their rivals.

Mulligan had a perfect day at bat with four hits in as many trips to the plate, and he started also in a brilliant double play by pulling down a line drive and doubling a man off first.

The Nationals jumped into the lead in the first inning when a walk, a hit and a sacrifice hit put Johnson on first.

He Weighs 210 Pounds— Bound to Make an Impression

PETCOFF

Petcoff, a junior at Ohio State, is falling heir to the job left by the graduation of "Bob" Spiers, right tackle and all-western selection. Petcoff is a product of White High, Toledo. He scales 210 pounds. There is a remarkable resemblance not only in build and facial expression between Pixley, State's captain, and Petcoff, but in agility as well. Both are surprisingly quick for big men. The camera illustrated this when it caught Petcoff sailing through the air, throwing all his weight on a tiny football.

Womenfolk Pulling for Stengel

STENGEL AND HIS MOTHER

BY DUDLEY SIDDALL
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Two women are helping Charles Stengel to stage his notable comeback as a big league ball player.

They are his mother, Mrs. Louise Stengel, and his sister, Miss Louise.

Stengel led the Giants this year in batting and was among the five best hitters in the National league.

Mother and sister have been in the grandstand at the Polo Grounds regularly this summer. Their inspiration and their home-grown meals have had a lot to do with Stengel's 1922 record.

He's a Home Boy

"Charles is a home boy," said Mrs. Stengel, "and I guess he likes to have us around."

There's no guessing about it. Stengel's affectionate smile, whenever he looks at his mother, proves conclusively that he likes to have them around. He has provided them with a beautiful apartment overlooking the Hudson river and is seeing to it that they have full opportunity to enjoy the attractions of New York while they are here for the summer.

WORLD SERIES AT CRESCENT RINK

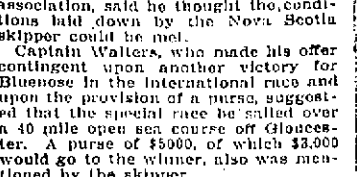

A large crowd of baseball fans went to the Crescent rink yesterday afternoon to see the opening game of the world series as reproduced by the big electric score board. When the terms of the rival Yankees and Giants teams were announced the supporters of each outfit expressed their approval in an uncertain manner. Then all flashed the plays almost in unison with actual execution. The board is a marvel and all who see it declare that it is the best thing since the invention of the telephone.

HIGH AND TEXTILE FOOTBALL PRACTICE

Yesterday afternoon on the Textile campus the football teams, representing Lowell high and Textile schools, went through a strenuous practice game in preparation for their coming games this week-end.

Although disregarding downs, the game produced close opposition and gave the men a work-out which should prove of advantage later on. For a while the operators of the board, who are admitted free except on Saturday and holidays.

BLUENOSE WOULD MEET THE MAYFLOWER

BLUENOSE

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—The offer of Capt. Angus Walters, skipper of the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose to meet the Boston schooner Mayflower in a special race after the forthcoming International fishing vessel contest was under consideration today by the owners of the Boston vessel. Fred L. Pigeon, managing director of the Mayflower association, said he thought the conditions laid down by the Nova Scotia skipper could be met.

RIGID ENFORCEMENT OF FISH AND GAME LAWS

Stringent and impartial fish and game law enforcement in and about Middlesex county and the vicinity of Lowell in the October season for 1922 will be the slogan of the Lowell Fish and Game association. A Tuesday night's meeting of the Lowell Fish and Game association steps were taken to secure the enforcement of game laws in the city limits.

The open season on pheasants and partridges comes on Friday, Oct. 20, and will close at sunset on Monday, Nov. 26. On each day of the season, shot and possession of the limit being two in any one day and six during the season. On partridges, the limit is three in any one day.

Shooting within the city limits is strictly forbidden, and game wardens and police officers have been requested to enforce this in the strictly.

A large number of unpaid game wardens have been appointed by William C. Adams, director of the state fish and game department, to enforce the laws of the local club that all of the fish and game laws shall be enforced stringently. Their headquarters are at the Lowell association. It is the desire of the local club that all of the fish and game laws shall be enforced stringently. Billy Evans says

Why is Walter Hagen the most colorful player in golf?
One only has to read the account of his recent match with the Mitchell, English golf star, to understand.

In American circles Hagen always has been known as the greatest money player in the game.

His record has demonstrated on many occasions, has earned him that honor.

In his first meeting with Mitchell, a half a dozen matches having been scheduled, Hagen gave one of the most remarkable exhibitions of golf ever seen on any course.

To suggest that Walter Hagen could spot Mitchell four up in a nine-hole match and then win the match, is not to play an individual would have been judged insane immediately.

That is just the trick Hagen turned in a 36-hole match with Mitchell. He was to play an individual match at the end of the 18 holes he was two up. At the end of the 27 holes Mitchell had overcome the advantage and was four up.

With nine holes to play and Mitchell four up, Hagen's task seemed impossible to everyone except Hagen. He proceeded to play marvelous golf, winning six and halving two holes, ending the match on the 35th hole, two up and four to nil.

FOOTBALL PRACTICE AT ST. JOHN'S PREP.

Class football practice began Monday at St. John's Prep. In preparation for the first game, Oct. 10, which will be played between the juniors and sophomores.

The seniors have held the championship for two years but it is expected that the juniors are displaying wonderful headwork. Their plays are snappy and in general the whole team is on its feet at every moment. This is indicated by the seniors who lack the punch that is necessary to win.

The freshmen and sophomores do not look very promising this year but will be able to furnish some good scrimmages to the seniors.

"JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES"

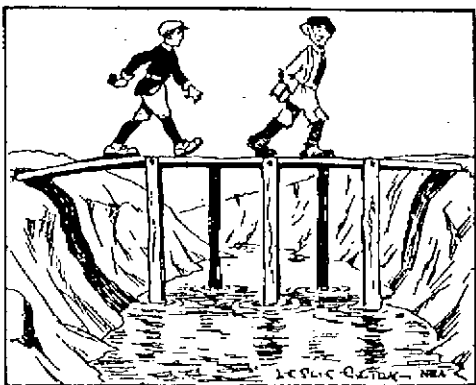

Jack Daw, adventurer, halted at a farm house to get a bite to eat. The kind farmer's wife sold him some sandwiches and then he hopped on his horse's back and started down the road.

A short distance away he jumped to the ground again and turned his horse, Lightning, loose to eat in the fields. In the meantime Jack noticed a boy coming toward him.

As a ragged-looking youth walked up, Jack said "Hello, stranger." The youth shook hands and replied "Hello, Willie," and then he invited Jack down the road to meet another boy.

"My name is Bill Dugan and my buddy's name is Stony McGlynn," said the youth as he led Jack across a bridge. "Maybe Stony will let you join our gang." Continued.

If Leatrice Joy Doesn't Win, She'll Be a Good Loser

HOW WAS SCOTTY, THE ARTIST, ABLE TO CATCH LEATRICE JOY IN SO SERIOUS A MOOD? SHE DOESN'T STAY SERIOUS MORE THAN A MINUTE AT A TIME.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Dropped in to say "hello" to Leatrice Joy the other day and to tell her I liked her work in "Manslaughter."
There, on a stand in a battered silver frame, on paper yellowed with age, was this little prayer: "O God, help me to win, but, if in Thy inscrutable wisdom Thou wilt me not to win, then, O God, make me a good loser!"
She has read that little placard every day for the past five years, she told me. It helps her over the rough places.
"Once I had just finished my part in a small comedy when I received word that a certain director wanted to see me," she said. "I hurried out to his studio only to find that ten minutes before I arrived he had given a 'big role' in a feature picture to another girl."
"That was just about the biggest disappointment I had had. I was crying when I got back to my room, but when I read that little prayer I quit crying. I knew another chance would come some day."

The chance evidently came, for Leatrice recently refused the feature role in a big production because she felt that it wasn't appropriate for her. Now she has started in the picture of "Java Head."

Leatrice Joy, following her present course, is headed straight and surely for the stardom of the screen. She has beauty, intelligence, and more important a sense of humor.

Her work she takes seriously, her success lightly. If mention is made of good work she has done in a film, she is very likely to dismiss it with some frivolous remark such as "Gee, ain't it great to be famous?"

After saying good-by to Leatrice and her mother, I stopped at the studio of Arthur Zinkin and Seymour Stone, the portrait painter. Zinkin has been working for more than a year on details for the production of the production of a series of two-reel films which will furnish biographical romances of the great musicians. The films are to be accompanied with musical scores arranged from the works of the respective composers.

He is ready to start immediately with the production of the film dealing with Beethoven. Thus when he pictures the memorable story of the origin of the "Moonlight Sonata," musicians of the theatre will play that composition.

Stone, who has painted the portraits of European royalty and many prominent Americans will work the scenic effects of the films. The musical scores will be arranged by Clarence Adler, pianist.

"I believe this series of films will do much for the musical education of the masses," Zinkin told me. "Many who go to picture shows would not go to hear a program of classical music. There is enough drama in the lives of the great musicians to make the film stories interesting without musical accompaniment."

"When more people come to know the romance in back of some compositions the interest in good music will be stimulated. Hearing these compositions at the same time that the story of the composer is told on the screen will familiarize the audience with the music of the respective composers."

Following the screening of the life of Beethoven, Zinkin will film stories dealing with Haydn, Mozart, Schubert, Chopin and others.

Zinkin probably will find a big welcome for his films, as he should if they are adequately produced. The screen appeal of a program of classical music, there is enough drama in the lives of the great musicians to make the film stories interesting without musical accompaniment.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

ing intelligence or the desire to expand his knowledge.

The film stories promise to be more comprehensive than the "Great American Authors" and "Great American Statesmen" series and the film dramas based on famous paintings, all of which provided worthwhile entertainment.

FALLING OFF IN NAVY ENLISTMENTS

The balmy weather of the past few days has caused a noticeable lull in enlistments at the local navy recruiting station, not one recruit having been signed up in the last three or four days. The officers in charge attribute the lull to the weather and feel that a little cold spell will entice many boys to get into the sea service. Many applicants have been deemed to be disappointed because of the lack of the necessary weight. None must be at least 4 inches in height and tip the scale at not less than 115 pounds. The required ages are from 18 to 30.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By the Theatres' Own Press Agents.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Al and Fanny Steadman in "Pianopapers," and the Beaumont Sisters in "A Musical Reminiscence" will be the headline at the theatre this week. In a show which holds many especially good features, and which, all the way through, is of headline quality. Joseph K. Watson, in "A Disarrangement of Facts," is surely a different kind of monologist, while Lewis & Norton have a snappy little skit in four parts which shows the American habit of seeking new pleasures. Then there are Olga and Alan Parado in their high class comedy act, which combines vocal work with piano music. The dancing of a Philadel trio is one of the week's best features. Viola Victor, the little dancer, is one of the best Lowell has ever seen. Ross & Ross in their introductory musical turn are pleasing.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"Manslaughter," the noted Cecil B. DeMille production, continues to play to capacity houses at the Merrimack Square theatre. Rarely has a photograph aroused so much genuine interest and comment as this latest feature given to the public by the acknowledged master producer of the screen. With Thomas Meighan, Leatrice Joy and Lola Wilson in the leading roles and a most capable supporting cast assisting them, the personnel of the production is all that could be desired. The story of a young woman of modern times, crazed with a man's speed, in most dramatic and affords the producer plenty of opportunities for sensational action and elaborate settings. "Manslaughter" will remain at the Merrimack Square theatre the rest of the week. The usual scale of admission prices is in effect.

RIALTO THEATRE
Today is the last showing of the mid-week booking of the Rialto theatre. The feature of the show introduced by the Rialto is "Beauty's Worth," also a great northwestern story, entitled "The Man Hunter," Reginald Denny, in "Seeing Red," a thrilling episode of "The Perils of the Yukon," and a Christie comedy, "Danger." There is variety enough for a great entertainment.

"BROADWAY ROSE" COMING
The Merrimack Square theatre management announces the presentation of "Broadway Rose," a romance of New York life with fascinating Mae Murray in the leading role for an indefinite engagement beginning next Sunday afternoon. There will be no change in the usual Merrimack Square schedule of admission prices. The producers of "Broadway Rose" have not been content to rest on the laurels of previous productions. In the gorgeousness of the costumes and the absorbing interest in the life which it depicts, "Broadway Rose" is unsurpassed.

THE STRAND
William Farnum in a story of the foothills, called "Moonshine Valley," opens up a new type of entertainment at the Strand, beginning with matinee today. It's a story that provides for a number of thrills, good romance, and characterful bits that hold you fast. The story is that of a man whose wife elopes with a doctor. A child is born to them. Later on she becomes lost and is found by Farnum, who takes her home. Then a thoroughly bad man is reformed by the little one and becomes a model citizen.

Shirley Mason, as charming as ever, is to be seen in a new picture, entitled "Truly Yours." Do you believe in long or short engagements? If you want to have the most important question thrashed out and definitely settled, then don't miss this picture treat. The usual, steady and weekly help to make the bill great.

Election Commissioners Removed By Mayor Who Appoints Crowley,
Garrity, Cloutre and O'Dowd

Mayor George H. Brown this afternoon removed the board of election commissioners—Messrs. Hugh J. McOsker, J. Omer Allard, Joseph H. Maguire and Thomas H. Braden—giving as his reason that they have certified to a Plan B charter petition for the city of Lowell that the mayor alleges is fraudulent.

He has appointed as a new board Stephen C. Garrity, commander of the American Legion Post, 87, to succeed Mr. Braden; Joseph A. Cloutre, his private secretary, to succeed Mr. Allard; Paul M. O'Dowd, watchman at the Memorial Auditorium, to succeed Mr. Maguire and John A. Crowley, attorney, to succeed Hugh C. McOsker, chairman.

Notice of removal was carried to the legal residence of the four members of the commission by special messenger, and the fact of their removal will be made known to the city council at its meeting tonight.

The announcement of removal came shortly after 1 o'clock when the board, called together in special session, refused to recognize Joseph A. Cloutre, mayor's secretary, as a temporary member of the board, appointed by the mayor to serve in the place of J. Omer Allard, who is out of the city on a vacation.

Mr. Cloutre had gone into the meeting, carrying a letter prepared by the city solicitor, which if passed by the board, would request the secretary of state to withhold action on the certification of names signed to the Plan B charter petition and reported to him on Sept. 25, meaning that the secretary would take no action to place the question on the state election ballot.

It was to be noted further that the board is engaged in an examination of evidence that certain signatures certified are not genuine signatures of qualified voters, and further that the secretary be informed that the board will notify him of the result of a re-examination at the earliest possible moment.

The votes were not even submitted for consideration because the three permanent board members refused to serve with the mayor's temporary appointee.

The mayor's letter to the board also was not read. This reviewed the charter petition question at some length and called upon the board to take some action without delay.

The mayor stated he appointed Mr. Cloutre under authority given him in Part II of Section 43 of the charter, which, in part, reads as follows: "Should the administrative head of a department, or member of a board or commission be temporarily unable for any cause to perform his duties, the mayor may designate, without confirmation by the city council, a temporary appointee until such official shall resume his duties."

The mayor maintained that an emergency existed in the present instance and that inasmuch as Mr. Allard was not in the city, he had the right to temporarily appoint anyone he cared to designate.

Early this forenoon Hugh J. McOsker, chairman of the election commission, was in lengthy conference with the mayor and city solicitor Flannery. Shortly after 12 o'clock the conference ended and it was announced that a special meeting of the board would be called for the purpose of acting upon one or two votes that had been prepared by the solicitor.

Then followed Mr. Cloutre's temporary appointment. He qualified before City Clerk Stephen Flynn and at about 1 o'clock went down to the election commission's office and there met Messrs. McOsker, Braden and Maguire. He carried into the meeting a letter from the mayor, addressed to the board, notice of his appointment as secretary of the board, pro tem, and a copy of votes the mayor wished the board to pass.

Hardly 60 seconds elapsed when the board came out of the inner office and announced adjournment had been taken until tomorrow evening. The commission while a fire was attributed by police to a third still. The other injured were victims of a fire and explosion in a cleaning plant.

No action was taken on the votes carried by Mr. Cloutre, who returned to the mayor's office, where it was given out that removal of the entire board would follow at once.

Up until noon today the mayor has received approximately 550 return post cards sent out Tuesday and yesterday, asking whether or not signatures of persons whose names appeared on the charter petition had been personally signed by them. Of this number of replies, 337 attested they did not sign the petition.

In addition to these cards, the mayor has 175 sworn affidavits from persons who say they did not sign the petition, although their names appear on it. The work of obtaining affidavits still is being vigorously pushed by police officers and notaries public, and it was the mayor's belief that 300 of these sworn statements would be at hand before tonight.

Additional letters were despatched by special delivery today to the secretary of state and attorney-general, enclosing copies of the letter sent to election commissioners.

TWO KILLED IN

Two Persons Killed and 20 Other Persons, Most of Them Firemen, Injured

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Moonshine operations which had a part in the epidemic of explosions and fires yesterday, when two men were killed in a still explosion and nearly 20 other persons, most of them firemen, were injured, continued today to occupy the police and firemen. A moonshine still exploded in a building on the northwest side and set fire to a building in which two other stills were found. All the tenants of the three-story building had fled when the police and firemen arrived. The two men killed yesterday were victims of a still explosion. Another man was injured in a similar explosion while a fire was attributed by police to a third still. The other injured were victims of a fire and explosion in a cleaning plant.

HAD $40,000 DAY
HE WAS SLAIN

Authorities Find Dr. Hall Had $40,000 in Securities in Safe Deposit Box

Could Have Been Changed Into Cash in Ten Minutes in Any Broker's Office

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 5.—Authorities who are seeking to unravel the mystery surrounding the murders of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, choir singer in his church, learned today that the minister had $40,000 in securities in a safe deposit box on the day he died. These securities, it was learned, could have been changed into cash in ten minutes in any broker's office either here or in New York.

When the vault was first opened, mention was made of $10,000, an inheritance from the minister's mother-in-law, and a $1000 insurance policy payable to Hall's own mother. But nothing else was reported.

It was then stated by officials of the county that stories of a proposed elopement with Mrs. Mills were ridiculous because Hall had no funds with which to make the trip.

The body of the slain minister was taken from Greenwood cemetery in Brooklyn to Kings county morgue today for an autopsy and officials hoped to find evidence bearing on the jealousy theory.

POLO GROUNDS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press) Robert Shawkey, curve ball finger extraordinaire of the New York Yankees, faced the Giants this afternoon in the second bout of the world's series tournament. The National Leaguers having won the initial test, Manager Huggins sent Shawkey to the mound to battle the Giants with mystifying books and fast ball. Jess Barnes stood ready to take up the Giants' burden in the box.

The Giants, coming to the field this afternoon as the visitor club, believe they have the series as good as won.

Frisch Expresses Confidence
"We have the Indian sign on the Yankees," said Frank Frisch, the Giants' middle sacker, "and I think the Yanks are beginning to think so. They

WATCH ONE FAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The bleacher "crowd" gathered early at the Polo Grounds for the second game of the world series. It consisted of one man, Raymond Degeer, of Stamford, Conn. He arrived at midnight and passed the night alone outside the gates. About 5 o'clock he had company. Eight big patrolmen arrived and with customary vigor, saw to it that the "line" kept strict order.

As the sun came up Degeer held his place and rested as best he could while the eight policemen watched him to see that he did not get nary.

have never won a series from the Giants. You know psychology plays an important part in the old game."

The Yankees threw off the gloom this afternoon of their first defeat and hoped to emerge from the building slump that has gripped them since the beginning of the last five games of the American League season.

Ruth is Optimistic
"Old man psychology is not playing in this series," said Babe Ruth, talking in the clubhouse about Indian signs. "When I see him pinch hitting for me or out there sending them past the batter, I'll give him a tumble. Anyhow, his name is not in the list of eligible players."

Huggins brought his players on the field early and put them through a long batting practice.

Some thirty odd thousand folk came out to see the sport but the early rain for the unreserved sections was missing.

The reserve stands, sold out to capacity for the series did not fill up until the players took their fielding workout. October had resuscitated a day from July's hot wave and another sultry afternoon gave the pitchers an incentive to turn on their speed.

Atrock and Pal On Hand
Nick Atrock and Al Schacht, buffoons of baseball, came out to amuse the early comers with their antics, while a brass band whirled away the minutes that dragged until Babe Ruth and company, garbed in home uniforms of white, broke into the picture through the wooden gate that leads from the clubhouse to the playing field.

The Batteries for today's game were: J. Barnes and Snyder for the Giants; Shawkey and Schang for the Yankees.

First Inning
Giants: Ward tossed out Bancroft, going far to his left to get a mean bouncer. Groh slugged over second his fourth hit in the series. Frisch got a Texas Leaguer into left field. Groh Scott could not quite reach. Groh went to second. Meusel hit a home run into the left field stand scoring Groh and Frisch ahead of him. Young fled out to Witt. Kelly fouled out to Schang. Three runs, three hits, no errors.

Yankees—Witt bunted, but the ball rolled foul. Groh made a nice play on Witt's roller and got him at first. Bancroft took Dugan's grounder and threw to the grandstand. Dugan going to second. Ruth went out to first. Kelly assisted, Dugan going to third. Dugan scored when Pipp got a single off Kelly's glove. Meusel fled out to Young. One run, one hit, one error.

Second Inning
Giants: Stengel beat out an infield hit. Snyder hit over Pipp's head. Stengel went to second. Stengel hurt his leg going to second and Cunningham ran for him. Barnes hit into a double play. Scott to Ward to Pipp. Cunningham going to third. Bancroft fled out to Ruth, who took the ball near the right field stand. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Yankees: Cunningham went into center field for Giants. Frisch tossed out Schang, who hit at a slow curve. Groh got Ward at first. Frisch robbed Scott of a hit by making a diving catch of his grounder and getting his man at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning
Giants—Groh walked. Frisch lined out to Ruth. Meusel fled to first. The Giants were trying the hit and run play. Young walked. Kelly churned the air for the third out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees: Groh threw out Shawkey. Witt fouled to Groh. Dugan got a two-base hit to left. Barnes was pinching nothing but slow ones to Ruth. Ruth walked. Barnes threw out Pipp at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning
Giants: Cunningham struck out.

Snyder fouled out to Dugan. The crowd boned Barnes when he came to bat because he had passed Ruth. Barnes struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankees—Meusel fouled out to Snyder. Schang struck out. Snyder dropping the third strike and throwing him out at first. Ward got a home run over the left field fence. Frisch went into center field for Scott's Texas leaguer, robbing the Yanks shortstop of a hit for the second time in the game. One run, one hit, no errors.

Fifth Inning
Giants: Bancroft lined to Pipp. Scott threw out Groh at first. Frisch beat out a bunt. Meusel got a blow into the grandstand that was foul by inches. Shawkey made a wild pitch, and Frisch went to second. Scott threw out Meusel at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Yankees: Shawkey fled out to Cunningham. Barnes took Witt's hopper and tossed him out. Dugan got a single to left. Frisch threw out Ruth at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning
Giants—Young beat out a slow roller to Scott. Kelly forced Young. Shawkey to Ward. Cunningham fled to Ruth. Snyder fled out to Ruth. No runs, one hit, no errors.

LOCAL ANTHRACITE COAL SITUATION
IS SOMEWHAT SERIOUS

Lowell Emergency Fuel Distributor Furnishes Interesting Figures—Supply Allowed Lowell by Pennsylvania Commission Away Below Normal—Sun Representative Interviews Local Dealers

Lowell coal merchants, large and small, are practically a unit in declaring that the present meager shipments of anthracite to Lowell and vicinity indicate a continuance of the serious shortage of this necessary fuel for many months to come.

Backing up statements of local dealers today, Albert D. Milliken, local emergency fuel distributor, in a communication to The Sun, announced that the supply of anthracite coal that has been allotted to Lowell by the Pennsylvania commission, to be shipped from Sept. 1, 1922, to March 31, 1923, is but 48,549 gross tons.

Continuing, Mr. Milliken said: "It is plain to see that Lowell will be very short of anthracite coal this winter, for the normal amount of coal sent here is 51,415 tons."

Mr. Milliken's letter to The Sun in full reads as follows:
Editor Lowell Sun:
"Dear Sir:
"I wish to lay before you some interesting figures in regard to a possible anthracite fuel supply for the city of Lowell. These figures were sent to me by James J. Phelan, Massachusetts emergency fuel administrator and came to him from the Pennsylvania fuel commission, and I trust you will give them all the publicity you possibly can.

Catching Cold is
Not An Accident

The Penalty for Neglect of Health Rules

Take Father John's Medicine

When you catch cold you are inclined to think that it was accidental, that you sat in a draft or that you caught it from someone else. This is only half the truth. The real fact is that a cold is the penalty for neglect of the common rules of health. You have allowed yourself to become tired, weakened and run down. You have allowed your power of resistance to be lowered. The cold germ which is always lurking nearby finds you an easy victim.

You can maintain your power of resistance to colds, coughs and similar trouble by taking Father John's Medicine which builds new strength and health. If you have already allowed yourself to take cold, begin treating it at once with Father John's Medicine. It will not only drive off the cold but it will build up new strength with which to fight off future attacks.—Adv.

SEIZE MOONSHINE PLANT

Large Squad of Officers Make Raids in Dummer Street Section

Following up big raids made earlier in the week the liquor squad, augmented by Sergt. Dwyer and Kennedy of the criminal department, swooped down on a Dummer street house this morning and landed on a big moonshine plant.

There were no thrills nor frills to the raid. It was simply a straightforward rush up to the fourth floor of a tenement house where the still, minus its operator, was found in operation. Although no arrest has yet been made in connection with the raid the officers expect to pick up some one before the day is out.

Headed by Capt. George Palmer and Sergt. Michael Winn of the liquor squad, and Sergt. Dwyer and Kennedy, Officers Aldrich, Kilroy, Noye and Dwyer started out for a cleanup in the Dummer street district. Three other places were visited in a neighboring alley before the "find" was made in the tenement block.

The still was said to be a 100 gallon affair and particularly well equipped to carry on the manufacture of illicit goods in the still at the time were about 50 gallons of spirits undistilled, while five gallons of the finished product were found. Hundreds of sugar bags were found on the property, according to the officers, in addition to a large quantity of mash.

An expensive gun stove was one of the things confiscated by the officers. A pipe was run through two partitions to the stove which was set in sort of a niche. A double water pipe was connected with the water faucet and the condenser to the still.

The police said that they had no trouble in getting into the tenement and that all they had to do was to simply walk in and capture the plant. According to members of the raiding squad the plant was one of the best they have seen for many months.

NICE LITTLE BUNDLE COMING TO HARRY

Harry Doherty, superintendent of streets, has not received a cent of salary since his reinstatement by the board of public service three months ago. Mayor George H. Brown has now held up his monthly pay for the third time, amounting to $216.68. The mayor contends that he was not legally reinstated. There is now due, Supt. Doherty $612.58.

The monthly city salary payroll, paid this week, amounted to $22,669.96. The weekly payroll, approved by the budget and audit commission yesterday afternoon, totaled $14,295.52.

EXAM FOR MIDSHIPMEN

Congressman Rogers Announces Examination to Be Held at City Hall

Congressman John Jacob Rogers announced today that an unofficial competitive examination will be held at city hall on Oct. 25 at 9 a. m. for the purpose of designating two midshipmen from the fifth congressional district of Massachusetts for the United States Naval academy at Annapolis. Those desiring to take the unofficial examination will be admitted to the exam on the basis of their names and addresses to Mr. Rogers as soon as possible, and in no event later than Oct. 20, so that he can forward them cards of authorization to take the examination.

This examination is unofficial, and those who are to be designated as principals and alternates, according to the results of this test, will later take the official examination which will be held in Lowell on Feb. 7, 1923. This preliminary test will be of substantially the same degree of difficulty as the official one for admission to the academy. It will consist of algebra, plane geometry, grammar, composition and literature, ancient history, history of the United States, one foreign language and science.

The first eight in rank at the mental examination of Oct. 23 will be examined by an official United States medical examiner on a date to be set later but subsequent to Oct. 26. This physical test will be almost as rigorous as the official one and if all right pass they shall be designated in the order of mental rank. If one or more fail, the others will be designated in order of rank, so that the next in mental rank will be examined until the congressman shall be able to designate those as principals and alternates who shall be the eight highest in the mental examination and who are able to pass the physical test.

Applicants for this examination must be citizens of the United States, and bona fide residents of the fifth congressional district, and must have reached their sixteenth, but must not have passed their twentieth birthday, on April 1, 1923.

VERY SUCCESSFUL FALL FASHION REVUE

A most successful Fall Fashion Revue was presented last evening before a large audience on the second floor of The Chalfoux store. All merchandise was removed and the floor was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage, potted plants and cut flowers. The models appeared on an elevated runway which extended the entire length of the second floor.

The following Chalfoux girls displayed the newest fashions in women's apparel, shoes, hosiery, neckwear, gloves, leather goods and accessories: Miss Nora McNamara, Miss Josephine Gaudier, Miss Gertrude Gaudier, Miss Emma Suprenant, Miss Mary Kilroy, Miss Jeannette Cohen, Miss Cella Dawes, Mrs. Helen Felch, Miss Mary Curran and Miss Mildred Harrington and Catherine McCann, the two latter acting as escorts.

The children who displayed merchandise from the Little Grey Shop and the Boys' shop were Master Clarence Cole and Louis Labelle and the Misses

Annette and Helen Rocheleau, Margaret Eastwood, and Catherine O'Neill. The men who displayed the newest styles in men's wear were Mr. Louis Oppenheim, John Neary, Charles Sherr, William Clark and Arthur Cormier.

The success of the show was made possible through the efforts of Mr. Louis Rocheleau, who had general charge of the show and the earnest co-operation of the following department heads: Mr. Stanley Forbes of the Curtin Shop, Mr. Ralph Cathcart of the Atherton Furniture company, Mr. George Goldsmith of the shoe department, and Mr. Samuel Soforenko of the Street Floor Shoes and Mr. Abe Segal of the Men's and Boys' Shop. Miss Aldenor Legare of the Millinery Department, Mrs. Gertrude Eastwood of the Beauty Shop and Mr. Alvah Johnson of the display department also assisted.

Ginseng grown in Korea is considered of the most value.

SMALL THINGS CAUSE DESTRUCTIVE FIRES

On Oct. 9, 51 years ago, Mrs. O'Leary of Chicago carelessly left a lighted lantern in the barn. Her cow kicked it over, setting fire to the barn and starting a conflagration which swept the city.

The Chicago fire of 1871 caused a greater loss than had any previous fire in the history of the United States. It has only been surpassed since then by the San Francisco fire of 1906. Two hundred persons lost their lives in the Chicago fire and 70,000 (about one person in every five of the population) were rendered homeless. The flames raged over 2000 acres, destroying more than 17,000 buildings and entailing a property loss of approximately one-third of the city's entire value, or about $190,000,000.

The loss in this great fire was appalling, but the country suffers a greater fire loss every year at the present time. It is estimated that last year the lives of more than 15,000 persons were lost and property valued at approximately one-half a billion dollars was destroyed by fires, many of them preventable.

To reduce this tremendous annual destruction it was decided 11 years ago to set aside a day to be known as National Fire Prevention day. Oct. 9, the anniversary of the starting of the Chicago conflagration, seemed to be a suitable date, and by proclamation of the president of the United States, state governors and mayors of cities, it has been observed for that purpose.

One day is such a limited time to give to the subject that a period of seven days ending Oct. 9, has recently been set aside as Fire Prevention week. Governmental, state and city officials recognize the need and have lent their assistance to make the fire prevention movement successful. Chambers of commerce throughout the country, at the request of the chamber of commerce of the United States, are taking a leading part in conducting special activities designed to acquaint every man, woman and child with the necessity of personal care for the prevention of fires.

STORM CENTER IN ANGLO-TURKISH CONFLICT

Near this straggling Oriental city of Chanak in the neutral zone of the straits, British and Turkish troops firmly entrenched are facing each other. The Turks now have taken up positions completely surrounding the British. Firing of a single shot probably would excite a conflict embracing two continents.

Delays Decision on Stillman Case

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Decision on the referee's report denying a divorce to James A. Stillman, was withheld again today, by Supreme Court Justice Morchauer who declared he has not had time to read the report. He said he spent most of last night on it and planned to give most of today to reading it. Judge Morchauer did not say when the decision would be delivered.

Six or Sixty

If you are troubled with itching scalp, eczema on face, under arms or fingers, or rough, red skin, it makes no difference whether you are six or sixty years of age. Dr. Hilton's Camphor-Sulphur Ointment will bring immediate relief. It will stop the itching over night, and leave the skin clear and smooth.

There is no preparation like camphor and sulphur for healing the skin.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Conquered or Money Back

For 40 years, said Dr. Carey, I have been prescribing my prescription No. 777 (known for years as Marshroot) for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health. Watch the symptoms. If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffy eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sideache, you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 right away.

NOTE—Dr. Daniel G. Carey was a practicing physician for many years and his great Prescription No. 777 aided thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. Hereafter you can always get this effective prescription in both liquid and tablet form at Fred Howard's, 197 Central St., A. W. Dows' drug store and all reliable pharmacists the country over.—Adv.

100 TONS OF COAL RAISED OFF NEWPORT, R. I.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 5.—First fruits of a search for sunken treasure in progress off this port, 100 tons of coal raised from the depths of the ocean, reached Newport late yesterday. Treasure seekers probing the floor of the Atlantic between Point Judith and the mouth of the Narragansett bay, after pressing the belief that between 5000 and 6000 tons of coal would be raised to relieve the fuel shortage here.

When the coal shortage became acute recently Capt. Lewis N. Blix of New York, well known in yachting circles, conceived the idea of locating coal barges sunk off Newport during the storms of many winters and raising their cargoes.

Associated with a local contractor, he found 12 such barges, some of them gone to Davy Jones' locker as much as 12 years ago. Work was begun at once of salvaging the coal.

A steam lighter equipped with a huge bucket is the equipment used by the expedition. The bucket similar to that used in the dredging is lowered to the sunken barge, opened by means of a line, and then closed and hauled up, bringing a load of coal with it. The barges located are all from 100 to 155 feet under water.

Local Coal Situation

There is no assurance that this allotment will reach Lowell and if it does, a large quantity of it may arrive during the last end of this period. The coal period is from the middle of December to the first of March, and that is the time when we will need the coal. If a large quantity of this allotment does not reach us until after March 1, it will be of no use to us this winter.

"Therefore, I ask you to urge upon this public, the necessity of being careful in regard to burning anthracite coal."

"Do not start the fires until it is absolutely necessary; use substitute fuels, such as wood and soft coal, until the cold weather is upon us."

"If these warnings are not heeded, there surely will be much suffering in our city during the coming winter, if the weather is at all severe."

"Thanking you for all the publicity you can give this matter, I am, Yours very truly,"

A. D. MILLIKEN,
"Local Emergency Fuel Distributor."

Dealers interviewed

E. A. Wilson, of the D. A. Wilson Coal Co., was emphatic when interviewed today in regard to the anthracite situation in this city. He declared that the shortage was really serious—that few shipments of any quantity of the favorite coals were really on the way to Lowell, and that the prospects are for meager shipments until late winter or early spring.

"You cannot make this statement too emphatic," declared Mr. Wilson. "The reports published in a daily newspaper—not The Sun—that 35,000 tons of anthracite coal recently arrived in Boston for immediate distribution, are not true. It is ridiculous to say such things, when the coal dealers of the state are in touch with all railroad shipments of this kind regularly, and know exactly what the real conditions are.

"Lowell may continue to suffer from severe shortages of the popular anthracite coals during the remainder of the winter. I firmly believe that with rail shipping conditions as they are at present, with an abnormal shortage of freight cars and the absolute inability of the haulers to forward anywhere nearly enough supplies to our territory, Lowell customers will be forced to secure supplies of other fuel and secure them at once if they hope to keep their homes warm this winter."

Mr. Wilson declared that the public has placed too much faith in untrue reports concerning the anthracite coal situation and railroad conditions. Thousands of tons of anthracite are piled up in the rail yards, waiting for freight cars unavailable. Five hundred cars could be loaded today in the D. & N. section alone, and similar conditions exist in the Lehigh coal districts and other anthracite-mining regions.

Other Lowell coal merchants emphatically supported the views of Mr. Wilson. All declare that supplies, so long predicted as headed Lowell way, are not coming in. Several dealers have mine companies telegrams, stating that so many cars are to be shipped, but they don't say when.

To be sure, during the last ten days, a small number of carloads of anthracite have arrived in Lowell, but the number is trifling compared with the list of customers who hoped to be promptly served.

The Wilson company has had three cars of anthracite come in since the strike ended officially, and one other arrived yesterday. The first three were not and now Mr. Wilson supposed that no more cars are to be shipped, but they don't say when.

ALL GONE FEELING DUE TO DYSPEPSIA

Chronic Stomach Trouble Corrected by Tonic Treatment in a Short Time

Indigestion does not always cause pain in the stomach. Often such pains are felt around the heart or in the side. Good digestion requires rich red blood and well nourished nerves. With these assured and proper care of the diet most symptoms of indigestion will quickly vanish.

"I was a confirmed sufferer from stomach trouble," says Mrs. James Drayson, of No. 254 Main street, Everett, Mass., "although I had received a great deal of medical treatment and had consulted a Boston specialist. I had severe gas pains around the heart and extreme palpitation. To walk upstairs would make me out of breath and it seemed as if my heart would jump out of my body. My extra exertion would tire me all out. I wanted to eat but was afraid of the pain that would follow."

"I heard about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from a friend who had used them with excellent results, and while I was taking the second box I noticed an improvement. The gas pains stopped and I could eat a good meal and digest it. I grew stronger and continued with the pills for some time. Now I sleep well and I never have that all gone feeling. I have recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to my friends and am glad to tell others what they have done for me."

If you have a poor appetite or weak digestion get a 50-cent box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from the nearest drug store and begin taking up the diet and begin eating today. Write to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat." Send no money nor stamps. It is free on request.—Adv.

will smash the so-called shortage. At the same time, the Horne people do not look for any rush of anthracite deliveries until winter is well advanced. If it comes satisfactorily, even then.

The Jodde egg coals have arrived in Lowell the price averaging $12.50 per ton. The Horne people received its first car of Jodde last Friday.

The Thorndike Coal & Grain Co., has no assuring reports to offer on the coal situation as it affects this concern and its customers. The company is "shaking up" the many dealers and other local distributors, but has no shipments reported on the way. The manager declares the public should be warned again, and repeatedly if necessary, that the people of Lowell are sure to be poorly supplied with anthracite, probably for into the winter.

This concern can see no wind-up of the abnormal coal shortage, and deliveries when they do come in will have to be made in the usual small halftons or ton lots, the prevailing custom.

Other coal dealers interviewed yesterday declared emphatically that any reports that Lowell dealers had supplies coming in freely enough to supply immediate or future demands, were without foundation.

"Those who think we have anthracite stored for future delivery at higher prices, as has been intimated in some quarters, are invited to visit our yards any time and look into the bins," said one merchant. "We don't expect adequate deliveries to the Lowell district for a good many weeks to come. The small car lots dribbling along now are really only a drop in the anthracite bucket."

"And remember this, Mr. Reporter: Those small 'Mt. Washington' that catch the eye of troubled customers in several coal yard dumping places close to the railroad lines below the public street, don't mean what you think they do, to use the phrase of that songster on a Lowell two-day vaudeville stage last week. The plain facts are that there is practically no stove, egg or nut coal to be had in any sufficient quantities right now, with the exception of dribbling three-car supplies that come in once in a while. For the past 10 days the number of cars reaching Lowell has been so small that they weren't noticeable."

"We felt at one time that the supplies would come along much better, but it is useless now to predict anything but the normal conditions. We are going to have anything like fair supplies for a considerable time."

"Our first cars came in a week ago Tuesday. We took care of some waiting customers, but had to distribute in one-ton lots. The outlook could be better, but of course we hope to have more coal in any day, but the future cannot be foretold under present conditions."

Mr. Mullin's Predictions

Joseph Mullin has not sufficient supplies of anthracite on hand today to supply this concern's customers, but several cars are billed in and ought to be here soon. Mr. Mullin has no faith in reports that Lowell and vicinity, as well as Massachusetts, will not suffer from anthracite coal shortage this winter. Said Mr. Mullin:

"Do you see that old newspaper clipping up there on the wall?" pointing to a yellowed piece of newspaper tacked inside the cashier's cage. "Well, that situation in going to be repeated this winter." The clipping referred to the serious conditions that followed the last great "coal strike" in the year 1903. The strike began May 12 and was not ended until Oct. 3 of that year. The winter that followed is, of course, well remembered. Anthracite coal was so short that many users had to burn soft coal and also burned the soft coal varieties. In the opinion of the Mullin concern, similar conditions will exist in Lowell this winter.

"As a matter of fact we don't expect any normal deliveries until next spring," said Mr. Mullin.

The free shipments of Admiralty coal into Lowell and neighboring towns have surprised some people with eyes directed toward the down town coal dumping stations. The Horne Coal company has been "lucky" in this respect. If you can call it luck in being a coal merchant in the fall of 1922, Mr. Mullin said.

More than 100 tons of the Admiralty coal have arrived, and yesterday seven cars were unloaded after being run through the big traveling "sticker." Mr. Horne has not been receiving the supplies of anthracite that he anticipated when he was notified that shipments were on the way and "could be expected soon," but at the same time he has been able to supply a fair percentage of customers with half-ton allotments.

"We shall keep on with the small distributions until more supplies come in," he said. "The price on the nut, egg and stove grades is $16.50. Admiralty coals are $16 and $16, according to grades—and please remember that there is more than one grade of this Admiralty coal. That is why the prices are not all even throughout the city on this fuel."

Ray of Optimism

The Horne company, in line with other dealers, has railroad notices of anthracite on the way, but no word has come to indicate when the coal will reach here. Mr. Horne advises anthracite users to be patient. He believes the "first round" deliveries have greatly lessened the coal shortage and stopped any panicky conditions. He is now confident that the "second round" deliveries on the way will further tend to lessen the acute shortage for anthracite, and that the "third"

STOMACH BAD!! MEALS SOUR OR LAY UNDIGESTED

Instantly! End Flatulence, Gas, Heartburn, Indigestion

Chew a few! Stomach fine! So pleasant, so inexpensive, so quick to settle an upset stomach. The moment "Pape's Diapepsin" reaches the stomach all pain and distress from indigestion or a sour, gassy stomach vanish.

Simple Application That Dissolves Blackheads

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. Get about two ounces of calomel powder from your druggist. Rub a little of it on a hot, wet cloth—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of calomel powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition.—Adv.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 5.—Cracksmen early today blew a safe in the office of Harriet Kimmelman, manufacturing jeweler, in the downtown district, and escaped with uncut stones and jewelry valued at $35,000, according to a report to the police.

The robbery was discovered when employees of the company reached the office this morning.

POLICE ASSOCIATION PLANS CONVENTION

Arrangements were made yesterday afternoon for the police association convention, which is to be held here on Oct. 13 and 14 at the local branch hotel in the guard room of the police station.

The old board of officers were re-elected for the coming year: President, Patrick Conroy; recording secretary, Thomas R. Aldrich; treasurer, Supt. Thomas R. Aldrich. The following were elected as delegates to the convention: Supt. Atkinson, Edward Finnegan, Clyde R. Aldrich, Patrick Conroy, William F. Linton, Frank Murphy, Jerome Cullen, Thomas Riley and John Deering. This committee will also be in charge of the convention as a whole.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS STRIKE IN FITCHBURG

FITCHBURG, Oct. 5.—The Electrical Workers' union of Fitchburg and Leominster declared a strike yesterday in the shops of all contractors by whom they were employed in this city, about 50 cutting work at noon. The Leominster employers were not affected, all having signed the agreement with the union, while all in Fitchburg refused to do so.

The union asked a minimum wage of $1 per hour on six days' notice, instead of 30 cents, while it was reported the employers gave an agreement of 90 cents per hour on 30 days' notice, which time expired Tuesday. It was reported to the union Tuesday night that the employers repudiated their own wheedling agreement with the result that all union men affected went out yesterday under the direction of one of their district organizers.

Election issues are to be considered at the monthly meeting of the Highland Congregational Brotherhood next Wednesday evening, the main topic being the referendum hearing upon the 18th amendment, Samuel H. Thompson, of this city, is to be the speaker, and will be well equipped to give authentic information on the matter. The other referendum to come before the voters at the state election will also be explained. Preceding the meeting, a good supper will be served at 6:30 p. m.

MONTEGUE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by John G. Argirakis, of Lowell, to the County of Suffolk, in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to the Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust Company, a corporation having its principal office in said Lowell, dated February 12, 1916, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for the Northern District of said County, Book 566, Page 28, which mortgage was assigned by said Middlesex Safe Deposit and Trust Company to John Vlahos by assignment dated April 4, 1922, and recorded in the Registry of Deeds for said County, Book 568, Page 29, there will be sold at public auction for breach of the conditions of said mortgage deed on the premises hereinafter described, to-wit: A tract of land, situate in said Lowell, and bounded as follows: A tract of land, with the buildings thereon, situated in said Lowell on the westerly side of Suffolk Street, containing forty-two hundred ninety-one and 77-100 (4291.77) square feet of land, more or less, and thus bounded and described beginning at the southeast corner of the premises and at the northeasterly corner of land conveyed by the Proprietors of the Locks and Canals on Merrimack River to Samuel W. Brown by deed dated March 16, 1889; thence running westerly on land formerly of said Samuel W. Brown eight hundred and twenty-two (822) feet; thence northerly at an angle of 77 degrees 3 minutes thirty-eight and 56-100 (77.5583) feet to land conveyed by deed to John C. Argirakis by deed dated January 14, 1842; thence in a northerly direction three feet; thence easterly seventy (70) feet, more or less, to said Street at the northeasterly corner of land conveyed by said Proprietors to Ephraim Andrews by deed dated September 14, 1830; thence southerly in a curve line and said Suffolk Street, sixty-two and 61-100 (62.61) feet; thence southerly on a straight line on said Suffolk Street six feet, 10 (6.77) feet to the point of beginning. Being all and the same premises to said John C. Argirakis conveyed by two deeds, one given by John C. Argirakis and another given by James F. Queenan and Walter F. Queenan, both dated May 19, 1911, and both recorded in the Registry of Deeds for said County, Book 514 and 215, and being all and the same premises to said John C. Argirakis conveyed under the name of John C. Argirakis by two deeds, one given by Nicholas G. Orphanos, dated May 27, 1913, and recorded in said Registry, Book 520, Page 30, and one given by John Rabias dated August 24, 1915, and recorded in said Registry, Book 512, Page 423.

The above described premises will be sold and conveyed subject to any and all unpaid taxes, municipal or other assessments and tax sales which may be due, to become due thereon, and the purchaser will be required to pay $200 in cash at the time and place of sale, and the balance in ten days from the day of sale at 12 o'clock noon.

HENRY SULLIVAN BACK FROM ENGLAND TWO YEARS

Henry F. Sullivan, long distance swimmer, arrived home in Lowell last night after spending most of the summer in England waiting in vain for an auspicious chance to tackle the waters of the English channel. He has already made six unsuccessful attempts to swim it, but will not be satisfied until he accomplishes it.

"I'm not going to quit until I do it," he said on his return, and stated he will go to England again next spring for another attempt. He refused to enter the water this year because of unfavorable weather conditions.

Charles Toth of South Boston, who also was in England this summer, made two attempts to cross the channel, but failed.

In conversation with a Sun reporter today, Mr. Sullivan said, "I got the weather. I'll swim the channel if there isn't good weather, nobody can do it. In substantiation of the first part of the statement is Mr. Sullivan's record in his six attempts at swimming the channel."

Mr. Sullivan went to England in the latter part of July and was at Dover for two months waiting for a favorable tide to start his swim. In all that time he made no attempt to cross as he was not satisfied with the weather conditions. On several occasions he got everything prepared for the swim but at the last moment the tide and the wind shifted to such a degree that he called things off.

He said that he had no definite plans as to whether he would go over next year or not, but the channel has "got" him and he told the reporter that he is going to swim the channel. In 1920 he made an attempt that was almost heart-breaking. After battling for 19 1/2 hours with water that registered 57 degrees with the rocky shores of Cape Gris Nez only one-half mile away, the near tide shifted and he was carried away from his goal in the teeth of a terrific gale. The time of this swim is the longest that has been made by any of the recent swimmers who have attempted this feat. In fact, it is the longest he has been able to approach it.

When asked as to what time he usually started his swim, he said that he always had planned to start at night as the tides are at their best at that time. In addition, the effects of the chilly water, encountered during the hours of the night, are lessened and offset by the warmth of the rising sun.

In commenting on the weather conditions, he described the tides, when agitated by the winds, as a three-cornered chop with a velocity of seven miles an hour. The tide in the channel runs cross times and places, and driving against the swimmer, so that a swimmer who is only able to make five miles an hour is being driven back two miles an hour the moment the near tide turns.

There is no doubt but that the channel has "got" Henry Sullivan, and it is clearly evident as he determinedly says, "If I get the weather, I'll do it!"

TO HOLD DEBATES ON ENFORCEMENT ACT

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—The Massachusetts Anti-Saloon league has accepted the challenge of the Constitutional Liberty league to hold a series of debates in some of the cities of the state on the subject of the state enforcement act, referendum No. 4 on the ballot.

WARNED AGAINST BOGUS SOLICITOR

In a letter to the Lowell chamber of commerce, the Vacuum Oil Co., of New York requests that body to keep a vigilant watch for a bogus solicitor who is operating an oil-selling scheme in this city, using the New York concern's name and offering garages and auto supply stores special inducements in connection with the purchase of his product. He is posing as a special representative from the New York office.

He sells far below the company's lowest net price, offers, in addition, a large electric sign for advertising.

In each case a check for a 10 per cent payment in advance of the amount of the purchase is demanded. This check is generally cashed in the town before he leaves it. The individual in question is described as dark complexioned, wearing a dark suit, rather short and probably of foreign extraction. Any news leading to his apprehension will be welcomed by the local chamber of commerce and by the firm he purports to represent.

Greek Delegates Dissatisfied

both in arranging the armistice and later at the peace conference.

PEACE CONFERENCE ALREADY ASSURED

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press) The reports of the first two days' proceedings of the allied generals' conference with the Turkish Nationalist representatives have produced a sanguine feeling here, some believing that an armistice clearing the way for a peace conference is already assured.

It was even reported yesterday that a protocol establishing an armistice had been actually signed, but when the confirmation of this was lacking. The latest information to the Associated Press, contained in a despatch which left Constantinople shortly before midnight, was to the effect that, notwithstanding the generally hopeful status of the situation, the question of a peace conference was still barred by the way to settlement.

While the allies have agreed to turn over Thrace to the Turkish army in 30 days, they have not acceded to the Turks' request that the western line of the Maritza river be occupied by allied troops as a guarantee against a Greek flank attack on the Turkish occupying army.

The determined attitude of the Greek army and the new Athens government is also to be reckoned with. Col. Plastiras, chief Greek delegate, made it plain to the allied conference that the Greek military leaders were determined to resist every attempt to restore Turkish sovereignty over Oriental Thrace.

The Times, commenting with satisfaction on the early proceedings of the conference, emphasizes the view that the only foundation upon which a stable settlement can be erected and preserved is the unity of purpose and action which inspired the allied joint note to the Ankara government.

AGREEMENT REACHED AT CONFERENCE

PARIS, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press) An agreement has been reached by the conference of allied and Turkish military leaders at Mudania, and will be signed some time today, according to private despatches received here.

The main lines of the agreement, says the Figaro, are:

"First the British and Turks both withdrew from the central zone on the southern shore of the Dardanelles, the British to Gallipoli and the Turks behind the line formed by the rivers Granicus and Skamander."

"Second, the Turks agree that the allies remain in Constantinople during the peace negotiations on condition that the allied civil authorities are also installed there."

"Third, the Greek army to evacuate Thrace within 10 days. If the Greek government refuses to give the necessary orders, the allied fleets are to blockade the Greek ports and the Kemalists are to be driven out of Thrace."

"The despatches do not say whether the Greek representatives accepted these conditions."

Constantinople advices late last night said the Mudania conference was on the verge of an agreement on all points of the Turkish proposals with the exception of that relating to the allied occupation of the western line of the Maritza river in Thrace, and that argument on this was still proceeding. The allies were said to have agreed to turn over Thrace to the Turkish army within thirty days and to have secured the assent of the Turks to the establishment of a definite line of demarcation between the British and Kemalists in the Chanak zone, placing them out of rifle shot of each other.

NO FORTIFICATIONS ALONG THE STRAITS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press) According to telegrams from Turkish sources in Mudania, the agreement regarding the neutral zones reached by the allied and Turkish representatives provides that no fortifications shall be constructed on either side of the straits of Dardanelles and that the military operations of the British in Turkey shall cease immediately.

CONSTERNATION IS CAUSED AT ATHENS

ATHENS, Oct. 5.—Consternation was caused here by a Constantinople wireless message picked up last night purporting to give the armistice conditions arranged by the Turks and the allies at the Mudania conference.

The conditions outlined in the message include the occupation of eastern Thrace by allied forces and Turkish evacuation of the line of the River Maritza, and evacuation of the province within 10 days by the Greek army, failing which the allied fleets would blockade Greece.

It will be exceedingly difficult for these new governing Greece to tell their citizens that the chief aim of the revolution—the retention of Thrace—cannot be achieved.

CONFIRMS ATTACK ON U. S. DESTROYER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The report that an American destroyer was bombed by the Turks while taking off refugees at Alvali, a town north of Smyrna, first carried in a Reuters despatch from Athens, is repeated in a despatch from Athens received today by the Greek Legation. The legation despatch gave no details.

Neither the navy nor the state department today had any confirmation of the reported attack.

ANOTHER VIOLATION BY TURKISH CAVALRY

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press) British general headquarters reports the appearance of Turkish nationalist cavalry at Kandra, in the Constantinople neutral zone.

Kandra is approximately 65 miles east of Constantinople, near the Black sea coast of the Ismid peninsula. This is the first reported violation by the Kemalists of the Constantinople neutral zone, although Turkish cavalry has repeatedly violated the neutral zone around Chanak, on the southern shore of the Dardanelles. The Ismid peninsula offers the only direct approach on Constantinople for land forces.

It has been a matter of increasing importance for the last 10 days owing to the desire of the consular officers to visit the Turkish prison camps to ascertain whether any American citizens are among the Greek civilians rounded up in Smyrna and vicinity.

The question at issue is whether the American consular officials previously accredited to the Greek regime shall automatically assume a similar relation to the new government.

The 50 Americans said to be confined in Turkish prison camps are virtually all naturalized citizens, whose exact status in most cases will require considerable investigation.

Nearly 500,000 foreigners visit Paris each year.

Girls Driven to Street by Ammonia Fumes

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Eighty girls, workers in a Brooklyn candy factory, were driven to the streets by fumes today when the condenser of an ammonia cooling plant in the basement of the building was blown off. LOWELL MEN LEASE
SOMERVILLE BUILDING

Two Lowell young men, Timothy J. Linnehan and Joseph E. Sullivan have just signed a ten-year lease of the R. of C. building, corner of Highland avenue and Central street, Somerville, giving them immediate control of the property.

The building is of four stories, brick and cement construction, and was erected but a few years ago. It is the home of the Mt. Benedict council, R. of C., and the latter will retain quarters there. There are four halls and a theatre, the largest with a seating capacity of 3000. In the basement there are ten bowling alleys, while on the ground floor there are 12 stores.

Mr. Linnehan will act as manager and will have an office in the building. He has had considerable experience in the amusement game, having promoted a number of carnivals, etc. He is a prominent member of the Y.M.C.A. and has taken an active part in the direction of many of the institute's concerts, dances and other entertainments. Mr. Sullivan is well known in local business and amusement circles. He is a member of the firm of Sullivan Brothers, printers, and also of the firm of Sullivan & Sullivan, proprietors of the Crescent rink and alley.

MAY SUSPEND CAR TRAFFIC

It may be necessary to suspend street car traffic over Central bridge for a short time while an electric line is being laid there by Contractor Zoel A. Houle. The up-stream side of the bridge is completed and excavation has begun on the down-stream side, which takes in the street car rails. It is the wish of the city engineering department to have both tracks closed while the material is handling, but no definite arrangement has yet been reached.

The sixth magnitude star is the faintest seen by the naked eye.

RECOGNITION OF KING GEORGE OF GREECE

ATHENS, Oct. 5.—(By Associated Press) King George has received a long telegram from his father-in-law, King Ferdinand of Rumania, containing congratulations on his accession to the throne and good wishes as to his exercise of the royal powers.

Russia, Spain, Bulgaria and Rumania have taken preliminary steps toward recognition of the new regime. The newspapers are printing cable messages from Greek organizations in the United States, notably Chicago, congratulating the revolutionists and favoring the creation of a Greek republic. It is officially reported that the Albanians are reinforcing their troops on the frontier as a result of the Grecian nationalist movement.

Jerusalem was entirely deserted for a period of 10 years.

TWO HAVERHILL WOMEN ASPHYXIATED

HAVERHILL, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Mary M. Hill, aged 68, and her mother, Mrs. Annie Legro, 88, of Bradford, were asphyxiated by gas escaping from a range as they sat reading in their home last night.

Mrs. Albert Snay, a neighbor, noticed the women's bodies by looking out of her window and sent her husband to investigate. On entering the Legro home, Mr. Snay smelled gas, and on entering the front room, found the women lifeless. A kettle of water was heating on the gas range.

Medical Examiner F. W. Anthony pronounced death accidental. Mrs. Legro was the mother of the late Dr. L. B. Legro, a former prominent and wealthy physician of Bradford.

REAL ESTATE MEN MAKE NEW RULES

If you are interested in a place of property you will have to go to the office of a real estate broker or have him call at your home, for no more information concerning real estate that is on the market will be given by telephone. This action was taken at a largely attended meeting of the Lowell Real Estate exchange last evening in the Bradley building in Central street.

The brokers, it was stated, are ready at any time to call at the home of an interested party or will gladly give all information wanted at their own office, but they feel that the discussion of business over the telephone is not very satisfactory.

Another important matter taken up at the meeting was that of the so-called curb dealer, or the party who acts as "go-between" between the owner and the agent, and who in many cases collects commissions from both the owner and the agent. This so-called "go-between" has been the cause of many court litigations in the past, it was stated, and therefore, it was voted to do away with such a practice. Other matters of importance were discussed and the meeting adjourned until the first Wednesday in November, at which time an out-of-town speaker will discuss the subject, "Co-operation between Real Estate Dealers."

DROUTH RECORD MAY BE BROKEN

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—This year has smashed one weather record after another. Cold, heat, wind, rain, thunderstorms, one after another, records have crumbled and now it is out after the record for droughts.

There has been no rain in Boston since Sept. 16, 19 days ago, and, according to the forecast, there will be no rain today or tomorrow.

The record for droughts is 22 days; from Feb. 2 to Feb. 24, 1877, there is no precipitation. A near record was made in March, 1915, when for 35 days the only rain was a "trace" an amount too small to be measured.

This year adds another instance to the overwhelming mass of evidence against the popular superstition of the "line storm," a storm believed to occur when the sun crosses the line. Inasmuch as there has been no rain since six days before the equinox, it has not been true, this year at least.

But, while waiting for the drouth record to be smashed, the days are to be very enjoyable, according to the weather bureau. Today and tomorrow are to be fair, with temperatures today about the same as yesterday and Friday a little cooler.

an old New England doctor, little dreaming that he was creating a safeguard for the health of generations to come, from his knowledge of vegetable drugs compounded a wonderful tonic, which he successfully used for years in treating patients who had become anaemic and "all run down."

Since 1845—when his prescription was offered to the public in SANALT the Sensible Tonic—it has relieved thousands of people from the ills caused by chronic constipation. There are no opiates, narcotics, or other harmful drugs in SANALT. It is made today just as it was over 100 years ago—from the best vegetable alternatives, which cleanse and purify the blood, keep liver and bowels active, and prevent poisons from accumulating in the system.

One grateful user—Mrs. Jacob Young of Scranton, Pa.—has this to say for Sanalt:—

"I have suffered from constipation for fifteen years and for a long time have been subject to headaches that would last for three or four days. The pain almost drove me crazy. I have taken cathartics night after night, and suffered about as much from the medicine as I did from the constipation. At the time I bought my first bottle of Sanalt, I was really in a desperate condition. Of all the troubles it seemed to me that nervousness was worst for of course that was the result of constipation and all that the constipation led up to. Before I had taken the first bottle of Sanalt I felt one hundred per cent better—better than I had for years. I am now on my third bottle and feel that by the time I am through with it I shall be really well."

You can get SANALT, or the other famous Winsol products, at any drug store. For Winsol preparations are one line of trade-marked proprietary remedies sold by both Winsol Agents and non-agent druggists. No need to accept substitutes. Any druggist can get Winsol remedies for you through his jobber.

NEUROPATHIC DROPS, the great emergency medicine, and CERIZANE BALSAM, for coughs, are two Winsol remedies that should be kept in every home. Ask your druggist about them.

B. O. & G. C. WILSON, Inc., BOSTON, MASS.

B. O. & G. C. Wilson, Inc., established in 1845, is conducted on a unique profit-sharing plan which benefits everybody concerned—the Winsol Agent, all non-agent druggists, every Winsol employee and the general public. CZAR'S GRAND NIECE ARRIVES IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Two-and-one-half-year-old countess, the grand-niece of a former czar of Russia, came to America yesterday.

She was Countess Renee de Montdesse, and although she will be legally adopted by Mrs. Wendell Phillips, a wealthy New York widow, she will retain her formidable title.

This little girl escaped the red tape of Ellis Island, for Mrs. Phillips, armed with letters from Washington, was on hand to meet the child, brought overseas by Miss Aileen Towns, head of a hospital in Woolwich, Eng. Consequently a special board of inquiry hastily was assembled at the immigration station and restrictions bearing on the entry of a minor alien without parents or guardian were hastily scrapped.

Mrs. Phillips, who visited the Montdesse family in days when the nobility fared better in Russia, said that the child's father, Count Henry de Montdesse, had been shot when the Bolsheviks sacked the Royal Palace in Petrograd.

The mother, Countess Chanda, was spirited out of Russia and gave birth to her child in England. Leaving the child in the Woolwich hospital, the countess came to America for her health, but in 1921 died of influenza in Mrs. Phillips' home here.

On her death bed the countess asked Mrs. Phillips to adopt the child and rear her as her own. Mrs. Phillips promised.

Yesterday, after the first kisses, the little Russian noblewoman began addressing Mrs. Phillips as "mama."

AILING WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Linton Tells How Helpful Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is at This Period

Denver, Colorado.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for seven years and I cannot tell you the good it has done me. It is good for young and old and I always keep a bottle of it in the house, for I am at that time of life when it calls for Lydia E. Pinkham's help. My husband saw your ad in the papers and said 'You have taken everything you can think of, now I want you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound'. So I let him get it, and I soon felt better and he told me 'I want you to take about six bottles'. So I did and I keep house and do all my own work and work out by the day and feel fine now. I tell every one about the Vegetable Compound, for so many of my friends thought I would not get well.'—Mrs. R. J. Linton, 1850 West 33d Avenue, Denver, Colorado.

After reading letters like the above, and we are constantly publishing them, why should any woman hesitate to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she is in need of help? It brings relief where other medicines fail.

Why Suffer From Bronchial Asthma

Simple Home Treatment Makes Breathing Easy

Just because you start the day tired, listless, worn-out from less of rest and the difficult breathing of miserable Asthma do not think you have to stay this way long.

Be strong and well, breathe clearly and easily again by using this simple treatment known as Oxidaze, the prescription of a Worcester, Mass. physician.

For any form of Asthma where the bronchial tubes are irritated, the breathing short and difficult, the heating, relieving action is really wonderful. Sufferers who can't breathe at night and who gasp for a good, clear breath will appreciate the relief and comfort Oxidaze gives.

Oxidaze is a tablet made from essential oils which when the patient dissolves in the mouth, almost immediately soothes the irritation, clears out the choked up air passages and enables the sufferer to breathe easily and get a real comfortable night's sleep.

It is sold by Green's drug store, Lowell, and all leading druggists who agree to refund the full purchase price of the first package to any sufferer who does not obtain satisfactory relief. Asthmatic sufferers should give Oxidaze a trial. It is harmless and inexpensive.—Adv.

SCORES DEPT. OF JUSTICE

Attorney for R. R. Shop Crafts Appears Before Judge Wilkerson

Accuses Justice Dept. of Lack of Good Faith in Injunction Case

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—(By The Associated Press) Appearing before Judge James H. Wilkerson today, Donald R. Richberg, attorney for the railway shopmen, accused the department of justice of lack of good faith in the prosecution of the case against the rail strike leaders.

Mr. Richberg declared that he and associate counsel had held an unsatisfactory conference with Solicitor General Back, and that he had attempted to see Attorney General Daugherty in Washington with reference to an early final hearing or a review of the interlocutory injunction handed down by Judge Wilkerson on Sept. 25.

In connection with his statement to the court, in which he recalled that Judge Wilkerson had notified the government it should hold itself in readiness to go to trial at an early date, with the suggestion that opposing counsel attempt to agree on a trial program, Mr. Richberg delivered to the court a copy of a letter to Solicitor General Back, severely criticizing the position of the government in the case.

After stating delays and disappointments over the October 2 appointment with the government attorneys, Mr. Richberg said he had received a letter from the Solicitor General asserting that the position of the department of justice to be as follows:

"First, if it were practicable to have three circuit judges hear the case, that proceeding would not expedite but delay it.

"Second, that the department invites counsel for the defendants to consider agreeing on a statement of facts and asks counsel for the defendants to submit such a statement of facts.

"Third, if an agreed statement of fact is not practicable, then two courses are open:

"(1) A stipulation to submit the affidavits with leave to either party to offer additional testimony.

"(2) A trial of the case largely on depositions taken throughout the United States except where a stipulation of facts may dispense with formal proof."

In the letter, in reply to Solicitor General Back, Mr. Richberg said:

"There are two matters which the defendants desire to have expedited. First a review of the interlocutory injunction and second a final hearing of the case. Your suggestions affect only the second matter and practically ignore the matter of probably greater importance to the defendants.

"The use of the summary equity procedure to obtain a tentative conviction of 400,000 men of criminal conduct upon evidence found solely in an undigested mass of ex-parte affidavits reeking with hearsay and prejudice, has made the means of depriving these men of liberty and property so long as the interlocutory injunction remains in force."

HUNTING SEASON OFF

Fire Hazard Too Great Says Maine Governor's Proclamation

AUGUSTA, Me., Oct. 5.—A proclamation was issued yesterday by Gov. Percival P. Baxter, suspending the open season for hunting, and prohibiting the carrying of firearms in the woods. The proclamation will be revoked in the event of heavy rains.

"This is the first time in the history of the state that a proclamation of this kind has been issued by a governor."

"The present forest fire situation in Maine is critical," says Gov. Baxter in his proclamation.

"As a result of the existing dry weather, fire in the woods once started spread with great rapidity," continues the proclamation. "A sudden and alarming increase in the number of fires has occurred since the opening of the hunting season. If present conditions continue, disastrous conflagrations may result."

"Whoever shoots during this period any wild animal or bird for hunting of which there is no closed season, or whoever enters upon the wild lands of the state carrying or having in possession firearms, will be punishable by a fine of $100 and costs."

"This proclamation does not prohibit the shooting of wild water fowl on the tidal waters of the state."

The scene within the church was a pretty one as the boys and girls filled the seats of the sanctuary. The boys wore dark blue suits with white satin ribbons on their arms and each had a white carnation in his buttonhole. The girls were dressed in pure white with a flowing veil of filmy lace. The solemn occasion was Mr. John Sullivan and Miss Mary E. Dancy.

After the children had been confirmed they were addressed by Bishop Anderson who spoke on a theme appropriate for such a sacred occasion.

Later Bishop Anderson repaired to St. Columba's church where at 2 o'clock this afternoon he administered confirmation to 150 boys and girls of this locality suffering from an injury to his leg. He was reported as resting comfortably at the hospital.

Ailing Children Get Well on Syrup Pepsin

A small dose at bedtime brings relief and laughter by morning

HOSPITAL and doctor's records prove that 75 per cent of human illness has its origin in the intestinal canal, complicated with what is commonly called constipation. Realizing what that figure means, mothers should contrive methods of handling their children while they still control them that will prevent these future dangers. Teach children regularity of bowel movement, and be especially watchful of young girls. Insist on two passages a day until the age of 18, when one is usually sufficient. Give plenty of oranges and apples, plenty of butter because it lubricates the intestines, and encourage the drinking of water.

If you detect restlessness, belching, gas or wind on the stomach, sleeplessness, or lack of appetite, examine the tongue and you will find it coated, accompanied by unpleasant breath. The child is bilious, constipated. According to age, give from one-half to a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's

Syrup Pepsin, which children never object to taking as they like the taste. By morning the youngster will be well again. Likewise if the nostrils are stuffed up or there is persistent sneezing, a dose of Syrup Pepsin will break up the fever and cold.

Mrs. Geo. N. Colson of Bernards, Me., keeps her family well in that way, and Mrs. Ida A. Burket of Carroll, La., who has been using Syrup Pepsin for a dozen years, has raised her three children on it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a vegetable compound of Egyptian senna and pepsin with agreeable aromatics. The formula, however, is on every package. Druggists have sold it with satisfaction to their customers for over 30 years, and it is now the largest selling family laxative in the world. Buy a bottle today. It will last you for months, and the cost is only about a cent a dose.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT FREE

Thousands of parents are asking themselves, "Where can I find a first-class laxative that anyone in the family can use when constipated?" We give you to try Syrup Pepsin. I will gladly provide a liberal free sample bottle, sufficient for an adequate trial. Write me where to send it. Address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 875 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

CURLEY SAYS MENACE OF K. K. K. MUST END

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Mayor Curley issued last night the following statement relative to the Ku Klux Klan meeting in North Cambridge on Tuesday night:

"Massachusetts has from the beginning of her history enjoyed a distinction among the states of the Union in the matter of a liberal interpretation of the constitutional guarantees and rights of all men living within her portals.

"The value of her interpretation was emphasized in the news of the arrest under the selective draft system absolute equality without regard to race, creed or color obtained.

"The most valued lesson furnished by the World War may be forgotten in those sections of America south of the Mason-Dixon line where the great and child labor in industry are found, but are still remembered in Massachusetts.

"The appearance in the University city of a delegation of men and their four assaults upon the rights and liberties of their fellow Americans makes the appearance of the Ku Klux Klan in America, namely, that the un-American principles and propaganda presented by the Ku Klux Klan represent a menace that decent men will not tolerate, and that every agency which the constitution provides for the safeguarding of life, liberty and happiness of the people should be speedily invoked to the end."

Ex-Representative William A. Canty of Dorchester announced yesterday afternoon that he means to conduct an investigation of the recent activities hereabouts of the Ku Klux Klan with the idea of drafting legislation to be presented at the forthcoming legislative session, designed to curb the work of what he calls "this un-American organization."

"Newspaper reports of last night's Ku Klux meeting must shock the people of Boston and that state to a realization of the pro-British aims of this insidious secret society," he said.

The Ku Klux gangsters ought to be curbed speedily, unless the fair name of Massachusetts is to be coupled with those of Georgia and Florida, where the organization has been successful enough to insert in political platforms certain planks aimed at the rights and freedom of Catholics and Jews.

"It is high time that the commonwealth in which we live, and which was dedicated to freedom of religious belief when the Pilgrims came to these shores, stamp indelibly its seal of protest against the Ku Klux Klan before it further invades the freedom of our homes."

To Submit to Legislature

"It is my intention to make a careful investigation of the work in the Bay State of this Prussian body and submit it to the attention of the legislature with the hope that punishment be meted out to the offenders and that the general court place itself on record as absolutely opposed to the life in Massachusetts of the Klan in order that the rest of the United States may know that we still stand for democracy."

Mr. Canty won a democratic nomination for a house seat from Dorchester, in the primary, and this is considered tantamount to an election in November.

HOOVER UNABLE TO ADDRESS BANKERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, who was to have addressed the annual convention of the American Bankers' association, today was unable to do so on account of illness. It was announced by Treas. Thomas D. McAdams of the association. Mr. McAdams said he had received a letter from Mr. Hoover this morning expressing his keen regret that he would be unable to appear.

Mr. Hoover arrived here from Washington last night.

KNIGHTS OF MALTA

Smoke Covers Montreal

MONTREAL, Oct. 5.—Montreal was overshadowed with dense smoke today from the many forest fires that are raging throughout the eastern portion of the province of Quebec.

The sky was hidden by a gray pall, making the burning of electric lights in the city's offices necessary. The odor of burning wood was in the air. Ships on the St. Lawrence were navigated with great caution.

Pulp Wood Destroyed

SHIRLEY, Me., Oct. 5.—The forest fire which was brought under control after raging at the head of Oakes Bog west of this town, burned 200 cords of pulp wood and spread over an area of 250 acres. A shift of wind yesterday afternoon aided greatly in stopping the progress of the fire.

ASTOUNDED BY CHARGES

Foreman of Grand Jury Discharged by Atty.-Gen.
Allen Makes Denial

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Thomas V. Somers, foreman of the special grand jury discharged yesterday by Attorney General J. Weston Allen on the grounds that it had been tampered with, while investigating the affairs of the closed Hanover Trust Co. in a statement today declared that he was astounded by the attorney general's charges.

"Our relations with the attorney general and both his assistants were most cordial," he added. "As foreman I never dreamed or had an inkling that any outside influence were at work, and I cannot believe that is so."

"Mr. Allen says in his statement that improper influences were used to affect our minds. So far as I know, that is absolutely untrue."

William S. McNary, treasurer of the Hanover Trust Co. and former congressman, in a statement said that he assumed he was the official of the trust company referred to by Mr. Allen as having approached grand jurors. He denied ever having mentioned the case to any of them.

HEADLINES

Many very lovely headlines for winter have a strong oriental influence, being made very much like the pane of richly brocaded materials, but entirely lacking as to crown. Earrings, which grow longer hourly, are a necessary accessory to complete the picture.

NEW RULES APPROVED BY CEMETERY BOARD

New rules and regulations governing the duties of employees of the cemetery commission have been approved by the city solicitor and will come before the board for adoption at its November meeting. The rules were discussed at length yesterday at the October meeting and meet with the approval of the commission.

According to Chairman William H. Rigby, employees have been in the habit of competing for the care of lots, doing work as individuals rather than members of the department and thus cutting down what should be departmental revenue. The proposed rules forbid any work in the public cemeteries before 8 a. m. or after 5 p. m.

The post-meeting was preceded by a harvest supper served by Mrs. Mabel Kennedy. Songs and assembly singing preceded the supper.

VETERANS' MEETING IN AUDITORIUM

The honor of holding the first veterans meeting in the Memorial Auditorium goes to Post 185, G.A.R., which held a meeting in the veterans' wing last night. In the name of the post Commander Franklin S. Peavey took possession of the wing from the auditorium. Collin H. MacKenzie, the commander thanked Mr. MacKenzie and expressed great pleasure at the new quarters.

The post-meeting was preceded by a harvest supper served by Mrs. Mabel Kennedy. Songs and assembly singing preceded the supper.

EDGAR H. BRISTOL AND HIS "NEW CIVILIZATION" AUTO BUS AND HOSPITAL.

By N.E.A. Service
FOXBORO, Mass., Oct. 4.—Trolley cars without fare boxes; telephones without slot machines; gas motors without any register—
That's what we'll all be enjoying soon if the "New Civilization" idea, born here keeps spreading.
It's a simple idea, based on the faith that everyone has a conscience, which will be his guide. The organization backing the new movement accepts the inner self of the individual as his only asset.
It seeks to provide the necessities of community life, accepting in return only what the conscience of the persons impels him to give.
Already the town boasts of two automobile buses run on the new idea. Passengers taken anywhere, day or night, pay any fare they please. If they don't think the ride is worth anything at all, they needn't pay a cent.
Working Out Successfully
This proved so successful that Edgar H. Bristol, a wealthy manufacturer who is father of the "New Civilization" movement, decided to expand its scope. He purchased a large house, which will be used as a public hospital and community center, as soon as alterations are completed. Each patron will pay only what his conscience dictates.
There will be a telephone for public use, but there won't be any slot machine. If the caller is so inclined he may drop some money in a little box, if not he needn't pay at all.
Bristol believes that his idea is quite practicable and that it will soon sweep throughout the country.
"I am interested," he says, "only in that which is economically sound. 'New Civilization' as you see it working out here today in Foxboro, is developing everywhere, only it is developing here more rapidly through the impetus we have lent it."
"There are those who say the world is going to the dogs. There are others who predict the realization of the millennium within 25 years, and there are others who are satisfied with things as they are and don't want to be driven out of easy street by the muttering trollers."
"In starting this movement here I am interested only in that which is tangible and probable. The idea has gained prestige and now we enjoy a membership of 1160."
The movement is daily drawing new followers, ten cents and a promise to abide by the principles of the organization being all that is required for membership.
Business Picking Up
The "New Civilization" busses were placed in operation about six weeks ago. Each contained a coin box into which the passengers could drop whatever they thought their rides were worth. The coin boxes were opened each day by a representative of a local bank.
The first week showed a deficit in the operation expenses of approximately $45. But the people of the town have gradually grasped the idea and have become enthusiastic over it.

The Price to You is no Higher

GENERAL sanitary regulations in producing Evaporated Milk are established by law. In addition to the observance of these we establish our own specific and rigid inspection to make our milk absolutely pure and of fine quality. No single batch of Borden's Evaporated Milk is allowed to leave the condensary until it has passed a final laboratory test.

Though this elaborate inspection may make it cost more to the grocer he sells Borden's at the price of other standard brands. For he relies on it to please his most particular customers.

Borden's Evaporated Milk is pure country milk with the cream left in. It is fine for both coffee and cooking.

As a result the loss has been steadily cut down until the last deficit was but a little more than $5. It is expected that this will be entirely wiped out and that the bus business will soon be on a good paying basis.
The founder of the movement has equally high hopes for his hospital and community house and plans gradually to increase the scope of work until it will embrace nearly all of the town's activities.

REGISTRATION AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

Registration will be held at the Lowell Textile school tonight for those students who desire to take the evening courses. The school was open Monday night for registration but the number who reported was not as large as expected. Tonight is the last chance as the classes open next Monday night and it is expected that as in previous years nearly 1000 pupils will enroll in the different courses.
The evening courses are free to residents of this city but students from other cities are required to pay a small fee. Instruction is given by the professors of the day school and courses are offered in cotton manufacturing, knitting, woolen and worsted manufacturing, textile design, free-hand drawing, elementary chemistry, textile chemistry and dyeing, analytical chemistry, cotton weaving, woolen and worsted weaving, Dobby and Jacquard weaving, mechanism, mathematics, steam engineering, electrical engineering, strength of materials, mechanical drawing, machine shop, cotton finishing, woolen and worsted finishing, and advanced electricity.

ATTACKS W. HARDING

Sen. Heflin Reiterates Charges Against Former Governor of Reserve Board

WASHINGTON, October 5.—Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, today made public a letter to President Thomas B. McAdams of the American Bankers' association urging that the bankers, in convention in New York, should not adopt a resolution endorsing W. P. G. Harding of Alabama for reappointment to the federal reserve board.

Senator Heflin said he had heard a rumor that Governor Harding and friends had been "active for weeks" trying to select delegates to the American Bankers' association, who would favor the passage of a resolution endorsing him for reappointment.

Senator Heflin's letter reiterated his charge that an alleged credit deflation policy while Mr. Harding was governor of the federal reserve board had "paralyzed business, closed industries, drove millions of wage earners from employment, caused thousands to kill themselves, and destroyed property valued by the billions."

TEN DOLLARS A CORD FOR HARDWOOD

Ten dollars a cord is the lowest price at which Massachusetts farmers can sell cordwood and come out whole on the transaction, according to a statement given the state fuel administrator by the Massachusetts farm bureau federation. This is for good quality hardwood. Dead chestnut and small trash wood is worth somewhat less.

The federation gave this opinion as the result of a study of conditions which it made at the request of the fuel administrator. Many farmers who have been selling cordwood for years were interviewed and the opinion represents the average of their judgment as to the total of the various costs which enter into the price of a cord of wood, delivered at the railroad station.

The opinion as to price supplements the recent work of the federation in securing information as to the amount of wood now cut and ready for delivery in the state. Replies from practically every town in Massachusetts where any wood is available show that there is an abundance already cut for ordinary needs and that there are thousands of cords that could be cut if the price were sufficient to warrant it. The available wood already cut is largely in the western part of the state but there is a fair amount in the eastern counties. This, however, is very largely needed for local use. In case of emergency, it would be possible, in the opinion of the federation, to bring large quantities of wood into any of the cities, provided that the price was large enough to pay the farmer for the expense of cutting and hauling with a fair return for the value of the wood on the stump.

In the statement given to the fuel administrator by Howard S. Russell, secretary of the federation, the ten dollars a cord minimum price is explained and backed up by figures. The average value of wood on the stump set by farmers from many sections, was $2.26 a cord. This includes the increase in the investment in land, which is unavailable for other purposes, while the wood is growing, for about forty years; taxes over a like period; and risks from the wood being wiped out by fire. This last is a considerable factor in the determination of the cost.

To this value on the stump was added the average cost of cutting, $3.25 a cord; the cost of hauling out to the roadside, $2 a cord; and the cost of hauling to the station, $3.50 a cord. The final cost of $10 a cord is given as a minimum for a general price. While under very favorable conditions, where the hauling distance is short and the wages below the average, the actual cost would be slightly lower, but the federation figures put in no item for profit to the farmer in the business transaction which would more than offset any ordinary saving on costs. In cases where the cutting cost and the hauling charges are above the average, the $10 a cord would not cover the cost to the farmer.

The federation made this study and offered the results to the fuel administrator in order to relieve the farmers of the state from the suspicion that they are taking advantage of the fuel situation and charging extortionate prices for their wood. Such is not the case. Except in very rare instances, farmers are selling their cordwood for $10 and $12 a cord.

MIDDLESEX NORTH POMONA GRANGE

The first meeting of the fall and winter season of the Middlesex North Pomona grange will be held in Odd Fellows hall, Bridge street, tomorrow morning, at 10:45 o'clock. The Middlesex-North Pomona will be guests at this meeting. The towns included in the latter organization are Lynnfield, Saugus, Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Winchester, Stoneham, Wilmington and Woburn.

The opening meeting will be a "Neighbors' rally," with programs morning and afternoon. Lecturer Mrs. Grace Naylor of the Middlesex-North will be in charge of a session tomorrow morning. Dinner will be served at 12:30 by the Burlington and Chelmsford societies, and the afternoon meeting, open to the public, will start at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Lillian Knight of Reading, lecturer, has charge.

HARVEST SUPPER AND FESTIVAL

The annual harvest supper and festival for members and guests of Womans Relief corps No. 28 and Post 120, G.A.R., is to be held in Post 120 banquet hall tonight, at 8 o'clock. At 8 o'clock there will be a program of entertainment for corps members and Grand Army visitors, with music and songs predominating.

This afternoon members of the W.R.C. are holding their October whist social, with about eight tables, guests being present from Grand Army posts. Mrs. Ada Myrick is chairman of today's committee and Mrs. Elita Fullerton aid.

The corps will hold a business meeting tonight, when plans for the annual corps fair will be completed. This event is scheduled to be held in about two weeks. There will be several tables for the sale of fancy work, edibles and goods made at home, clubs and patriotic circles, all in aid of the veteran organizations which sponsor the entertainment. Mrs. Alice Schofield, head of the Corps 28, is in charge of the coming fair with a corps of earnest workers.

VERDICT FOR BYAM BROTHERS

In their suit against Michael C. Brennan, which was tried at the civil session of the superior court yesterday, Byam Bros., real estate brokers, were today awarded a verdict of $1032.94, in the case of Martin D. Sullivan vs. Michael C. Brennan, a verdict for the defendant was returned.

The case was a double action of tort by which both plaintiffs sought to recover a commission for the alleged sale of real estate for the defendant. The case was brought to a close yesterday noon and this morning at the opening of the court, sealed verdicts were returned.

The triple action of tort brought against J. Edward Allen of Billerica by George B. Fuller, admin., Elizabeth Briggs and Elizabeth Scobie, which went to trial at yesterday afternoon's session, was resumed this morning. This case is a result of an automobile accident in which Mrs. Helen A. Fuller, wife of George B. Fuller, is alleged to have lost her life, while the other two plaintiffs, allege personal injuries. The total ad damnum in the case is $32,000.

There are 3000 boats engaged in pearling off the Baren Islands.

TYNGSBORO GRANGE HARVEST EXHIBITION

The second day of the Tyngsboro grange harvest exhibition in the town hall, drew a larger attendance than was recorded yesterday. The big attractions today outside of the splendid exhibits in the hall and on the stage, were the dinner and supper programs, and the plans for tonight's dramatic entertainment and dance that wind up the two days' celebration.

Among the features that attracted much attention today were the elaborate displays of home handwork, such as table covers, doilies, bed spreads, home-made rag matting, dining sets, lace, embroideries and fancy work in many varieties both useful and for home decorating. There was one large set of table covers, hand-embroidered, that took nearly five years to make. Its value is considered high both in quality of work and price, if it were to be offered for sale.

A farce will be given by grange members tonight, dancing will come afterward. Judges will announce awards after the show.

On an average, 100 veterans of the Civil war die every day.

going-over with a damp mop makes Congoleum as clean and spotless as when new—its color fresh and sparkling.

Lies Flat Without Fastening

This is another important feature of Gold-Seal Congoleum. No tacks, nails, or cement are ever required to hold it in place. It literally "hugs" the floor and never "kicks up" or curls at the edges or corners.

Genuine, Guaranteed Goods

All the Gold-Seal Congoleum offered in this sale is fresh new goods, just received from the factory. All of it carries the famous Gold Seal pledge of "Satisfaction or Your Money Back." Look for the Gold Seal—it is your protection against inferior imitations of Gold-Seal Congoleum.

This Is Your Last Chance

If you delay too long something may prevent your going. And then you will have to pay much more for your Congoleum. After Saturday prices will positively go up to their former level.

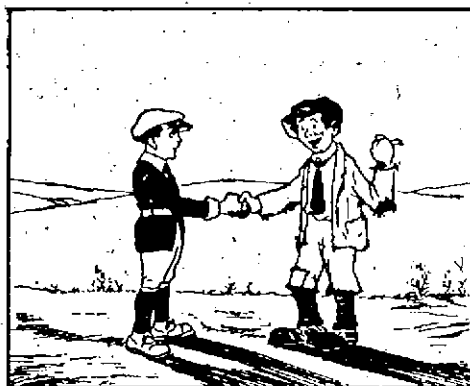

"JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES"

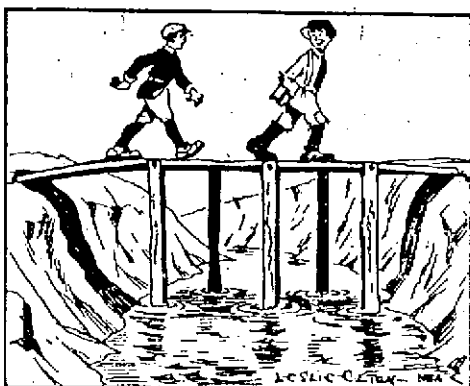

Jack Daw, adventurer, halted at a farm house to get a bite to eat. The kind farmer's wife sold him some sandwiches and then he hopped on his horse's back and started down the road.

A short distance away he jumped to the ground again and turned his horse, Lightning, loose to eat in the fields. In the meantime Jack noticed a boy coming toward him.

As a ragged-looking youth walked up, Jack said "Hello, stranger." The youth shook hands and replied "Hello, Willie," and then he invited Jack down the road to meet another boy.

"My name is Bill Dugan and my buddy's name is Stony McEllynn," said the youth as he led Jack across a bridge. "Maybe Stony will let you join our gang." Continued.

If Leatrice Joy Doesn't Win, She'll Be a Good Loser

HOW WAS SCOTTY, THE ARTIST, ABLE TO CATCH LEATRICE JOY IN SO SERIOUS A MOOD? SHE DOESN'T STAY SERIOUS MORE THAN A MINUTE AT A TIME.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Dropped in to say "hello" to Leatrice Joy the other day and to tell her I liked her work in "Manslaughter."
There, on a stand in a battered silver frame, on paper yellowed with age, was his little prayer, but, in it, Thy inscrutable wisdom Thou wilt not let me win, then, O God, make me a good loser!
She has read that little placard every day for the past five years, she told me. It helps her over the rough places.
"Once I had just finished my part in a small comedy when I received word that a certain director wanted to see me," she said. "I hurried out to his studio only to find that ten minutes before I arrived he had given a big role in a feature picture to another girl."
"That was just about the biggest disappointment I had had. I was crying when I got back to my room, but when I read that little prayer I quit."

Individual Interpretations
Mark Fall Millinery

The Burke Hats now being shown at our Fall Opening reflect the best of the season's style tendencies but with an individuality that distinguishes them.

In addition to Burke hats, you will see at this opening some particularly smart and distinctive Vogue Hats. These are copies of the newest Parisian models.

Will you not accept this as a personal invitation to the opening?

FALLING OFF IN NAVY ENLISTMENTS

The balmy weather of the past few days has caused a noticeable lull in enlistments at the local navy recruiting station, not one recruit having been signed up in the last three or four days. The officers in charge attribute the lull to the weather and feel that a little cold spell will entice many boys to get into the sea service. Many applicants have been deemed to be disappointed because of the lack of the necessary weight, none must be 5 feet, 4 inches in height and tip the scales at not less than 115 pounds. The required ages are from 18 to 20.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres Own Press Agents.
B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Al and Fanny Steadman in "Piano-capers," and the "Manslaughter" split the headlines at the B. F. Keith theatre this week. In a show which holds many really good features, and which, all the way through, is of headline quality. Joseph K. Watson in "A Dramatic Rangement of Facts" is surely a different kind of monologist comedy. David & Norton have a snappy little skit in four parts, which shows the American habit of seeing new pleasures. Then there are Olga and Alan Edwards in their high class musical act, which combines vocal work with piano music. The dancing of "Piano-capers" is one of the best of the season. Viola Victoria, the little dancer, is one of the best of the season. Ross & Ross in their introductory musical turn are pleasing.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"Manslaughter," the noted Cecil B. DeMille production, continues to play to capacity houses at the Merrimack Square theatre. The production has aroused so much genuine interest and comment as this latest feature given to the public by the acknowledged master of the theatre. With Thomas Meighan, Leatrice Joy and Lola Wilson in the leading roles and a me capsule supporting cast assisting them, the personnel of the production is all that could be desired. The story, that of a young woman of modern times, creates a drama for speed, is most dramatic and affords the producer plenty of opportunities for sensational action and elaborate settings. "Manslaughter" will remain at the Merrimack Square theatre for the rest of the week. The usual scale of admission prices is in effect.

RIALTO THEATRE
Today is the last showing of the mid-week booking of the Rialto theatre. The feature of the show introduces Marion Davies in "Beauty's Worth," also a great northern story, entitled "The Man Hunter." Reginald Denny in "Seeing Red," a thrilling episode of "The Perils of the Yukon," and "Chastity," the "Dancer." There is variety enough for a great entertainment.

"BROADWAY ROSE" COMING
The Merrimack Square theatre management announces the presentation of "Broadway Rose," a romance of New York life with fascinating Mae Murray in the leading role, for an indefinite engagement, beginning next Sunday afternoon. There will be no change in the usual Merrimack Square schedule of admission prices. The producers of "Broadway Rose" have not been content to rest on the laurels of previous productions. In the gorgeousness of the settings, the elaborateness of the costumes and the absorbing interest in the life which it depicts, "Broadway Rose" is unsurpassed.

THE STRAND
William Farnum in a story of the foothills, called "Moonshine Valley," opens up a three days' engagement at the Strand, beginning this morning. It's a story that provides for a number of thrills, good romance and characterizations that you will like. The story is that of a man whose wife elopes with a doctor. A child is born to them. Later on she becomes lost and is found by Farnum, who takes her home. The story is a thoroughly manly and is reformed by the little one and becomes a model citizen. Shirley Mason, as charming as ever, is to be seen in a new picture, entitled "Truly Yours." Do you believe in long or short engagements? If you want to give this important question to rest, then don't miss this picture treat. The usual comedy and weekly help to make the bill great.

WE hope there is no Mother who thinks she can treat her sick baby without calling in a Physician, or with remedies that she uses for herself.

Most Mothers know that Baby requires remedies especially prepared for babies, yet there are some who think that what is good enough for them is good enough for Baby, and it is to these Mothers we appeal to give nothing to their babies that is not specially prepared for babies or recommended by their Physician.

False claims may kill, but false claims can never restore your child.

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.

GREEKS READY TO RESIST TURKS

Great Wave of Patriotic Fervor Sweeping Over Greek Army in Thrace

Discuss Possibility of Turning Defeat by Turks Into Victory

ADRIANOPLE, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The great wave of patriotic fervor which is sweeping over the Greek army in Thrace is the most remarkable development of the past week here.

The revolution in Greece and the abdication of King Constantine had an immediate reaction on the soldiers, who seemed before this to have lost all their fighting spirit. The troops now are apparently rejuvenated and eager for battle.

The choice of the most popular military leader, Colonel Plastiras, as the army's representative at Mudania, was learned of with enthusiasm by the troops, among whom the fiery colonel is an idol.

Among the Greeks the universal talk is of the possibility of turning defeat into victory by a successful resistance of Turkish invasion.

Some of the most brilliant of the Venizelos officers are rejoicing in the colors in eastern Thrace and a number of Greeks from Crete have arrived here during the past week.

CHARGE ASSAULT ON RAILROAD WORKER

Lucien Maynard and William H. Courser were arraigned in district court this morning to answer to charges of assault upon William Dennis and to trespassing on the Boston & Maine property. Although the case was started shortly after the opening of the court session, it was not called at 12:30 and adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning at which time the defense will go on.

The charges developed on the morning of September 26 when the defendants are alleged to have trespassed on the Boston & Maine property and assaulted Dennis, an employee of the concern.

Attorney Daniel J. Donahue, representing the defendants, requested that the witnesses for the railroad and the complainant be excluded from hearing each other's testimony.

The request was granted and the witnesses were not allowed to testify in each other's presence. While one witness testified, the others were segregated in a room just off the court room.

Roland F. Sandborn, a lieutenant of the Boston & Maine police, was the first witness called. He told of the events which led up to the arrest of the defendants. He said that he saw them stop the complainant, take him by the arm and talk to him. Sandborn was kept on the stand for more than an hour.

Office Steele of the railroad office, who was with his superior at the time of the arrest, was the next witness and testified as to what he saw and heard. During his stay on the stand there were frequent verbal clashes between him and the defendant's lawyer.

The next witness called was William Dennis. He said that he was on an electrician in the Middlesex roundhouse and that on the morning in question he was on his way to work when he was accosted by the defendants who told him that he couldn't go to work. He alleged that both of the men had rocks in their hands, which they dropped when Officer Sandborn appeared in view.

Didn't Want Taxi Ride

He also testified that the men told him they were going to give him a taxi ride, but that he objected and said that he did not want the ride.

During the testimony of these three witnesses the only evidence of assault offered was when it was told that the defendants took Dennis by the arm.

As the hour was late the court suggested that the case be continued so that all the defendants' testimony might be put in together. Arrangements could not be made to have the case heard in the afternoon so that it was ordered postponed until tomorrow morning and will be the first one heard immediately after the finish of the weekly juvenile session.

CAR SHOP STRIKERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

The announcement that the officials of the Pennsylvania and Delaware & Hudson railroads have agreed to confer with the federated crafts committee in relation to a settlement of the strikes, which are affecting the two companies, has brought cheer to the hearts of the Boston & Maine carshop strikers, who feel that it will be but a short time before President Rusts of the Boston & Maine will agree to meet his employees. Members of the strike committee stated today that the fact that President Rusts refused to confer with his employees last week does not mean that the railroad official will always maintain that attitude.

"We feel confident," said a member of the press committee, "that within a week or two President Rusts will agree to meet us, for if the action of other railroad officials is to be taken as a criterion it will be a matter of time before practically all the railroad strikes are settled and the Boston & Maine cannot afford to go along and attempt to run its road under strike conditions."

In an endeavor to raise funds for the succor of the needy strikers, the committee is making arrangements to conduct a tag day in this city a week from next Saturday, and Mayor Brown has promised to grant them a permit to sell tags on the streets of Lowell.

At present a committee headed by Chairman Chandler of the federated crafts are soliciting funds in Lawrence, where they will remain all day. They are entertaining the down-river residents with burdy gurdy selections. This evening a dance will be conducted in Associate hall for the benefit of the strikers.

LICENSE SUSPENDED

Sergeant Michael Winn of the liquor and vice squad was this morning notified by the license commission that it had suspended the license of Alvin P. Benadette, 11 Alken avenue, for the period of one month ending Nov. 3.

The suspension is the result of a hearing, held earlier in the week, at which Sergeant Winn and Officer Conroy complained that the law had not been lived up to.

BRITISH CABINET CONSIDERS TERMS

LONDON, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press) The British cabinet went into session this afternoon to consider the terms before the Mudania conference, one of which is understood to be that the allied occupation shall continue until the conclusion of the peace conference concerning Thrace and the straits of the Dardanelles.

Despite the threats of the Greeks to start a new war for the defense of their population in Thrace it is evident that so far there has been no alterations in the allied determination to give peace to the Near East. The attitude of the British foreign office is that so long as the Turks prove reasonable measures will be taken to secure the evacuation of the Greeks behind the Mariza river.

Ex-Premier Venizelos has been assured that the allies will undertake that there will be a minimum of disorders in Thrace and Constantinople, but that beyond this no promises can be made.

PORTUGUESE CELEBRATE ELECTIONS CHEER LEADERS

Lowell Portuguese, Are Joyously Celebrating the Birthday of Young Republic

The sturdy young 12-year-old republic of Portugal is celebrating its birthday today. Lowell Portuguese to the number of nearly 5000 are joyously observing the event with the usual programs ranging from reunions and club meetings to banquets and good fellowship rallies.

Feastings are scheduled for this evening in homes and clubs on Gorham street and vicinity. Prominent members of the Lowell colony are also planning to go to Boston tonight to enjoy the festival program arranged for the Portuguese-speaking people in that city, who always provide a celebration worth going to.

The colorful red, green and gold emblems of the sturdy young Republic of Portugal were flying from the masts of numerous flagpoles in Lowell today. The flag, one to be hoisted at 11 o'clock, was hoisted at 10 o'clock, with music from the Stars and Stripes on the roof of the Sun building, resulted in numerous other citizens marshalling gay Portuguese flags on staffs and window poles in various parts of the city.

One of the first tributes to be made to any local staff following the appearance of the usual American flag was the large and brilliantly-colored bunting owned by the Portuguese vice consulate at No. 101 Gorham street. Jose S. Trigo, local representative of the young republic, took the flag out early in the day, with him when the flag of Portugal unfolded over the Gorham street sidewalk were Annibal L. Sousa, private banker at that address, and several well known Lowell Portuguese-speaking citizens, who cheered lustily as the banner went out flying over the city.

No elaborate celebrations of Portugal's republican anniversary were planned for Lowell or vicinity. Tonight, however, at the various Portuguese clubs there will be concerts, speechmaking and rallies of men of all political faiths under the Portugal standard.

Congratulations will be sent to Lisbon and other Portuguese cities and home towns right away. One will also be sent to President Antonio Jose Almeida, who is rounding out his fourth year as president of the Portuguese republic. He may not serve again, for there are other candidates in the field anxious to show their wares.

Tonight down in Boston, at the State auditorium at No. 12 Berkeley street, there will be a monster rally of Portuguese-speaking citizens from all over New England. Every consul and vice consul will be there, and numerous Lowell Portuguese are going to attend the celebration. And the local clubs will also hold their end up at the evening jubilee.

Annibal L. Sousa, the banker, has just returned from a visit to Portugal arriving Sunday last. He left Lowell last June. Among the countries visited besides Portugal were Spain, France and England. This home for German trip did not materialize.

His reports on conditions in Portugal from his recent visit and living conditions greatly hampered by the low rate of currency exchanges.

The democracy is in the saddle in Portugal today, Mr. Sousa said. President Almeida's record in office has been praiseworthy, but not at all perfect. He used to visit "Brazil," but is now an independent. The people are strongly democratic at the present time, and the chances are for radical changes in political office ranks later on.

Election Commissioners Removed By
Mayor Who Appoints Crowley,
Garrity, Cloutatre and O'Dowd

Mayor George H. Brown this afternoon removed the board of election commissioners—Messrs. Hugh J. McDsker, J. Omer Allard, Joseph H. Maguire and Thomas H. Braden—giving as his reason that they have certified to a Plan B charter petition for the city of Lowell that the mayor alleges is fraudulent.

He has appointed as a new board Stephen C. Garrity, commander of the American Legion Post, 87, to succeed Mr. Braden; Joseph A. Cloutatre, his private secretary, to succeed Mr. Allard; Paul M. O'Dowd, watchman at the Memorial Auditorium, to succeed Mr. Maguire and John A. Crowley, attorney, to succeed Hugh C. McDsker, chairman.

Notice of removal was carried to the legal residence of the four members of the commission by special messenger, and the fact of their removal will be made known to the city council at its meeting tonight.

The announcement of removal came shortly after 1 o'clock when the board, called together in special session, refused to recognize Joseph A. Cloutatre, mayor's secretary, as a temporary member of the board, appointed by the mayor to serve in the place of J. Omer Allard, who is out of the city on a vacation.

Mr. Cloutatre had gone into the meeting, carrying votes prepared by the city solicitor, which it passed by the board.

would request the secretary of state to withhold action on the certification of names signed to the Plan B charter petition and reported to him on Sept. 29, meaning that the secretary would take no action to place the question on the state election ballot.

It was to be voted further that the board is engaged in an examination of evidence that certain signatures certified are not genuine signatures of qualified voters, and further that the secretary be informed that the board will notify him of the result of a re-examination at the earliest possible moment.

The votes were not even submitted for consideration because the three permanent board members refused to serve with the mayor's temporary appointees.

The mayor's letter to the board also was not read. This reviewed the charter petition question at some length and called upon the board to take some action without delay.

The mayor stated he appointed Mr. Cloutatre under authority given him in Part II of Section 43 of the charter, which, in part, reads as follows:

"Should the administrative head of a department, or member of a board or commission be temporarily unable for any cause to perform his duties, the mayor may designate, without confirmation by the city council, a temporary appointee until such official shall resume his duties."

The mayor maintained that an emergency existed in the present instance and that inasmuch as Mr. Allard was not in the city, he had the right to temporarily appoint anyone he cared to designate.

Early this forenoon Hugh J. McDsker, chairman of the election commission, was in lengthy conference with the mayor and city solicitor Tierney. Shortly after 12 o'clock the conference ended and it was announced that a special meeting of the board would be called for the purpose of acting upon one or two votes that had been prepared by the solicitor.

Then followed Mr. Cloutatre's temporary appointment. He qualified before City Clerk Stephen Flynn and at about 1 o'clock went down to the election commission's office and there met Messrs. McDsker, Braden and Maguire. He carried into the meeting a letter from the mayor, addressed to the board, notice of his appointment as secretary of the board, pro tem, and a copy of votes the mayor wished the board to pass.

Hardly 60 seconds elapsed when the board came out of the inner office and announced adjournment had been taken until tomorrow evening. The commission also said it had voted not to recognize Mr. Cloutatre as a member of the board, even temporarily, and Mr. Braden added that he would not be recognized unless Mr. Allard was removed.

No action was taken on the votes carried by Mr. Cloutatre, who returned to the mayor's office where it was given out that removal of the entire board would follow at once.

Up until noon today the mayor has received approximately 550 return post cards sent out Tuesday and yesterday, asking whether or not signatures of persons whose names appeared on the charter petition had been personally signed by them. Of this number of replies, 397 attested they did not sign the petition.

In addition to these cards, the mayor has 176 sworn affidavits from persons who say they did not sign the petition, although their names appear on it. The work of obtaining affidavits still is being vigorously pushed by police officers and notaries public and it was the mayor's belief that 300 of these sworn statements would be at hand before tonight.

Additional letters were despatched by special delivery today to the secretary of state and attorney-general, enclosing copies of the letter sent to the election commissioners.

TWO KILLED IN

Two Persons Killed and 20 Other Persons, Most of Them Firemen, Injured

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Moonshine operations which had a part in the epidemic of explosions and fires yesterday, when two men were killed in a still explosion and nearly 20 other persons, most of them firemen, were injured, continued today to occupy the police and firemen. A moonshine still exploded in a building on the northwest side and set fire to a building in which two other stills were found. All the tenants of the three-story building had fled when the police and firemen arrived. The two men killed yesterday were victims of a still explosion. Another man was injured in a similar explosion while a fire was attributed by police to a third still. The other injured were victims of a fire and explosion in a cleaning plant.

HAD $40,000 DAY
HE WAS SLAIN

Authorities Find Dr. Hall Had $40,000 in Securities in Safe Deposit Box

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 5.—Authorities here are seeking to unravel the mystery surrounding the murders of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, whose finger in "his church" learned today that the minister had $40,000 in securities in a safe deposit box on the day he died. These securities, it was learned, could have been changed into cash in ten minutes in any broker's office either here or in New York.

When the vault was first opened, mention was made of $10,000, an inheritance from the minister's mother-in-law, and a $1000 insurance policy payable to Hall's mother. But nothing else was reported.

It was then stated by officials of the county that stories of a proposed elopement with Mrs. Mills were ridiculous because Hall had no funds with which to make the trip. The body of the slain minister was taken from Greenwood cemetery in Brooklyn, to Kings county morgue today for an autopsy and officials hoped to find evidence bearing out the jealousy theory.

REFUSE TO SERVE ON ELECTION BOARD

Stephen C. Garrity, commander of the local American Legion post, and Attorney John A. Crowley, appointed by Mayor Brown to serve on the new election board named by him this afternoon, telephoned The Sun shortly after their appointment that they had refused to serve.

POLO GROUNDS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press) Robert Shawkey, curve ball pitcher extraordinary of the New York Yankees, faced the Giants this afternoon in the second game of the world's series tournament. The National Leaguers having won the initial test, Manager Huggins sent Shawkey to the mound to battle the Giants with mystifying hooks and fast ball. Jess Barnes stood ready to take up the Giants' burden in the box.

The Giants, coming on the field this afternoon as the visitor club, believe they have the series as good as won.

Frisch Expresses Confidence
"We have the Indian sign on the Yankees," said Frank Frisch, the Giants' middle sacker, "and I think the Yanks are beginning to think so. They

WATCH ONE FAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The bleacher "crowd" gathered early at the Polo Grounds for the second game of the world series. It consisted of one man, Raymond Degeer, of Stamford, Conn. He arrived at midnight and passed the night alone outside the gates. About 5 o'clock he had company. Eight big patrolmen arrived and with customary vigor, saw to it that the "line" kept strict order.

As the sun came up Degeer held his place and rested as best he could while the eight policemen watched him to see that he did not get unruly.

have never won a series from the Giants. You know psychology plays an important part in the old game."

Ruth is Optimistic
"Old man psychology is not playing in this series," said Babe Ruth, talking in the clubhouse about Indian signs. "When I see him punch hitting for me or out there sending them past the batters, I'll give him a tumble. Anyhow, his name is not in the list of eligible players."

Huggins brought his players on the field early and put them through a long batting practice.

Some thirty odd thousand folk came out to see the sport but the early rush for the unreserved sections was missing.

The reserve stands, sold out to capacity for the series did not fill until the players took their fielding workout. October had reintroduced a day from July's hot wave and another sultry afternoon gave the pitchers an incentive to turn on their speed.

First Inning
Giants: Ward tossed out Bancroft, going far to his left. Groh made a mean throw, Groh pitched over Jacob, hit fourth hit in the series. Frisch got a Texas Leaguer into left field, which Scott could not quite reach. Groh went to second, Meusel hit a home run into the left field stand scoring Groh and Frisch ahead of him. Young also caught lb. Witt. Kelly fouled out to Schang. Three runs, three hits, no errors.

Yankess—Witt bunted, but the ball rolled foul. Groh made a nice play on Witt's roller and got him at first. Bancroft took Dugan's grounder and threw to the grandstand. Dugan got to second. Ruth went out to first. Kelly assisted, Dugan going to third, Dugan scored when Pipp got a single off Kelly's glove. Meusel flied out to Young. One run, one hit, one error.

Second Inning
Giants: Stengel beat out an infield hit. Snyder hit over Pipp's head. Stengel went to second, Stengel hurt his leg going to second and Cunningham ran for him. Barnes hit into a double play, Scott to Ward to Pipp. Cunningham going to third, Bancroft flied out to Ruth, who took the ball near the right field stand. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Yankess: Cunningham went into center field for Giants. Frisch tossed out Schang, who hit at a slow curve. Groh got Ward at first. Frisch robbed Scott of a hit by making a diving catch of his grounder and getting his man at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning
Giants—Groh walked. Frisch lined out to Ruth. Meusel flied to Ruth. The Giants were trying the hit and run play. Young walked. Kelly churned the air for the third out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning
Giants: Groh threw out Shawkey. Witt fouled out to Groh. Dugan got a two-base hit to left. Barnes was pitching nothing but slow ones to Ruth. Ruth walked. Barnes threw out Pipp at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning
Giants: Cunningham struck out. Snyder fouled out to Dugan. The crowd booed Barnes when he came to bat because he had passed Ruth. Barnes struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning
Yankess—Meusel fouled out to Snyder. Schang struck out. Snyder dropping the third strike and throwing him out at first. Ward got a home run over the left field fence. Frisch went into center field for Scott's Texas Leaguer, robbing the Yankees shortstop of a hit for the second time in the game. One run, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Inning
Giants—Ward took Barnes' hot shot and threw him out at first. Shawkey complained to Umpire Hildebrand on his calling of balls and strikes. Bancroft went out to Pipp, unassisted. Groh popped to Ward. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankess—Kelly took Scott's roller and touched first. Shawkey fanned on three pitched balls. Witt fanned. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning
Giants—Frisch fouled to Dugan. Meusel sent up a high foul which Pipp took. Young flied out to Meusel. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Yankess—Barnes tossed out Dugan. Ruth got a long hit into left field for two bases. Pipp flied out to Cunningham and Ruth raced to third on the catch. Ruth was stealing home when Meusel fouled off the pitch. Ruth scored on Meusel's double to left which he made by fast base running.

Kelly took Schang's grounder and touched first. One run, two hits, no errors.

Tenth Inning
Giants—Kelly sent up a high one which Dugan took. Smith batted for Cunningham, Smith fanned.

Ward threw out Snyder at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Yankess—Kling went into center field for the Giants.

Ward struck out. Scott got a single into center. Shawkey forced Scott, Barnes to Bancroft.

Witt got a single into left, sending Shawkey to second.

Dugan fanned. No runs, two hits, no errors.

IS SOMEWHAT SERIOUS

Lowell coal merchants, large and small, are practically at a standstill in declaring that the present meager shipments of anthracite to Lowell and vicinity indicate a continuance of the serious shortage of this necessary fuel for many months to come.

Backing up statements of local dealers today, Albert D. Milliken, local emergency fuel distributor, in a communication to The Sun, announced that the supply of anthracite coal that has been allotted to Lowell by the Pennsylvania commission, to be shipped from Sept. 1, 1922, to March 31, 1923, is but 48,849 gross tons.

Continuing, Mr. Milliken said: "It is plain to see that Lowell will be very short of anthracite coal this winter, for the normal amount of coal sent here is 51,415 tons."

Mr. Milliken's letter to The Sun in full reads as follows:
Editor Lowell Sun:
"Dear Sir:

"I wish to lay before you some interesting figures in regard to a possible anthracite fuel supply for the city of Lowell. These figures were sent to me by James J. Phelan, Massachusetts emergency fuel administrator, and came to him from the Pennsylvania fuel commission, and I trust you will give them all the publicity you possibly can.

BETWEEN 50 AND 100 FLEEING
FROM FOREST FIRES DROWNED

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 5.—Forest fires, raging in Canada, spread today until noon reports had been received here that more than 100 lives had been lost, six towns destroyed and railroads burdened with thousands of refugees attacked by flames.

The greatest loss of life occurred in Halleybury, according to despatches reaching here from North Bay, Ont.

There, it was reported, 50 to 100 persons had been crowded off a dock and drowned while attempting to board a rescue craft, while several more were trampled to death and scores injured in a church panic.

Parts of the Dominion not actively engaged in fighting flames reported dense smoke. So heavy was the pall in Montreal that electric lights were snapped on at noonday.

GREEK DELEGATES DISSATISFIED WITH MUDANIA AGREEMENT

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 5. (By the Associated Press.)—The Mudania conference was reconvened at 10 o'clock this morning, with Thrace the chief subject for consideration. The attitude of the Greek delegates on this question was declared to be giving the conference considerable concern.

Greeks Dissatisfied
SMYRNA, Oct. 5. (By the Associated Press.)—The agreement which has been reached at the Mudania conference between the allied and Turkish delegates, according to Mudania messages received here, was communicated to the Greek delegates, who expressed dissatisfaction with it, declaring themselves not empowered to reply and that they must have instructions from Athens.

The messages state the agreement provides that the allies and Turks are to evacuate the neutral region of the Dardanelles; that the allies will continue their occupation of Constantinople during the peace conference and that they accept the re-establishment of the nationalist civil government in the departments of Constantinople and Chanak.

GEN. NIDER HEADS
GREEK ARMY
ATHENS, Oct. 5.—General Nider has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Greek army. The government hopes further to reinforce the army through the popular call for volunteers for service until the end of the conflict with Turkey, issued by the ministers of war yesterday.

Greece feels that her readiness to defend Thrace against the rights there and must be taken into account.

Catching Cold is
Not An Accident

Take Father John's Medicine

When you catch cold you are inclined to think that it was accidental, that you sat in a draft or that you caught it from someone else. This is only half the truth. The real fact is that a cold is the penalty for neglect of the common rules of health. You have allowed yourself to become overtired, weakened and run down. You have allowed your power of resistance to be lowered. The cold germ which is always lurking nearby finds you an easy victim.

You can maintain your power of resistance to colds, coughs and similar troubles by taking Father John's Medicine which builds new strength and health. If you have already allowed yourself to take cold, begin treating it at once with Father John's Medicine. It will not only drive off the cold but it will build up new strength with which to fight off future attacks.—Adv.

SEIZE MOONSHINE PLANT EXAM FOR MIDSHIPMEN

Large Squad of Officers Make Raids in Dummer Street Section

Following up big raids made earlier in the week the liquor squad, augmented by Sergt. Dwyer and Kennedy of the criminal department, swooped down on a Dummer street house this morning and landed on a big moonshine plant.

There were no thrills nor frills to the raid. It was simply a straightforward rush up to the fourth floor of a tenement house where the still, minus its operator, was found in operation. Although no arrest has yet been made in connection with the raid the officers expect to pick up some one before the day is out.

Headed by Capt. George Palmer and Sergt. Michael Winn of the liquor squad, and Sergts. Dwyer and Kennedy, Officers Aldrich, Killoy, Noye and Dwyer started out for a cleanup in the Dummer street district. Three other places were visited in a neighboring alley before the "find" was made in the tenement block.

The still was said to be a 100 gallon affair and particularly well equipped to carry on the manufacture of illicit goods. In the still at the time were about 50 gallons of spirits undistilled, while 150 gallons of the finished product were found. Hundreds of sugar bags were found on the property, according to the officers. In addition to a large quantity of mash.

An expensive gas stove was one of the things confiscated by the officers. A pipe was run through two partitions to the stove which was set in sort of a niche. A double water pipe was connected with the water faucet and the condenser to the still.

The police said that they had no trouble in getting into the tenement and that all they had to do was to simply walk in and capture the plant. According to members of the raiding squad the plant was one of the best they have seen for many months.

Congressman Rogers Announces Examination to Be Held at City Hall

Congressman John Jacob Rogers announced today that an unofficial competitive examination will be held at city hall on Oct. 28 at 9 a. m. for the purpose of designating two midshipmen from the fifth congressional district of Massachusetts for the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Those desiring to take the unofficial examination on Oct. 28 should furnish their names and addresses to Mr. Rogers as soon as possible, and in no event later than Oct. 20, so that he can forward their cards of authorization to take the examination.

This examination is unofficial, and those who go to be designated as principals and alternates, according to the results of this test, will later take the official examination which will be held in Lowell on Feb. 7, 1923. This preliminary test will be of substantially the same degree of difficulty as the official one. It will consist of algebra, plane geometry, grammar, composition and literature, ancient history, history of the United States, one foreign language and science.

The first eight in rank at the mental examination, of Oct. 28 will be examined by an official United States medical examiner on a date to be set later but subsequent to Oct. 28. This physical test will be almost as rigorous as the official one and if all eight pass they shall be designated in the order of mental rank. If one or more fail the others will be designated in order of rank, so that the next in mental rank will be examined until the congressman shall be able to designate those as principals and alternates who shall be the eight highest in the mental examination and who are able to pass the physical test.

Applicants for this examination must be citizens of the United States, and bona fide residents of the fifth congressional district, and must have reached their sixteenth birthday, but must not have passed their twentieth birthday, on April 1, 1923.

VERY SUCCESSFUL FALL FASHION REVUE

A most successful Fall Fashion Revue was presented last evening before a large audience on the second floor of the Chaffoux store. All merchandise was removed and the floor was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage, potted plants and cut flowers. The models appeared on an elevated runway which extended the entire length of the second floor.

The following Chaffoux girls displayed the newest fashions in women's apparel, shoes, hosiery, neckwear, gloves, leather goods and accessories: Miss Nora McNamara, Mrs. Josephine Granier, Miss Gertrude Collins, Mrs. Emma Suprenant, Miss Mary Killoy, Miss Jeannette Cohen, Miss Gella Dawes, Mrs. Helen Felch, Miss Mary Carmody and Miss Mildred Harrington and Catherine McCann, the two latter acting as pages.

The children who displayed merchandise from the Little Grey Shop and the Boys' shop were Master Clarence Cote and Louis Labelle and the Misses

Annette and Helen Rocheleau, Margaret Eastwood, and Catherine O'Neill. The men who displayed the newest styles in men's wear were Mr. Louis Oppenheim, John Neary, Charles Sherr, William Clark and Arthur Cornier.

The success of the show was made possible through the efforts of Mr. Louis Rocheleau, who had general charge of the show and the earnest co-operation of the following department heads: Mr. Stanley Forbes of the Curtin Shop, Mr. Ralph Cathcart of the Atherton Furniture company, Mr. George Goldsmith of the shoe department, and Mr. Samuel Sofrenko of the Street Floor Shop and Mr. Abe Segal of the Men's and Boys' Shop. Miss Aldenor Legare of the Millinery Department, Mrs. Gertrude Eastwood of the Beauty Shop and Mr. Alvin Johnson of the display department also assisted.

Ginseng grown in Korea is considered of the most value.

SMALL THINGS CAUSE DESTRUCTIVE FIRES

On Oct. 9, 51 years ago, Mrs. O'Leary of Chicago carelessly left a lighted lantern in the barn. Her cow kicked it over, setting fire to the barn and starting a conflagration which swept the city.

The Chicago fire of 1871 caused a greater loss than had any previous fire in the history of the United States. It has only been surpassed since then by the San Francisco fire of 1906. Two hundred persons lost their lives in the Chicago fire and 70,000 (about one person in every five of the population) were rendered homeless. The flames raged over 2000 acres, destroying more than 17,000 buildings and entailing a property loss of approximately one-third of the city's entire value, or about $180,000,000.

The loss in this great fire was appalling but the country suffers a greater fire loss every year at the present time. It is estimated that last year the lives of more than 15,000 persons were lost and property valued at approximately one-half a billion dollars was destroyed by fires, many of them preventable.

To reduce this tremendous annual destruction it was decided 11 years ago to set aside a day to be known as National Fire Prevention day, Oct. 9, the anniversary of the starting of the Chicago conflagration, seemed to be a suitable date, and by proclamation of the president of the United States, state governors and mayors of cities, it has been observed for that purpose. One day is such a limited time to give to the subject that a period of seven days ending Oct. 9, has recently been set aside as Fire Prevention week. Governmental, state and city officials recognize the need and have lent their assistance to make the fire prevention movement successful. Chambers of commerce throughout the country, at the request of the chamber of commerce of the United States, are taking a leading part in conducting special activities designed to acquaint every man, woman and child with the necessity of personal care for the prevention of fires.

STORM CENTER IN ANGLO-TURKISH CONFLICT

Near this straggling Oriental city of Chanak in the neutral zone of the straits, British and Turkish troops firmly entrenched are facing each other. The Turks now have taken up positions completely surrounding the British. Firing of a single shot probably would excite a conflict embracing two continents.

Delays Decision on Stillman Case

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Decision on the referee's report denying a divorce to James A. Stillman, was withheld again today, by Supreme Court Justice Morschauer who declared he has not had time to read the report. He said he spent most of last night on it and planned to give most of today to reading it. Judge Morschauer did not say when the decision would be rendered.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Conquered or Money Back

For 40 years, said Dr. Carey, I have been prescribing my Prescription No. 777 (known as Marshbrook) for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price, on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

Beware of kidney diseases—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health. Watch the symptoms. If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffy eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or stiffness, you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 right away.

It has wonderfully benefited tens of thousands of cases of kidney and bladder troubles and is the medicine you can always depend upon. Results are guaranteed.

NOTE—Dr. Daniel G. Carey was a practicing physician for many years and his great Prescription No. 777 aided thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. Hereafter you can always get this effective prescription in both liquid and tablet form at Fred Howard's, 107 Central St., A. W. Dows' drug store and all reliable pharmacists the country over.—Adv.

100 TONS OF COAL RAISED OFF NEWPORT, R. I.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 5.—First fruits of a search for sunken treasure in progress off this port, 100 tons of coal raised from the depths of the ocean, reached Newport into yesterday. Treasure seekers probing the floor of the Atlantic between Point Judith and the mouth of the Narragansett bay expressed the belief that between 5000 and 6000 tons of coal would be raised to relieve the fuel shortage here.

When the coal shortage became acute recently Capt. Lewis N. Blix of New York, well known in yachting circles, conceived the idea of locating coal barges sunk off Newport during the storms of many winters and raising their cargoes.

Associated with a local contractor, he found 12 such barges, some of them gone to Davy Jones' locker as much as 12 years ago. Work was begun at once of salvaging the coal.

A steam lighter equipped with a huge bucket is the equipment used by the expedition. The bucket similar to that used in the dredging is lowered to the sunken barge, opened by means of a line, and then closed and hoisted up, bringing a load of coal with it. The barges located are all from 100 to 150 feet under water.

There is no assurance that this allotment will reach Lowell, and if it does, a large quantity of it may arrive during the last end of this period. The coal period is from the middle of December to the first of March, and that is the time when we will need the coal. If a large quantity of this allotment does not reach us until after March 1, it will be of no use to us this winter.

"Therefore, I ask you to urge upon the public, the necessity of being careful in regard to burning anthracite coal."

"Do not start the fires until it is absolutely necessary; use substitute fuels, such as wood and soft coal, until the cold weather is upon us. If these warnings are not heeded, there surely will be much suffering in this city during the coming winter, if the weather is at all severe."

"Thanking you for all the publicity you can give this matter, I am,

"Yours very truly,
"A. D. MILLIKEN,
"Local Emergency Fuel Distributor."

Dealers Interviewed

E. A. Wilson, of the D. A. Wilson Coal Co., was emphatic when interviewed today in regard to the anthracite situation in this city. He declared that the shortage was really serious—that few shipments of any quantity of the favorite coals were really on the way to Lowell, and that the prospects are for meager shipments until late winter or early spring.

"You cannot make this statement too emphatic," declared Mr. Wilson. "The reports published in a daily newspaper—not 'The Sun'—that 25,000 tons of anthracite coal recently arrived in Boston for immediate distribution, are not true. It is ridiculous to say such things, when the coal dealers of the state are in touch with all railroad

"Lowell may continue to suffer from severe shortages of the popular anthracite coals during the winter, I firmly believe that with rail shipping conditions as they are at present, with an abnormal shortage of freight cars and the absolute inability of the handlers to forward any more nearly enough to supply to our territory. Lowell customers will be forced to secure supplies of other fuel and secure them at once if they hope to keep their homes warm this winter."

Mr. Wilson declared that the public has placed too much faith in untrue reports concerning the anthracite coal situation and railroad conditions. Thousands of tons of anthracite are piled up in the mining regions, with freight cars unavailable. Five hundred cars could be found today in the D. & H. section alone, and similar conditions exist in the Lehigh coal districts and other anthracite-mining regions.

Other Lowell coal merchants emphatically supported the views of Mr. Wilson. All declared that supplies, as long predicted as headed Lowell way, are not coming in. Several dealers have mine companies' telegrams, stating that so many cars are to be shipped, but they don't say when.

To be sure, during the last ten days, a small number of carloads of anthracite have arrived in Lowell, but the number is trifling compared with the list of customers who hoped to be promptly served.

The Wilson company has had three cars of anthracite come in since the strike ended officially, and one other arrived yesterday. The first three were put out. More are supposed to be on the way, but the company has no information as to when they will arrive. The chief obstacle appears to be the rail delivery system, which is badly handicapped by car shortages and a greatly depleted number of serviceable freight locomotives, the latter being a direct result of the shop workers' strike.

Most dealers say the present extreme shortage will continue at least until the Christmas season, and some say there will be not enough anthracite to fill even the smallest allotments of fuel until next spring.

British Admiralty Coal

Most of the local dealers appear to be in about the same quandary. There appears to be plenty of British Admiralty coal, as it is called, in various big yards controlled by the state city distributors. The Admiralty Coal Co. reports plenty of this variety on hand and more coming. This concern has also had a few cars of stove, nut and egg coal come in within a week, but the supply of these is not heavy, and most dealers report to be on the way have not been heard from up to this morning.

John Brady has practically sold out on anthracite, but in distributing the other coals regularly under the usual restrictive sales methods that any dealer has been compelled to adopt.

At the Brady offices it was said that several cars of anthracite in the popular grades were on the way to Lowell. Office attaches agreed with other merchants that the shortage is likely to continue for several months with little chance of overcoming the meager supply system that most of the other local merchants were so loudly complaining of.

At the John P. Quinn offices on Gorman street, a little coal optimism prevailed. Numerous customers have been taken care of recently with supplies that came in since last Tuesday morning, but the anthracite on hand is now practically all. The Quinn price for anthracite is $16.50 per ton. Martin Quinn said:

"We felt at one time that the supplies would come about much better, but it is useless now to predict anything like normal distributions. We fear that none of the merchants are going to have anything like fair supplies for a considerable time."

"Our first cars came in a week ago Tuesday. We took care of some waiting customers, but had to distribute in small lots. The outlook could be better, and of course we hope to have more coal in any day, but the future cannot be foretold under present conditions."

Mr. Mullin's Predictions

Joseph Mullin has not sufficient supplies of anthracite on hand today to supply this concern's customers, but several cars are piled in and ought to be here soon. Mr. Mullin has no faith in reports that Lowell and vicinity, as well as Massachusetts, will not suffer from anthracite coal shortage this winter. Said Mr. Mullin:

"Do you see that old newspaper clipping up there on the wall?" pointing to a yellowed piece of newspaper tacked inside the cashier's cage. "Well, that situation is going to be repeated this winter. The clipping referred to the serious conditions that followed the last great 'coal strike' in the year 1902. The strike began May 12 and was not ended until Oct. 3 of that year. The winter that followed is, of course, well remembered. Anthracite coal was so short that many users had to purchase wood and also burn the soft coal varieties. In the opinion of the Mullin concern, similar conditions will exist in Lowell this winter."

"As a matter of fact we don't expect any normal deliveries until next spring," said Mr. Mullin.

The free shipments of Admiralty coal into Lowell and neighboring towns have surprised some people with eyes directed toward the down town coal dumping stations. The Home Coal company has been "lucky" in this respect. If you can call it luck in being a coal merchant in the fall of 1922, Mr. Fred Horne took a Sun man over his Thorndike street yards this morning.

More than 100 tons of the Admiralty coal have arrived, and yesterday seven cars were unloaded after being run through the yard. "I don't know," said Horne, "but I have not been receiving the supplies of anthracite that he anticipated when he was notified that shipments were on the way and 'could be expected soon,' but at the same time he has been able to supply a fair percentage of customers with half-ton allotments."

"I shall keep on with the small distributions until more supplies come in," he said. "The price on the nut, egg and stove grades is $16.50. Admiralty coals are $15 and $16, according to grades—and please remember that there is more than one grade of this Admiralty coal. That is why the prices are not all even throughout the city on this fuel."

Ray of Optimism

The Home company, in line with other dealers, has railroad notices of anthracite on the way, but no word has come to indicate when the fuel will reach here. Mr. Horne advised anthracite users to be patient. He believes the "first round" deliveries have greatly lessened the coal shortage and stopped any panicky conditions. He is now confident that the "second round" deliveries on the way will further tend to lessen the scramble for anthracite, and that the "third" round will be the last.

Mr. Horne said that the coal shortage is not as bad as it was in the winter of 1902, and that the coal situation is going to be repeated this winter. The clipping referred to the serious conditions that followed the last great 'coal strike' in the year 1902. The strike began May 12 and was not ended until Oct. 3 of that year. FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

Two Lowell young men, Timothy J. Linnehan and Joseph E. Sullivan have just signed a ten-year lease of the K. of C. building, corner of Highland avenue and Central street, Somerville, giving them immediate control of the property.

The building is of four stories, brick and cement construction, and was erected but a few years ago. It is the home of the Mt. Benedict council, K. of C., and the latter will retain quarters there. There are four halls and a theatre, the largest with a seating capacity of 3000. In the basement there are ten bowling alleys, while on the ground floor there are 12 stores.

Mr. Linnehan will act as manager and will have an office in the building. He has had considerable experience in the amusement game, having promoted a number of carnivals, etc. He is a prominent member of the Y.M.C.A. and has taken an active part in the direction of many of the institute's concerts, dances and other entertainments. Mr. Sullivan is well known in local business and amusement circles. He is a member of the firm of Sullivan Brothers, printers, and also of the firm of Sullivan & Sullivan, proprietors of the Crescent rink and alleys.

MAY SUSPEND CAR TRAFFIC

It may be necessary to suspend street car traffic over Central bridge for a short time while amicable is being laid there by Contractor Zool A. Houle. The up-stream side of the bridge is completed and excavation has begun on the down-stream side, which takes in the street car rails. It is the wish of the city engineering department to have both tracks closed while the material is hardening, but no definite arrangement has yet been reached.

RECOGNITION OF KING GEORGE OF GREECE

ATHENS, Oct. 5.—(By Associated Press) King George has received a long telegram from his father-in-law, King Ferdinand of Rumania, containing congratulations on his accession to the throne and good advice as to his exercise of the royal powers.

Russia, Spain, Bulgaria and Rumania have taken preliminary steps toward recognition of the new regime. The newspapers are printing cable messages from Greek organizations in the United States, notably Chicago, congratulating the revolutionists and favoring the creation of a Greek republic. It is officially reported that the Albanians are reinforcing their troops on the frontier as a result of the Greek nationalist movements.

A GUARANTEE OF QUALITY

an old New England doctor, little dreaming that he was creating a safeguard for the health of generations to come, from his knowledge of vegetable drugs compounded a wonderful tonic, which he successfully used for years in treating patients who had become anaemic and "all run down."

Since 1845—when his prescription was offered to the public in SANALT the Sensible Tonic—it has relieved thousands of people from the ills caused by chronic constipation. There are no opiates, narcotics, or other harmful drugs in SANALT. It is made today just as it was over 100 years ago—from the best vegetable alternatives, which cleanse and purify the blood, keep liver and bowels active, and prevent poisons from accumulating in the system.

One grateful user—Mrs. Jacob Young of Scranton, Pa.—has this to say for Sanalt:—

"I have suffered from constipation for fifteen years and for a long time have been subject to headaches that would last for three or four days. The pain almost drove me crazy. I have taken cathartics night after night, and suffered about as much from the medicine as I did from the constipation. At the time I bought my first bottle of Sanalt, I was really in a desperate condition. Of all the troubles it seemed to me that nervousness was worst for of course that was the result of constipation and all that the constipation led up to. Before I had taken the first bottle of Sanalt I felt one hundred per cent better—better than I had for years. I am now on my third bottle and feel that by the time I am through with it I shall be really well."

You can get SANALT, or the other famous Winsol products, at any drug store. For Winsol preparations are one line of trade-marked proprietary remedies sold by both Winsol Agents and non-agent druggists. No need to accept substitutes. Any druggist can get Winsol remedies for you through his jobber.

NEUROPATHIC DROPS, the great emergency medicine, and CERIZANE BALSAM, for coughs, are two Winsol remedies that should be kept in every home. Ask your druggist about them.

B. O. & G. C. WILSON, Inc., BOSTON, MASS.

B. O. & G. C. Wilson, Inc., established in 1915, is conducted on a unique profit-sharing plan which benefits everybody concerned—the Winsol Agent, all non-agent druggists, every Winsol employee and the general public. The Winsol Plan—the last word in co-operation—is responsible for the rapid growth of the Winsol business to a position as one of the largest and most successful drug specialty houses in the country today.

TWO HAVERHILL WOMEN ASPHYXIATED

HAVERHILL, Oct. 5.—Mrs. Mary M. Hill, aged 68, and her mother, Mrs. Annie Legro, 88, of Bradford, were asphyxiated by gas escaping from a range as they sat reading in their home last night.

Mrs. Albert Snay, a neighbor, noticed the women's bodies looking out of her window and sent her husband to investigate. On entering the Legro home, Mr. Snay smelled gas, and on entering the front room, found the women lifeless. A kettle of water was heating on the gas range.

Medical Examiner F. W. Anthony pronounced death accidental. Mrs. Legro was the mother of the late Dr. L. B. Legro, a former prominent and wealthy physician of Bradford.

REAL ESTATE MEN MAKE NEW RULES

If you are interested in a piece of property you will have to go to the office of a real estate broker or have him call at your home, for no more information concerning real estate that is on the market will be given by telephone. This action was taken at a largely attended meeting of the Lowell Real Estate exchange last evening in the Bradley building in Central street.

The brokers, it was stated, are ready at any time to call at the home of an interested party or will gladly give all information wanted at their own office, but they feel that the discussion of business over the telephone is not very satisfactory.

Another important matter taken up at the meeting was that of the so-called curb dealer, or the party who acts as "go-between" between the owner and the agent, and who in many cases collects commissions from both the owner and the agent. This so-called "go-between" has been the cause of many court litigations in the past, it was stated, and therefore, it was voted to do away with such a practice. Other matters of importance were discussed and the meeting adjourned until the first Wednesday in November, at which time an out-of-town speaker will discuss the subject, "Co-operation between Real Estate Dealers."

DROUTH RECORD MAY BE BROKEN

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—This year has smashed one weather record after another. Cold, heat, wind, rain, thunderstorms, one after another, records have crumpled and now it is out after the record for droughts.

There has been no rain in Boston since Sept. 15, 19 days ago, and, according to the forecast, there will be no rain today or tomorrow.

The record for droughts is 22 days; from Feb. 2 to Feb. 24, 1877, there is no precipitation. A near record was made in March, 1915, when for 35 days the only rain was a "trace" an amount too small to be measured.

This year adds another instance to the overwhelming mass of evidence against the popular superstition of the "fine storm," a storm believed to occur when the sun crosses the line. Inasmuch as there has been no rain since six days before the equinox, it has not been true, this year at least.

But, while waiting for the drought record to be smashed, the days are to be very enjoyable, according to the weather bureau. Today and tomorrow are to be fair, with temperatures today about the same as yesterday and Friday a little cooler.

CZAR'S GRAND NIECE
ARRIVES IN U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Two-and-one-half-year-old Countess, the grand-niece of a former czar of Russia, came to America yesterday. Rance de Mont-desso, and although she will be legally adopted by Mrs. Wendell Phillips, a wealthy New York widow, who will retain her formidable title.

This little girl escaped the red tape of Ellis Island, for Mrs. Phillips, armed with letters from Washington, was on hand to meet the child, brought overseas by Miss Allen Gowans, head of a hospital in Woolwich, Eng. Consequently a special board of inquiry hastily was assembled at the immigration station and restrictions bearing on the entry of a minor alien without parents or guardian were hastily culled.

Mrs. Phillips, who visited the Mont-desso family in days when the nobility fared better in Russia, said that the child's father, Count Henry de Mont-desso, had been shot when the Bolsheviks sacked the Royal Palace in Petrograd.

The mother, Countess Claude, was spirited out of Russia and gave birth to her child in England. Leaving the child in the Woolwich hospital, the countess came to America for her health, but in 1921 died of influenza in Mrs. Phillips' home here.

On her death bed the countess asked Mrs. Phillips to adopt the child and rear her as her own. Mrs. Phillips promised. Yesterday, after the first kisses, the little Russian noblewoman began addressing Mrs. Phillips as "mama."

ASTOUNDED BY CHARGES

Foreman of Grand Jury Discharged by Atty.-Gen. Allen Makes Denial

BOSTON, Oct. 5.—Thomas W. Somers, foreman of the special grand jury discharged yesterday by Attorney General J. Weston Allen on the grounds that it had been tampered with, while investigating the affairs of the closed Hanover Trust Co., in a statement today declared that he was astounded by the attorney general's charges.

"Our relations with the attorney general and both his assistants were most cordial," he added. "As foreman I never dreamed or had an inkling that any outside influence were at work, and I cannot believe that is so."

"Mr. Allen says in his statement that improper influences were used to affect our minds. So far as I know, that is absolutely untrue."

William S. McNary, treasurer of the Hanover Trust Co., and former congressman, in a statement said that he assumed he was the official of the trust company referred to by Mr. Allen as having approached grand jurors. He denied ever having mentioned the case to any of them.

HEADLINES

NEW RULES APPROVED BY CEMETERY BOARD

New rules and regulations governing the duties of employees of the cemetery commission have been approved by the city solicitor and will come before the board for adoption at its November meeting. The rules were discussed at length yesterday at the October meeting and met with the approval of the commission.

According to Chairman William D. Rigby, employees have been in the habit of doing work as individuals rather than members of the department and thus cutting down what should be departmental revenue. The proposed rules forbid any work in the public cemeteries before 8 a. m. or after 6 p. m.

VETERANS' MEETING IN AUDITORIUM

The honor of holding the first veterans meeting in the Memorial Auditorium goes to Post 135, G.A.R. which held a meeting in the veterans wing last night. In the name of the post Commander Franklin S. Fevey took possession of the wing from the custodian, Col. H. MacKenzie. The commander thanked Mr. MacKenzie and expressed great pleasure at the new quarters.

The post's meeting was preceded by a harvest supper served by Mrs. Mabel Kennedy. Songs and assembly singing preceded the supper.

Let Conscience Be Your Guide

EDGAR H. BRISTOL AND HIS "NEW CIVILIZATION" AUTO BUS AND HOSPITAL.

By N.E.A. Service

FOXBORO, Mass., Oct. 4.—Trolley cars without fare boxes; telephones without slot machines; gas meters without any register—

That's what we'll all be enjoying soon if the "New Civilization" idea, born here keeps spreading.

It's a simple idea, based on the faith that everyone has a conscience, which will be his guide. The organization backing the new movement accepts the inner self of the individual as his only asset.

It seeks to provide the necessities of community life, accepting in return only what the conscience of the persons impels him to give.

Already the town boasts of two automobile buses run on the new idea. Passengers taken anywhere, day or night, pay any fare they please. If they don't think the ride is worth anything at all, they needn't pay a cent.

Working Out Successfully

This proved so successful that Edgar H. Bristol, a wealthy manufacturer who is father of the "New Civilization" movement, decided to expand its scope. He purchased a large house, which will be used as a public hospital and community center, as soon as alterations are completed. Each patron will pay only what his conscience dictates.

There will be a telephone for public use, but there won't be any slot machine. If the caller is so inclined he may drop some money in a little box. If not he needn't pay at all.

Bristol believes that his idea is quite practicable and that it will soon sweep throughout the country.

"I am interested," he says, "only in that which is economically sound. 'New Civilization' as you see it working out here today in Foxboro, is developing everywhere, only it is developing here more rapidly through the impetus we have lent it."

"There are those who say the world is going to the dogs. There are others who predict the realization of the millennium within 25 years, and there are others who are satisfied with things as they are and don't want to be driven out of easy street by the mattering tolls."

"In starting this movement here I am interested only in that which is tangible and probable. The idea has gained prestige and now we enjoy a membership of 1100."

The movement is daily drawing new followers, ten cents and a promise to abide by the principles of the organization being all that is required for membership.

Business Picking Up

The "New Civilization" buses were placed in operation about six weeks ago. Each contained a coin box into which the passengers could drop what-over they thought their rides were worth. The coin boxes were opened each day by a representative of a local bank.

The first week showed a deficit in the operation expenses of approximately $46. But the people of the town have gradually grasped the idea and have become enthusiastic over it.

GENERAL sanitary regulations in producing Evaporated Milk are established by law. In addition to the observance of these we establish our own specific and rigid inspection to make our milk absolutely pure and of fine quality. No single batch of Borden's Evaporated Milk is allowed to leave the condensary until it has passed a final laboratory test.

Though this elaborate inspection may make it cost more to the grocer he sells Borden's at the price of other standard brands. For he relies on it to please his most particular customers.

Borden's Evaporated Milk is pure country milk with the cream left in. It is fine for both coffee and cooking.

ATTACKS W. HARDING

Sen. Hefflin Reiterates Charges Against Former Governor of Reserve Board

WASHINGTON, October 5.—Senator Hefflin, democrat, Alabama, today made public a letter to President Thomas B. McAdams of the American Bankers' association urging that the bankers in convention in New York, should not adopt a resolution endorsing W. P. G. Harding of Alabama for reappointment to the federal reserve board.

Senator Hefflin said he had heard a rumor that Governor Harding and friends had been "bubbling" for weeks, trying to select delegates to the American Bankers' association, who would favor the passage of a resolution endorsing him for reappointment.

Senator Hefflin's letter reiterated his charge that an alleged credit deflation policy while Mr. Harding was governor of the federal reserve board had "paralyzed business, closed industries, drove millions of wage earners from employment, caused thousands to kill themselves and destroyed property valued by the billions."

TEN DOLLARS A CORD FOR HARDWOOD

Ten dollars a cord is the lowest price at which Massachusetts farmers can sell cordwood and come out whole on the transaction according to a statement given the state fuel administrator by the Massachusetts farm bureau federation. This is for good quality hardwood. Dead chestnut and small trash wood is worth somewhat less.

The federation gave this opinion as the result of a study of conditions which it made at the request of the fuel administrator. Many farmers who have been selling cordwood for years were interviewed. And the opinion represents the average of their judgments as to the total of the value of wood, which enters into the price of a cord of wood, delivered at the railroad station.

The opinion as to price supplements the recent work of the federation in securing information as to the amount of wood now cut and ready for delivery in the state. Replies from practically every town in Massachusetts where any wood is available show that there is an abundance already cut for ordinary needs and that there are thousands of cords that could be cut if the price were sufficient to warrant it. The available wood already cut is largely in the western part of the state but there is a fair amount in the eastern counties. This, however, is very largely needed for local use. In case of emergency, it would be possible, in the opinion of the federation, to bring large quantities of wood into any of the cities, provided that the price was large enough to pay the farmer for the expense of cutting and hauling with a fair return for the value of the wood on the stump.

In the statement given to the fuel administrator by Howard S. Russell, secretary of the federation, the ten dollars a cord minimum price is explained and backed up by figures. The average value of wood on the stump set by farmers from many sections was $2.25 a cord. This includes the interest on the investment in land, which is unavailable for other purposes, while the wood is growing, for about forty years; taxes over a like period; and risks from the woodlot being wiped out by fire. This last is a considerable factor in the determination of the cost. To this value on the stump was added the average cost of cutting, $3.25 a cord; the cost of hauling out to the roadside, $2 a cord; and the cost of hauling to the station, $2.50 a cord. The final cost of $10 a cord is given as a minimum for a general price, where the hauling distance is short and the wages below the average, the actual cost would be slightly lower, but the federation figures put in no item for profit to the farmer in the business transaction which would more than offset any ordinary saving on costs. In cases where the cutting cost and the hauling charges are above the average, the $10 a cord would not cover the cost to the farmer.

The federation made this study and offered the results to the fuel administrator in order to relieve the farmers of the state from the suspicion that they are taking advantage of the fuel situation and charging extortionate prices for their wood. Such is not the case. Except in very rare instances, farmers are selling their cordwood for $10 and $12 a cord.

MIDDLESEX NORTH POMONA GRANGE

The first meeting of the fall and winter season of the Middlesex North Pomona grange will be held in Odd Fellows hall, Bridge street, tomorrow evening, at 10:45 o'clock. The Middlesex-North Pomona will be guests at this meeting. The towns included in the latter organization are Lyndfield, Saugus, Melrose, North Reading, Reading, Winchester, Stoneham, Wilmington and Melrose.

The opening meeting will be a "Neighbors' rally," with programs morning and afternoon. Lecturer Mrs. Grace Naylor of the Middlesex-North will be in charge of the session tomorrow morning. Dinner will be served at 12:30 by the Burlington and Chelsea farm societies, and the afternoon meeting, open to the public, will start at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Lillian Knight of Reading, lecturer, has charge.

HARVEST SUPPER AND FESTIVAL

The annual harvest supper and festival for members and guests of Woman's Relief corps No. 33 and Post 120, G.A.R., is to be held in Post 120 banquet hall tonight, at 6 o'clock. A 3 o'clock dinner will be a program of entertainment for corps members and Grand Army visitors, with music and songs predominating.

This afternoon members of the W.R.C. are holding their October whist social, with about eight tables, guests being present from Grand Army posts. Mrs. Ada Myers is chairman of today's committee and Mrs. Eda Fullerton aid.

The corps will hold a business meeting tonight, when plans for the annual corps fair will be completed. This event is scheduled to be held in about two weeks. There will be several tables for the sale of fancy work, edibles and goods made at home, clubs and patriotic circles, all in aid of the veteran organizations which sponsor the entertainment. Mrs. Alice Schofield, head of the Corps 33, is in charge of the coming fair with a corps of earnest workers.

VERDICT FOR BYAM BROTHERS

In their suit against Michael C. Brennan, which was tried at the civil session of the superior court yesterday, Byam Bros. real estate brokers, were today awarded a verdict of $1032.94. In the case of Martin D. Sullivan vs. Michael C. Brennan, a verdict for the defendant was returned.

The case was a double action of tort by which both plaintiffs sought to recover a commission for the alleged sale of real estate for the defendant. The case was brought to a close yesterday noon and this morning at the opening of the court, sealed verdicts were returned.

The triple action of tort brought against J. Edward Allen of Billerica by George B. Fuller, admr., Elizabeth Briggs and Elizabeth Scoble, which went to trial at yesterday afternoon's session, was resumed this morning. This case is a result of an automobile accident in which Mrs. Helen A. Fuller, wife of George B. Fuller, is alleged to have lost her life, while the other two plaintiffs, allege personal injuries. The total ad damnum in the case is $32,000. There are 3000 bonds engaged in pending of the Dorch Islands.

TYNGSBORO GRANGE HARVEST EXHIBITION

The second day of the Tyngsboro grange harvest exhibition in the town hall, drew a larger attendance than was recorded yesterday. The big attractions today outside of the splendid exhibits in the hall and on the stage, were the dinner and supper programs, and the plans for tonight's dramatic entertainment and dance that wind up the two days' celebration.

Among the features that attracted much attention today were the ribbons and displays of home handwork, such as table covers, dollies, bed spreads, home-made rag matings, dining sets, lace, embroidery and fancy work in many varieties both useful and for home decorating. There was one large set of table covers, hand-embroidered, that took nearly five years to make. Its value is considered high both in quality of work and price. If it were to be offered for sale.

A farce will be given by grange members tonight, dancing will come afterward. Judges will announce awards after the show.

On an average, 100 veterans of the Civil war die every day.

TO WOMEN VOTERS

Perhaps the women of Lowell have not paid much attention to politics during the past year and when they will have to cast their ballot at the state election, they may be more or less puzzled as to whether they should vote for the democratic candidates or for the republican.

It may have escaped the attention of some of the women voters that the republican party has enacted a tariff law that will raise the cost of living very considerably within the near future through the imposition of excessive tariff duties upon imports. Now let it be understood at the outset, that what would be considered a fair tariff would be a duty that would cover the difference in the cost of production here and abroad. That would give the industries of the United States an equal chance in the markets of the world and that is all they should require. The republican party, however, has even surpassed its old policy of putting on excessive charges for the benefit of special interests. These charges will be added to the cost of the commodities to the American consumer and in this way it is estimated that the increased cost to the entire country for one year under the operation of the tariff law, will be four billion dollars. Already the upward tendency in commodity prices is being felt by housekeepers and it will continue to rise until war time price levels are reached. Here, then, is one reason why the voters of Massachusetts, both male and female, should cast their ballots against the candidates of the republican party.

The party in its various campaigns promised to pay a bonus to the service men; but after much haggling and the introduction of several bills, one sent to President Harding with the full understanding that he would veto it. He carried out his promise and thereby violated his own and the party's pledge to the service men. The voters should rebuke the party for this violation of its pledges which were made under various plausible pretexts.

It is understood also that little attention has been paid to matters of registration and it is, therefore, important that every woman eligible should see that her name is placed upon the voting list. The election commission has announced various dates on which it will conduct registration sessions; and these should be availed of by the women for the purpose of having their names on the voting list. It is a simple matter to get registered. The commission has not at all inquisitive and they are satisfied to let the applicants pass without asking too many questions. There is no reason why any woman who is eligible should fail to register for the coming election, when several issues of great importance will come up for decision. Senator Lodge, who has always opposed woman suffrage, will be a candidate for re-election and it is the duty of the women of this state to vote for his opponent, Col. William A. Ganton, who represents progressive policies, whereas Mr. Lodge stands for the Old Guard of the republican party which is now as in the past identified with the predatory interests.

MISS NICOLAY'S HISTORY

By some it was thought that the Boston city council was needlessly sensitive or supercilious when it voted to condemn the use of a school history written by Miss Helen Nicolay, in the schools of that city.

The Boston decision is now endorsed by no less an authority than Professor Bushnell Hart of Harvard, a man who should not be said to be prejudiced against England. He takes issue with Miss Nicolay in regard to the character of Samuel Adams, James Otis, James Warren and even Ben Franklin, all of whom she attacks and assails. She also gives a new and apparently spurious account of certain battles of the Revolution, designating some of them as mere draws. Prof. Hart says that where this history is not quite inaccurate, it is flippant in dealing with very serious matters. It is strange that Miss Nicolay should feel called upon to revise her history and represent many of the patriotic leaders of the Revolution as wholly unworthy of the celebrity lavished upon them. Miss Nicolay is the daughter of John G. Nicolay, Lincoln's private secretary. One would suppose that she would have accepted the high ideal of character which history attributes to the patriots she has singled out for criticism or actual ridicule. It seems, however, that on the contrary, she has caught the jennetish mania so marked in some writers who show a disposition to deny any high motive or praiseworthy achievement to men of a bygone age. It is this tendency that causes some writers to regard early history as mythical or legendary. That is modernism which extols the present age and its chief actors and views the events of the distant past through the wrong end of the telescope as it were, thus minimizing the people and their achievements as compared with those of the present.

GEORGIA TO THE FORE

Georgia is the first state to name a woman for the United States senate. Mrs. W. H. Felton, supporter of lynching when all other punishment methods fail, as she has expressed it, was appointed on Monday by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Thomas E. Watson, until the people elect a successor in November. There will be a special primary in Georgia on Oct. 17 to nominate a candidate.

Mrs. Felton has no use for negro criminals or other law-breakers, white or black. At the same time, and admitting that as a woman she has shown wonderful acumen in her field of work for many years, her defense of lynching of negroes guilty of certain crimes, has no parallel in the annals of the country.

In a letter written to the Atlanta Constitution defending the lynching of negroes, she said: "If it requires lynching to protect woman's dearest possession from drunken human beasts, then I say lynch a thousand negroes a week. It is the unwritten law in Georgia that the black fiend who destroys a white woman in her home or on the highway, and is identified with proof positive, must die without clergy, judge or jury."

It is evident that this elderly Georgian who is after a seat in the United States senate, if only temporarily, has the courage of her convictions but if her sentiments prevailed, anarchy would soon undermine the supremacy of law. Why the people so often take the law into their own hands in Georgia may be judged from the statement of Mrs. Felton, who is evidently a leader in her state.

IRELAND

The Irish Free State has been averse to the slaughter of Irishmen from the beginning of the trouble and in pursuance of that spirit the provisional government has offered general amnesty to the republicans now held under arrest and those at large, provided they surrender their arms and agree not to make further war upon the government. The constitution is being framed in accordance with the treaty; and it will be submitted to the people when completed. The question will then be settled as to whether the people are willing to accept the Dominion form of government or battle on for a republic, which England refuses to grant. There is little doubt as to the choice of the vast majority of the people. They realize that the treaty is not a finality, as some insist, and that Ireland can withdraw from it whenever she sees fit.

BANK ISSUE OVER-SUBSCRIBED

More signs of the times, this time is Nashua.

The new issue of capital stock of a Nashua Trust company, recently authorized by the directors in the sum of $100,000, doubling the capitalization of the institution, has been over-subscribed by $37,500, according to a statement just issued by the bank treasurer.

Other banks in all the live cities of New England are reporting exceptionally good business. The condition of this Nashua bank may be taken as an example of similar institutions this fall. Local banks have in their last reports shown indications of steady business revival, with increased deposits. In the case of this bank up to the river, the deposits with the trust company are reported to have doubled twice since 1914, when the total deposits were $300,173.75.

GOODWIN'S CHARGES

Mr. Goodwin, state registrar of motor vehicles, made rather belligerent and serious charges against "the police and politicians" the other day. He accused unnamed men of "fixing" automobile violation cases, so that well-to-do law-breakers would not have to go to jail for punishment. Mr. Goodwin has since then been asked repeatedly to give the names of the men who "fix" these cases. He claimed to have knowledge of "the common and pernicious practice of fixing motor vehicle cases."

Mr. Goodwin can stop this abuse by pointing out instances where persons who are actually guilty escape the penalties of the law.

PLAN B PETITION

It appears that the Plan B petitioners show false signatures. These in all probability were forged by certain opponents of the petition for the purpose of vitiating it and thus preventing it from going on the ballot. For this there was ample opportunity as the petitions were left in stores to receive signatures where anybody could sign any name desired without question.

So far as appears, there was no difficulty in securing genuine signatures. It would be just as well to liberate all the political prisoners who would not resume opposition to our form of government. When Eugene V. Debs is set free, the same privilege might with equal justice be granted to all others, even though they did oppose the draft.

Mayor Brown's postal card on Plan B in which he says failure to reply will be taken as proof that the recipient did not sign the petition, is about as logical as the plea of a man charged with drunkenness who produced a temperance pledge to prove that the charge was false.

Fire prevention should be carefully practiced every day in the year; but some are so forgetful in this respect that it is necessary to take a week or so to hammer it into their heads and then they do not give it a serious thought.

Boston plans to have twenty-five nationalities in her Columbus day parade. We are not as big as Boston, but we could get out about forty different nationalities.

The Massachusetts League of Women Voters has endorsed the popular primary law which, with their assistance, may perhaps bring better results.

As appears now the real drunkards are the extra dry who have been going about preventing others from drinking.

A Thought

Fear is more painful to cowardice than death to true courage.—Sir Philip Sidney.

Father's Comeback

Mabel and her young man had been sitting in the drawing room quite long enough, so father shouted out from the top of the stairs, "It's time for that young man to go home!" The young man was indignant, and turning to Mabel, said: "Your father is a crank!" But father overheard and answered: "Yes, but when you don't have a self-starter, a crank is very handy!"

It Amused Him

Little Teddie was full of questions. Approaching the aged man on the pier he said: "What time does the tide come in, Mr. Fisherman?" The aged man looked at him wearily. "I've told you several times already, you young rascal," he said. "At 5.55." Then Teddie explained: "Yes, I heard you the first time, but I like to see your whiskers wobble when you say 5.55."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Willie Was Cogitating

Five-year-old William was standing in the kitchen with his eye upon a dish of candy when his mother came in and found him. "What are you doing here William?" said she. "I was just thinking, mother," replied the youngster. "Thinking? Well, I hope you haven't touched those cakes." "That's what I was thinking about," came the ready answer. "I was wondering whether they were good enough to be whipped for."

Indian Summer

During the recent warm spell, there has been considerable debate on the subject, "Is this the Indian summer?" Webster defines Indian summer as "a period of warm or mild weather late in autumn or in early winter, usually characterized by clear, cloudless, sunny and by a hazy or smoky appearance of the atmosphere, especially near the horizon." According to old Yankee interpretation of the phrase, we can have several Indian summers from mid-September to mid-December, and the glorious weather that ushered in October would be certainly included as Indian summerish.

Today's Word

Today's word is "matfold." It's pronounced mat-fold, with accent on the first syllable. It means—a person of abnormal mind, from birth, bordering on insanity or degeneracy. It comes, probably, from the Italian "matto," meaning "mad," though it also evidently related to the Latin "matutus," meaning "drunk," plus the termination "old," from the Greek, meaning "like, resembling." It's used like this—"The moron" and the "matfold" differ from one another in that the moron is an adult with a child's mind, while the line between the matfold and the genius often is so doubtful that it puzzles alienists to decide on it."

He Told One All Right

Back in the days when men could read a good story in the bottom of a glass everybody in the locality had learned to know "Hub" as a harmless old humorist. Hub's name during down the country road one day doing his best to get his old gray mule hooked up into high. As he passed a field where two of his neighbors were plowing corn they tried to stop him. "O, Hub! Stop and tell us a lie," they called out. "That's the old lady just fell and broke her leg, and I am going for a doctor." And, giving the mule the whip, he was on his way. The boys went to the house and bled up to a buggy, got the women folks, and ran two good horses into a sweat getting over to Hub's house. As they drove into the yard they found Mrs. Hub on the business side of a washboard. No one seemed able to say a word, but just stood and stared until Mrs. Hub at last asked them why they didn't get out of the buggy. Just make yourselves comfortable here in the shade," said Mrs. Hub, "so that I can visit as I finish my wash; and by the time you men get your team away Hub should be back. He just went over to town for a jug of hickory."—Judge.

In October

Rustling, leafy puddles fill low the spots in my path— Day declines in splendor that was born in stormy wrath— Orchids, but with purple is the veil of distant mist— Orchids mixed with purple and a thought of amethyst— Forests dim with opific gold where tulip poplars stand— Fields of grain and pasture strewn about a pleasant land.

Everywhere is hush and drowse, and everywhere is dream— Here upon the crest and yonder in the stream— Steek and baughty cattle browse the bushes where the wet— by daybreak's undergust is clinging to them yet— "Sh!" says Mother Nature. "Weary Summer's fast asleep— Needs all, too, at sleep's dawn you heard her wail and weep!"

Harsh brush that undulates where the frost has set— Acid-coated hazelnuts; that chip-munk's bulging cheek— Shows them where the crop will be ere many days— Tells them if they have their share they'd best be mighty sly! Hear their voices buzzing like the in-fantry by busy humbees about the pollinated bloom!

Else, the world is silent; and we all are tipsy—too— Least poor slumbering summer should be awakened as we go— Fever-broken summer so in need of rest and sleep— Moist with dew of slumberland and breathing soft and deep— My iden of heaven? I will tell it you, my dear!

Some place where October lasts throughout the blessed year!— Strickland Gillian in Farm Life.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

An old friend of The Sun, Mr. E. A. Gilson of East Pepperell, hurried down to the Tyngsboro grand fair Wednesday so as to be there early and in season to arrange his several exhibits so they would secure proper attention. Mr. Gilson brought along five squashes, but as the exhibit conditions call for six, he had to carry them almost mournfully back to his automobile and store them away there. Grangers say he might have won first prize in the squash exhibit if he had but remembered to bring along one more to fill the requirements.

Peanut raising is getting to be something more than a fad in this part of Middlesex county. At three different fairs in the neighborhood of Lowell recently, home-grown peanuts were shown in baskets and on plates. All were of good size and practically perfect, and the flavor is said to have been excellent as well. There would be much money in raising peanuts in this section, however, for plenty of highly nourished land is required, and while some folks can get three quarters from one ill plant, it would require a good many acres of smooth, rich land to make any showing at the peanut-planning game around Lowell.

That big pot of geraniums in the windows of the Middle street postal station has been blooming recently, and many-by now placing initials on two tubs on the day when it will start flowering again. At present it is about the healthiest looking geranium plant that can be found in any Lowell window. It is "thick-leaved all over, of bright green and no 'spots,' but the buds don't seem to be coming out busy. Perhaps its summer days are over, though some pedestrians will tell you that it is in ripe condition for winter blooming. We shall wait and see.

I am told that the extensions of the Lowell Electric Light Corp.'s service on Billerica avenue, from the Billerica-Tewksbury town line to the North village, will be made within a short time. The pole location petitions have been granted by the town authorities. One of the lines will carry the current to operate the new mill now being constructed for the Talbot Co.

I am told that federal prohibition officers are busy almost every week on the outskirts of Lowell, working in the back woods and swamps, and sent out by their citizens, who "see things" and sometimes report their suspicions to the proper authorities. The Peabody visit a week or so ago was not productive, but the work is not over yet. I am informed that the Peabody turnpike, but it may be simply town chatter of the village store variety. Anyhow, the federal officers are keeping in touch with the town authorities in two places that I know of, and we may hear something "drop" one of these days.

One of the attractions of the Tyngsboro fair was a huge begonia—nothing like any begonia that I have seen before. It was a white one, some ten feet in circumference and eight feet in diameter. I did not think that begonias grew so large, and this one, the property of Mrs. Fred L. Snow, one of the leading members of the annual fair committee, was as good as a show to the town hall to be admired by friends and visitors. It was really entitled to a prize for originality and freakiness. If nothing more, I understand it is really a rare plant and tender as well.

Miss Marion Forbes of the Middlesex County Canning club division, who has been hustling about the state all over the winter and attending conventions, inspecting children's canning exhibits and picking the prize winners, enjoyed her visit to the Tyngsboro fair immensely. She was pleased, I was told, with the variety of the displays sent in by Tyngsboro young people. Right after the war the canning industry, but there have been a falling off in some clubs of late. However, Tyngsboro girls had nothing to be ashamed of in that excellent offering of canned goods of every description and color at the Wednesday and Thursday exhibitions.

Jesse Gill of Tyngsboro makes a little specialty of raising fine winter squashes in addition to other vegetables that are considered "good keepers." He has just harvested some handsome blue squashes that are looking as well as they ever. "Blue States Blues," but they are to weigh 20 or 25 pounds apiece. They are of excellent quality for pie-making. I am told, although some squashes of the extra large variety are not in demand for that purpose.

Brother Darrah of the New England Hotel Men's association sent an invitation to attend the fall meeting of the hotel men at Manchester, N.H., on Wednesday and Thursday. We couldn't go, of course, but we thank Mr. Darrah for the invitation. This gentleman is a great "beamer" of the summer resort regions, being a famous compiler of street railway guide books and similar reference works that have made him a familiar figure throughout New England, and, by way, is not this Mr. Darrah who was employed at one time as publicity agent by the Lowell, Lawrence & Haverhill street railway? He conducted more free trips and excursion parties than any other official of the company.

Considerable difficulty has been encountered by men of the street department who are engaged in covering up new sidewalks abutting the new high school by the presence of the huge roots of the elm trees that have grown there for many years. As the years rolled on the roots of these trees spread farther and farther and extended in all directions. Several of the trees had to be cut down and blasting was necessary to remove the massive blocks from which the roots branched out under the surrounding soil.

I have seen several people the next week in different parts of the city drenched with a shower of muddy water as the result of the throwing of electric switches on the street railway. It seems that street car sprinklers had just started leaving the switches flooded. As the cars came along, the electric switch was thrown shifting the rail in the desired direction and each time a splash of water was thrown to one side, in some cases splattering people on the sidewalk.

Huge butterfly hours of taffeta, moire and velvet are used on frocks for young girls. Sometimes they have long sash ends that reach to the hem of the frock.

MONOGRAMS are a feature on sports blouses and dresses. They started small and comparatively inconspicuous but now they are attaining quite large proportions and are frequently made the whole decoration.

TEXTILE SENIORS

ELECT OFFICERS

The 1923 class of Lowell Textile, the senior class that will be graduated next June, yesterday elected Everett Y. Steele of North Andover president. Walter Wharton of Worcester was chosen vice president, Newton G. Hardie of Birmingham, Ala., secretary-treasurer, and George P. Felndel of North Wilmington was elected as class representative to the athletic council. Mr. Steele, who is very popular at the school, was president of the junior class last year. He is connected with the Co-Operative society of the school, a member of athletic council, and is one of the students who operates the textile school lunch. He is also a member of the Delta Kappa fraternity. Mr. Steele was an ensign on Admiral Sims' staff during the World war, and at the close of the war entered Textile school, where he took up a course in textile chemistry and dyeing. He has accepted a position as assistant instructor in the chemistry department and will combine this with his school work during his senior year.

Walter F. Wheaton is also an ex-navy man and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Wheaton of 5 Hawden lane, Worcester. Upon his graduation from Southwick school in high school he entered the navy and served two years as quartermaster on a coast patrol vessel.

Upon his discharge he entered Textile school and took up the course of engineering. He will be graduated next June with the degree of bachelor of textile engineering. Last year he held the position of secretary-treasurer of his class and has been a member of three musical comedy productions that were presented by the dramatic association. He is a member of the Delta Kappa fraternity.

George P. Felndel of North Wilmington will receive his degree of bachelor of textile chemistry next year as he has accepted a position as assistant instructor in the chemistry department and will take up advanced work in the department.

The senior class voted to hold an informal dance some time the last of this month, probably on the last Friday of the month. If R. Hart, Alexander Campbell and David Annapolski were elected as a committee for this affair.

B. F. BUTLER RELIEF CORPS MEETING

The B. F. Butler Relief corps held a business meeting last night in Memorial hall, which was preceded by a supper served to the members at 10 o'clock. Two members were initiated and five new applications for membership received. Reports were made by the sick committee on those members confined to hospitals. It was announced that on the third Wednesday in November the corps inspection will be conducted by Mrs. Buchanan of Andover. A donation was voted to the E. N. Stanton corps in Amherst. On the first Wednesday of next month "Comrades Night" will be observed, for which an excellent program is being arranged.

Miss Bas, gold chain and pencil were presented to Mrs. Elzlie Worthen, an old member of the corps, who is soon to move to New Hampshire. She was also presented with a purse of gold from Post 42, G.A.R.

BUILDING CODE COMMITTEE The building code revision committee of the chamber of commerce met in the chamber rooms at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but owing to the fact that the sub-committees on construction and on fire-prevention could not file their reports as yet, it was decided to hold a final meeting on Friday, when those reports are ready. It may take two weeks to clear up the remainder of the work.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

THE MIRACLE

Out of a reeking tenement she trips,
Dainty and slim and delicately fair;
Her cheeks are rose, and rose-red are her lips,
She is a flower, grown in tainted air,
You can't believe she could have flourished there,
Where even noon-day sun is in eclipse,
Where grim reality the glum strips
From all life's dreams and leaves them stark and bare.

Yet here she is, a flower lush and sweet,
That thrives, somehow, in rank and fetid soil;
Young maidenhood, with light and lifting feet,
And eyes which disillusion cannot spoil,
And—grace! which few can understand—
There are a million like her in the land!

29th Day of West Pennsylvania Drought

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Western Pennsylvania drought entered its 29th day and authorities expressed alarm today as to the reserve water supply which was rapidly diminishing. River transportation has been practically paralyzed and farmers reported severe damage to crops. The weather bureau held no prospects for early rains.

Body of Woman Found Off Coast

GLOUCESTER, Oct. 5.—The identity of the woman whose body was found in the sea off Good Harbor beach yesterday, was still undetermined today. Medical Examiner P. P. Moore of Essex county, after deciding that the woman met death by drowning, turned the case over to the police, who began an inquiry.

Would Finger Print Every Person in U. S.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The finger printing of every person in the United States, is recommended in a report by the executive committee of the New York state chamber of commerce for submission at a meeting today of the organization. The plan was suggested to make difficult "the evasion of clever and dangerous aliens sent here for the purpose of spreading discontent among the unassimilated portions of our population."

Barthou to Be French Representative

PARIS, Oct. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The French cabinet today approved the nomination of Louis Barthou, minister of justice as president of the reparations commission and French representative on the commission in place of Louis Duhois. M. Barthou will be succeeded as minister of justice by M. Colrat, now under secretary of state, attached to the premier.

All This Week—Reduced Prices on Gold-Seal Congoleum

Congoleum Week Ends Saturday

WHEN the stores close on Saturday night, Gold-Seal Congoleum Week comes to an end. The special bargain prices that have prevailed all this week will be withdrawn. Your opportunity to buy America's most popular floor-covering at these reduced prices will be gone.

If you have used Gold-Seal Congoleum you know its beauty—its remarkable money-saving and labor-saving features. If you have not yet had Congoleum in your home, you owe it to yourself to at least see what beautiful, sanitary, and practical floor-covering you can buy for amazingly little money.

Don't delay! Go to any of the stores listed below and select your Gold-Seal Congoleum Art-Rugs.

Beautiful Patterns for Every Room

Gold-Seal Congoleum Art-Rugs are famous for their beautiful patterns. You will find Oriental and Chinese designs in warm, rich tones for living room and dining room—dainty flowered patterns that bring a fresh, bright look to bedrooms—and a fine range of conventional patterns for kitchen, bathroom and pantry. Or, if you prefer an all-over floor-covering, you will find many attractive patterns in Gold-Seal Congoleum By-the-Yard—in two- and three-yard widths.

going-over with a damp mop makes Congoleum as clean and spotless as when new—its color fresh and sparkling.

Lies Flat Without Fastening

This is another important feature of Gold-Seal Congoleum. No tacks, nails, or cement are ever required to hold it in place. It literally "hugs" the floor and never "kicks up" or curls at the edges or corners.

Genuine, Guaranteed Goods

All the Gold-Seal Congoleum offered in this sale is fresh new goods, just received from the factory. All of it carries the famous Gold Seal pledge of "Satisfaction or Your Money Back." Look for the Gold Seal—it is your protection against inferior imitations of Gold-Seal Congoleum.

This Is Your Last Chance

If you delay too long something may prevent your going. And then you will have to pay much more for your Congoleum. After Saturday prices will positively go up to their former level.

"JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES"

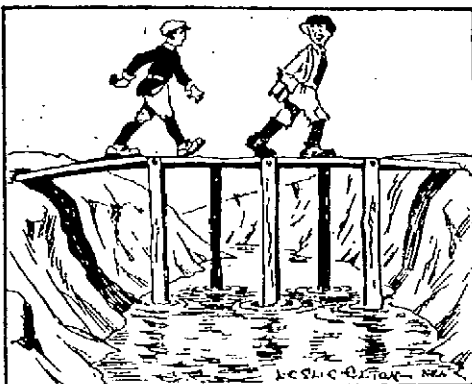

Jack Daw, adventurer, halted at a farm house to get a bite to eat. The kind farmer's wife sold him some sandwiches and then he hopped on his horse's back and started down the road.

A short distance away he jumped to the ground again and turned his horse, Lightning, loose to eat in the fields. In the meantime Jack noticed a boy coming toward him.

As a rugged-looking youth walked up, Jack said "Hello, stranger." The youth shook hands and replied "Hello, Willie," and then he invited Jack down the road to meet another boy.

"My name is Bill Dugan and my buddy's name is Stony McGlynn," said the youth as he led Jack across a bridge. "Maybe Stony will let you join our gang." Continued.

If Leatrice Joy Doesn't Win, She'll Be a Good Loser

HOW WAS SCOTTY, THE ARTIST, ABLE TO CATCH LEATRICE JOY IN SO SERIOUS A MOOD? SHE DOESN'T STAY SERIOUS MORE THAN A MINUTE AT A TIME.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Dropped in to say "hello" to Leatrice Joy the other day and to tell her I liked her work in "Manslaughter."
"There, on a stand in a battered silver frame, on paper retouched with age, was this little prayer: 'O God, help me to win, but, if in Thy inscrutable wisdom Thou wilt me not to win, then, O God, make me a good loser!'"
She has read that little placard every day for the past five years, she told me. It helps her over the rough places.
"Once I had just finished my part in a small comedy when I received word that a certain director wanted to see me," she said. "I hurried out to his studio only to find that ten minutes before I arrived he had given a big role in a feature picture to another girl."
"That was just about the biggest disappointment I had had. I was crying when I got back to my room, but when I read that little prayer I quit crying. I knew another chance would come some day."

The chance evidently came, for Leatrice recently refused the feature role in a big production because she felt that it wasn't appropriate for her. Now she has started in the picture-making of "Java Head."

Leatrice Joy, following her present contract is headed straight and surely for the stately heights of stardom. She has beauty, ambition, sincerity and, more important a sense of humor. Her work she takes seriously, her success lightly. If mention is made of good work she has done in a film, she is very likely to dismiss it with some frivolous remark, such as "Gee, ain't it great to be famous?"

After saying good-by to Leatrice and her mother, I stopped at the studio of Arthur Zinkin and Seymour Stone, the portrait painter. Zinkin has been working for more than a year on details for the production of the production of a series of two-reel films which will furnish biographical romances of the great musicians. The films are to be accompanied with musical scores arranged from the works of the respective composers. He is ready to start immediately with the production of the film dealing with Beethoven. Thus when he pictures the memorable story of the article of the "Moonlight Sonata," musicians of the theatre will play that composition.

Stone, who has painted the portraits of European royalty and many prominent Americans, will work out the scenic effects of the films. The musical scores will be arranged by Clarence Adler, pianist.

"I believe this series of films will do much for the musical education of the masses," Zinkin told me. "Many who go to picture shows would not go to hear a program of classical music. There is enough drama in the lives of the great musicians to make the film stories interesting without musical accompaniment."

"When most people come to know the romance in back of some compositions, their interest in good music will be stimulated. Hearing these compositions at the same time that the story of the composer is told on the screen will familiarize the audience with the music of the respective composers."

Following the screening of the life of Beethoven, Zinkin will film stories dealing with Haydn, Mozart, Schubert, Chopin and others.

Zinkin probably will find a big welcome for his films, as he should if they are as good as the production. The series needs more such subjects. They appeal to the intelligence of the masses. The fault with many pictures in the past has been that producers have not credited the masses with possession.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its soothing, soothing influence, chest soreness, phlegm, looseness, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The film stories promise to be more comprehensive than the "Great American Authors" and "Great American Statesmen" series and the film dramas based on famous paintings, all of which provided worthwhile entertainment.

Frankie Lee is to be starred in a film version of "Last Night When I Kissed Blanche Thompson," an American Magazine story.

FALLING OFF IN NAVY ENLISTMENTS

The balmy weather of the past few days has caused a noticeable lull in enlistments at the local navy recruiting station, not one recruit having been signed up in the last three or four days. The officers in charge attribute the lull to the weather, and feel that a little cold spell will entice many boys to get into the sea service. Many applicants have been doomed to disappointment because of the lack of the necessary weight. A 100 must be 5 feet, 1 inches in height and tip the scale at not less than 115 pounds. The required ages are from 18 to 30.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By the Theatre's Own Press Agents.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Al and Fanny Steadman in "Pianocappers," and the Belmont Sisters in "A Musical Reminiscence," split the headline at the H. F. Keith theatre this week. In a show which holds many especially good features, and which, all the way through, is of headline quality. Joseph K. Watson, in "A Disarrangement of Facts," is surely a different kind of comedian, while Lewis & Norton have a snappy little skit in four parts, which shows the American habit of seeking new pleasures, when there are old ones. Alan Parado, in their high class musical act, which combines vocal work with piano music. The dancing of a little trio, the one of the best of the kind, is one of the best of the kind. Ross & Ross in their introductory musical turn are pleasing.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
"Manslaughter," the noted Cecil B. DeMille production, continues to play to capacity houses at the Merrimack Square theatre. The play has a photograph aroused so much genuine interest and comment on this latest feature given to the public by the acknowledged master of the theatre. With Thomas Meighan, Leatrice Joy and Lois Wilson in the leading roles and a most capable supporting cast assisting them, the personnel of the production is all that could be desired. The story, that of a young woman of modern times, crazed with a mania for speed, in most dramatic and affords the producer plenty of opportunities for sensational action and elaborate settings. "Manslaughter" will remain at the Merrimack Square theatre for the rest of the week. The usual scale of admission prices is in effect.

RIALTO THEATRE
Today is the last showing of the week-long booking of the Rialto theatre. The feature of the show introduces Marion Davies in "Beauty's Worth," also a great northwestern story, entitled "The Girl in the Red," Reginald Denny in "Seeing Red," a thrilling episode of "The Perils of the Yukon," and a Christie comedy, "Danger." There is plenty enough for a great entertainment.

"BROADWAY ROSE" COMING
The Merrimack Square theatre management announces the presentation of "Broadway Rose," a romance of New York life with fascinating Mac Murray in the leading role, for an indefinite engagement beginning next Sunday afternoon. There will be no change in the usual Merrimack Square schedule of admission prices. The producers of "Broadway Rose" have not been content to rest on the laurels of previous productions. In the gorgeousness of the settings, the elaborateness of the costumes and the absorbing interest in the life which it depicts, "Broadway Rose" is unsurpassed.

THE STRAND
William Farnum, a story of the foothills called "Moonshine Valley," opens up a three days' engagement at the Strand, beginning with matinee today. It's a story that provides for a number of good scenes and characterizations that you will like. The story is that of a man whose wife is found by a doctor. A child is born to them. The man, who is a good test and is found by Farnum, who takes her home. Then a thoroughly bad man is introduced. Little one and becomes a model citizen. Shirley Mason, as charming as ever, is to be seen in a new picture, entitled "The Girl in the Red," in long or short engagements. The question thrashed out and definitely settled, the usual comedy and weekly help to make the bill great.

WE hope there is no Mother who thinks she can treat her sick baby without calling in a Physician, or with remedies that she uses for herself.

Most Mothers know that Baby requires remedies especially prepared for babies, yet there are some who think that what is good enough for them is good enough for Baby, and it is to these Mothers we appeal to give nothing to their babies that is not specially prepared for babies or recommended by their Physician.

False claims may kill, but false claims can never restore your child.

For over thirty years Fletcher's Castoria has been aiding in the reduction of the deaths among infants as Mothers have become more and more acquainted with it. Always keep it in the house.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Mothers Must Use Care.

Why do we so often call your attention to imitations of Fletcher's Castoria? Because it is a baby's medicine and imitations are always dangerous, particularly imitations of a remedy for infants.

Your druggist may not keep an imitation but they are to be found on drug-store shelves. Reliable druggists think only of the welfare of their customers. The other kind only of the greater profit to be made on imitations.

Your own judgment tells you that Fletcher's Castoria having for over thirty years at great expense held up its reputation, must jealously guard it. Then, it follows that this company must use the very best of material. Must employ experts in the selection of the herbs. Must retain skilled chemists in its manufacture.

Your same good judgment must tell you that these irresponsible imitators are trading on your credulity and the reputation built up by Mr. Fletcher, during all these years, for his Castoria.
